DEEP WATERWAY AID TO THE WEST

Congressman Explains How Low Freight Rates Would Bring Business

NEARER TO SOUTH AMERICA

Would Equalize Exchange of Trade With Countries on Western Continent Now Held by European Merchants—Imports Exceed Exports.

Washington, D. C., dispatch: In the not distant future when ships of the big seas load with grain and other products of the interior of the country at the port of Chicago, and, traversing the drainage canal and the father of waters, plow their way through the gulf and thence carry their cargoes to the markets of the world, Congressman Martin B. Madden of Illinois sees the middle west throbbing with a new life—its industries increased on every hand and the manufacturing center of the United States transplanted to the Mississippi valley.

Mr. Madden will make a speech in the house this week in which he will tell Congress and the country something of the great project for a deep water way from the great lakes to the gulf. For many months he has been studying the subject from all sides, and he has collected a mass of statistics, facts and commercial data bearing on the undertaking which are likely to arouse widespread interest. The speech is intended to start an agitation that will bring Congress to early action and carry to consummation plans which those who have been devoting particular attention to the idea declare are far from being idle dreams.

Points to Benefits.

It is maintained by Mr. Madden that the proposed deep water way not only will develop the commerce of the United States with foreign countries, especially the Latin-American countries, on a tremendous scale, but will be of immense benefit to the millions of consumers of this country through forcing reduced transportation rates more effectually than the interstate commerce commission, clothed with the most sweeping authority, could accomplish it.

"It costs $30 per ton," said Mr. Madden, "to carry freight from points in the west to Latin America. If the canal and deep water way are completed, it is figured that the cost will be only $10 a ton. The country today spends 95 per cent of all it pays in freight charges for land transportation and only 5 per cent for sea carriage. Europe sells the countries of South America most that they buy and we buy most that they have to sell. Our imports in foreign bottoms annually from South America amount to $300,000,000, and for this service we pay $30,000,000 a year.

Would Stimulate Trade.

"The carrying out of the lakes to gulf deep water way project would stimulate the export trade to Latin America and give an impetus to ship building in this country that speedily would re-establish our merchant marine on a sound footing. And when the Panama Canal is completed the opportunity of shipping our agricultural products by direct water route from inland ports will assist in the development of commerce with the Orient.

"A mere glance at the statistics of industry in the middle West will show how much it will mean to make it possible to load ships for foreign markets right at the door through which products have to pass by rail in order to reach the seaboard. Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota alone produce 26 per cent of the agricultural products of the United States and contain 19 per cent of the population. They have more than 100,000 manufactories, which is 19 per cent of the total of the country. They have $600,000,000 invested in manufacturing industries. One million workmen are employed and the annual pay roll of wages amounts to $450,000,000, or 16 per cent of all the wages paid in the country.

Distribution of Benefit.

"But these states alone will not reap all the benefit. The whole Mississippi Valley, with an area of 1,250,000 square miles, will be affected. The Mississippi and its branches form the boundary lines of twenty-one states, and the eastern mountain states that now send their products for export to Pacific ports over the mountains would find it cheaper to send them eastward and southward, because it is apparent that it will cost less to transport freight down hill, as it were, than across the mountain ranges."

Mr. Madden has gathered elaborate figures to prove that canals have had the effect invariably of reducing transportation rates by rail even at remote distances from the water ways.

WEDS AT 80 GIRL OF 21; FATHER OF CHILD AT 96

When 99 Years Old Los Angeles Man Breaks Ribs and Is Recovering —Smokes and Drinks, Too.

Los Angeles, Cal., dispatch: At the age of 80 Simon Hendricks of this city went a-wooing and married a senorita aged 21. When he was a boy his first child was born. When he was 96 his seventh child was born. Now, aged 99, he breaks two ribs while at work and is recovering.

Hendricks is a brickmason of this city and will be 99 years old on April 29, and among the things for which he is thankful are the facts that the two ribs recently broken are mending nicely and that his youngest child, Aurora, aged 2, is as healthy and happy as any girl of her years in town.

