

November 1944, 4th letter from Lily to Ed

I sent the blank paper thinking you might not start???

chunks of Chatter

underlin, Alf,
Nov 25, 1944.

Dear Son,

How nice,

yesterday was our anniversary.
I received two letters from you and Pop one.

I had a hair do, and then we were invited over to Durnis, as it was his birthday and she had a surprise party on him, so for Pop and I that was celebration enough.

Lloyd, Ruby, and Dwayne were here for Thanksgiving. Ruby's sister didn't come as they were expecting Milton. He is getting discharged because of his sinus.

Thanksgiving morning we had just enough snow to cover the ground, first we've had this year. Looked very beautiful.

It's getting very windy right now, maybe we'll have some more snow. No snow although it still looks like it.

I'll do just what you ask me to do about putting money aside & etc. Don't worry.

I'm glad you received the volume of Poe's Life in a letter or two I'll be reading that you'll be on furlough. V??

Do you remember Virginia Wutz? Her husband is in the service, (don't know where) anyhow their baby was born just the other day.

Ralph Ritta hurt his back so his Dad is helping with his chores.

Alice is trying to cut pictures from ~~and~~ old old mags. She spends quite a bit of time at it, that and coloring.

Toots is raising the roof about it, after all I think it is mighty cheap amusement. (Of course you see Toots just got the room all cleared up!) Anyone else cleans it tho she pays no attention. Set what I meant.

How were those hard candies I sent along with the book and the fudge that I had in a tin box?

Hope it was O.K.!

Doris said she was coming to visit this week sometime well the week is up and no Doris.

I think of you always Dear Son wondering about you where you are and all the rest of it.

Did I tell you Auntie is still in the hospital poor little dear.

We haven't started on our rooms yet, but I hope real soon.

Lots of love
From all Moms.