Cupid did not figure seriously in Mr. Hendricks' career for several years after his birth. In fact, he remained a shrinking bachelor until he was 80. Then the 80 year old brickmason won the heart of a senorita named Encarnacion Peters. She was 21 when she became his bride July 9, 1887. The marriage took place here and the children, seven of them, were born in Southern California.

Hendricks says that he has smoked tobacco and drank liquor most of his life. He was born in Somerset, Ky., April 29, 1807. This was eight years before Waterloo. He has personal recollections of events which are now chronicled as ancient history.

Congressional Proceedings

Thursday, March 22, 1906.

The railroad rate bill occupied practically all of the time of the senate today. Mr. Lodge offered an amendment looking to the enlargement of the interstate commerce commission and replied sharply to some recent utterances by Commissioner Prouty. Mr. Spooner devoted a speech to the technical features of the measure. The appointment of the conferees on the statehood bill went over until to-morrow. A joint resolution extending from June 15 to Aug. 15, 1906, the time for opening to entry the ceded portion of the Shoshone reservation in Wyoming was passed. At 4:55 p. m. the senate went into executive session and five minutes later adjourned until to-morrow.

The statehood bill was taken from the speaker's table in the house to-day, placed in the hands of the three selected conferees and a request made of the senate for a conference. There was much opposition, but the final vote was 175 to 158. The legislative appropriation bill consumed the subject for the remainder of the day. Criticism was made of the management of the library of congress and Mr. Hardwick (Ga.) found himself opposed by both sides of the chamber in his endeavor to restrict the white house appropriation so as to eliminate a social secretary for the wife of the president. At 5:20 p. m. the house adjourned until to-morrow.

Friday, March 23, 1906.

Mr. Spooner concluded his speech on the railroad rate bill in the senate to-day and Mr. Tillman replied to his arguments. The fortifications appropriation measure was taken up and passed. It carries an appropriation of $125,000 for the erection of a government power factory and carries the total of the bill to $5,278,983. At 5:20 p. m. the senate went into executive session and adjourned seven minutes later until Monday.

The house in the continued discussion of the legislative bill and a great deal of friction developed. By a strict application of the rules Mr. Prince (Ill.) and Mr. Hardwick (Ga.) brought down upon the floor of the house the ire commission wherever increases of salary or duties were proposed, as well as of members for which the managers of the bill could find no law. An amendment by Mr. Gaines (Tenn.) providing $100,000 for a private car for the president was defeated on a point of order. After one-third of the bill had been considered the house at 5:10 p. m. adjourned until to-morrow.

Saturday, March 24, 1906.

There was no session of the senate.

Hazing at the Annapolis naval academy was dealt with by the house in the passage of a senate bill with a house substitute. An amendment, making it the duty of cadet officers to report infractions of the rules was accepted. The bill repeals that portion of existing law which makes it compulsory to dismiss midshipmen guilty of hazing in any degree and substitutes punishment according to the nature of the offense. Pension bills were taken up, and 235 were passed. At 4:35 p. m. the house adjourned till Monday.

Monday, March 26, 1906.

Discussion of the rate bill occupied most of the day in the Senate and Mr. Tillman gave notice that he would ask to-morrow that a time be fixed for a vote. Mr. Overman spoke at length in support of the measure and Mr. Teller declared against undue haste. Senator Proctor offered an amendment prohibiting the issuance of passes; Mr. Scott one to compel roads to sell at connections, and Mr. Culberson one prohibiting interstate roads from making campaign contributions. Mr. Tillman read a letter from Millard F. Snyder of Clarksburg, W. Va., protesting against discrimination by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad against independent oil and gas operators. Mr. Platt, chairman of the committee on printing, presented the report of the committee to reform printing and binding. Several bills of local importance were passed, and at 4:30 p. m. the senate adjourned until to-morrow.

Several resolutions intended to prevent the wasteful printing of public documents were passed by the House. District of Columbia legislation occupied most of the day. Numerous bills of local importance were passed and at 5:25 p. m. the House adjourned until to-morrow.

Tuesday, March 27, 1906.

The Senate to-day listened to Messrs. Tillman and McCumber. Mr. Tillman made special inquiry concerning the status of his resolution relative to the issue of national bank funds in politics and touched on the insurance and beef cases. Mr. McCumber devoted himself to the rate bill, finding many flaws in the measure, but announcing that he would vote for it if it was properly amended. The joint resolution regulating the allotment of documents in the government printing office and aiming to prevent unnecessary printing and binding, passed yesterday by the House, was adopted. A bill providing the law fixing fees and expenses of witnesses in the federal courts in the western states was passed. At 5:20 p. m. the Senate went into executive session, adjourning five minutes later until to-morrow.

The House witnessed a most unusual scene when Speaker Cannon arose on the floor in the midst of a spirited discussion on reciprocity and tariff revision to reply to an attack by Mr. Shackleford. The urgent deficiency bill was passed and a few paragraphs of the legislative appropriation bill were considered. Messrs. Prince and Hardwick continuing to defeat many provisions by point of order. A bill permitting the building of a dam across the St. Marys river in Chippewa County, Michigan, was passed. At 5:10 p. m. the House adjourned until to-morrow.

REGULATES WEIGHT OF EGGS

Twelve Must Balance Twenty-Four Ounces, Says Iowa House.

Des Moines, Iowa, dispatch: After a heated discussion the lower house of the legislature has passed a law relating to weights and measures, fixing the standard weight of one dozen eggs at twenty-four ounces. The complaint was openly made that the great egg industries of the state were raising hens which are prolific layers of small eggs and neglecting the heavier breeds, which laid less often but larger and better eggs. If the bill finally becomes a law any purchaser may demand twenty-four ounces for one dozen eggs, regardless of the number in the scales. The bill gives weights and sizes, certain, many of which hitherto have been unfixed.

GET RID OF THE GAS

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Strengthen the Stomach and Enable It to Do Its Work.

When the stomach is feeble the food lies in it undigested, decays and throws off poisonous gases that distend the walls of the stomach and cause interference with other organs, especially with the action of the heart and lungs. These gases have other ill effects. The nerves and the brain are disturbed and discomforts such as dizziness, hot flashes, sleeplessness, irritableness and despondency originate from this source.

Experience shows that these troubles vanish just as soon as the stomach is made strong enough to digest the food. In other words, it needs a tonic that will rouse it to do the work of changing the food into nourishment.

Miss Minerva C. Ladd, of Ipswich, Mass., says: "I had a weak stomach from the time I was a little child. Whenever I took hearty food it would cause terrible faintness, and I would finally vomit what I had eaten. At times there would be the most intense pains through the upper part of my body. For days in succession, I would have to lie down most of the time. The distress would so often so great that I could hardly bear it, and the frequent and violent belching spells were very disagreeable, too.

"My doctor's medicines gave me little relief and it was not until I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I found a cure. Within three weeks a decided improvement was noticeable. The belching spells were less frequent, the pains through my body were not so intense, and food was retained and after taking the pills for a few weeks longer I found that I was altogether free from the miseries I had so long suffered."

Every dyspeptic should read "Whist to Eat and How to Eat." Write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy.

Senator Dolliver's Condition.

Senator Culberson walked into the senate restaurant and saw Senator Dolliver sitting at a table with some friends. The Iowa man looked up as the Texan entered and said: "Come over here, Culberson, and join us." Senator Culberson crossed the room and said: "Good-morning, senator. How are you?" "Just and reasonable," answered Dolliver, "if not fairly remunerative."

Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have litigated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherry bark. The medicinal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as approaches exhaustion, bad nutrition — and, thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy.

Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation composed of the glycerine extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.
