PALATINE LOCAL NEWS

Events of Past, Present and Future of Village and Vicinity.

Gathered and Compiled by A. G. Smith, Local Editor.

Don't forget the Jubilee Singers Wednesday night.

Fred Smith is now night city editor of the New York Journal.

John Hirm will have a cattle sale on his farm Saturday, May 14.

Louis Keyes will start to work in his new barber shop on May 1.

D. T. MacNab, of Arlington Heights, was in town on business last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Baker visited his parents in this place last Sunday.

Mr. Turman has moved into Michael Umbdenstock's house on Wood street.

Rev. W. H. Smith, of Park Ridge, was in town for a few hours last Monday.

Farms Wanted—We have buyers for three farms near Palatine. Palatine Bank.

Mrs. W. L. Hicks and daughter, Mildred, returned from their southern trip Saturday.

James Moorhouse has decided to locate in Creston, Ia., where he will open a barber shop.

Mrs. R. H. Lytle, of Libertyville, has been visiting relatives here and in Barrington this week.

Roland Beutler is getting along nicely in the hospital and will be home again before many days.

C. H. Patten is serving on grand jury in Chicago this week, being sergeant-at-arms of that body.

Ernest Beutler started for Arizona last Monday, where he will stay a few days. His brother Ralph will return with him.

A family reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. K. Bicknase last Sunday, all of the family being present.

Miss Florence Cunningham, who lived with her mother at G. C. Whipple's last summer, was married in California recently.

Henry Bicknase started for Oregon last Monday night, where he goes for the benefit of his health. His cousin accompanied him.

Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Wood and Mrs. B. W. Wilson attended the wedding of Dr. Wood's nephew, Mr. Stewart, at Oak Park, Tuesday.

The school election attracted 87 votes, and C. D. Taylor was elected president of the board, and M. J. Clay and Wm. Nason members.

A lively widow, a lordly sister and a shrewd mother-in-law in the Methodist church Sunday evening. Preaching morning and evening by Rev. D. J. Holmes.

A little republican voter, weighing ten pounds, arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Matthei last Saturday, and will cast his first vote 21 years hence.

We understand the promoters of the electric line, which is surveyed through this place, have sold their franchise to an eastern syndicate who will commence work on the line soon.

The village election was a tame affair, only 65 votes being cast. A. S. Olms received 50 votes for president, A. G. Smith 57 for clerk and J. G. Horstmann, R. M. Putnam and J. M. Kuebler 56 each for trustees.

Editor Paddock should be given the reigns of government throughout this section. He knows more about running the city, town and county affairs than the whole set of officials. He jumped onto the road commissioners last week—he didn't get the yearly report—see.

The Jubilee Singers will be here next week, Wednesday night, at the Methodist church. These colored singers are the best known of all jubilee singers on the road and should have a crowded house. They have been singing in the largest cities year after year, and have big crowds wherever they sing. Don't fail to hear them next Wednesday night.

The Libertyville Independent speaks of Barrington as "the little town in the southern part of the county." Little we may be, but there is more money expended, more freight shipped in and out, more passenger traffic, more municipal improvements, more people here than in Libertyville, and we are not so small as to pay our village clerk but $40 per annum. This "little" town can afford to pay its clerk $100 per annum, and we have no macaroni factory either.

LICENSE FORCES WIN.

The Village Election Devoid of Excitement—185 Votes Cast.

Only One Ticket in the Field Cause of the Light Vote.

The agony is over. The village election has come and gone. There are those who are satisfied at the result and those who are not. The election was without an exciting feature, and owing to there being but one ticket in the field the vote was not as large, as it should have been. There are now a number of prophets who are without honor in Barrington.

The result, while anticipated by those who had been out among the people, was a severe shock to a number of those who had prepared comparative tables. That is, when they heard a man denounce the liquor traffic they put him down as a voter for No License. But men don't vote as they talk. If they did Barrington would be No License. There is no denying that fact.

The surprising feature of the election was that neither element seemed to be making any effort whatever. It looked like a scap between two school kids—one afraid to make a move and the other dassent. The friends of the water wagon movement put forth no extra effort to attract votes; presented no arguments, held no public meetings carried out no plans. The For License element were confident of the outcome and wasted no campaign material. The result was For License 120. Against License 61.

The friends of prohibition are not discouraged though defeated. They desired to get "an expression of opinion" and with 61 votes for a starter will be prepared to renew the battle next spring when they will, no doubt, place a ticket in the field—something to attract support.

There being no opposing ticket to the regular nominations there was no chance for a test of popularity. The following is the vote:
President—Miles T. Lamey, 159.
Trustees—Silas Robertson, 165; J. E. Gieske, 164; Herman Schwemm, 162.
Clerk—L. H. Bennett, 164.

An Act of Reciprocity.

It will be noticed with sincere regret by his friends that Senator Albert J. Hopkins has been drawn into the battle of the ballots in Chicago. He has been retained by Lorimer to assist his leading attorney in the attempt to defeat a recount of the vote by which he was sent to congress. Mr. Lorimer may have been legally elected by the votes as recorded, but not a small part of Chicago and the county round about call it in question and sympathize with Mr. Durborow though a democrat. The illegal mind inquires, "Why should Mr. Lorimer object so strenuously to a recount of the ballots if everything is all right?" One would naturally conclude that an honest man, though a politician, would be the first to welcome an investigation.—Elgin News.

Senator Hopkins is under obligations to William Lorimer. Could Albert Hopkins be elected senator without the aid of Lorimer? Is it not for the interest of Senator Hopkins that Billy Lorimer be counted in?

Less Oleo Made.

The law placing a tax of 10 cents a pound on colored oleomargarine has had an immense effect upon the sale of the colored project. Where the tax before was only one-fourth of a cent a pound and is now 10, the big difference in the tax does not make up the deficit in the revenue. It is stated that less than one-twelfth as much oleo is now used.

Where under the old law 74,000,000 pounds were taxed, during eight months, under the new law, but 6,000,000 pounds were taxed during a corresponding eight months. During the same eight months the revenue derived by the government from colored oleo was $124,809, as compared with $1,483,352 under the old law.

The total receipts from oleomargarine under the new law during the eight months was $200,538, compared with $1,908,461 during the corresponding period under the old law.

W. N. Perry Resigns.

Walter N. Perry, who for the past 18 months has had charge of the Chicago Telephone Company's exchange and line work here and in this vicinity, has resigned his position and will enter the service of the Independent Telephone Co., which is constructing a net work of wires through Northern section of this state, a branch coming from Elgin to this village.

Subscribers to the Chicago Telephone Company in this vicinity regret to have Mr. Perry give up his work here. He has given the exchange his attention it required, greatly advanced the company's interests and been accommodating to the public. It is hoped by patrons that the company will secure a resident manager for this place who will maintain the excellent service given by Mr. Perry and his assistants.

Noted Educator Gone.

Professor Marvin Quackenbush, ex-director of the Modern Woodmen of America and superintendent of the schools of Kane county, died Saturday morning at his home in West Dundee. He was born at Hartwick, Ostego county, N. Y., Nov. 25, 1842, and came to Illinois with his parents when he was 7 years old. Prior to enlisting in the One Hundred and Fifty-third Illinois volunteer infantry he taught school in various towns throughout the county, and on returning from the battlefield resumed teaching at St. Charles. He was first elected county superintendent of schools in 1886, and held the position up to the time of his death. For six years he was a member of the directory of the Modern Woodmen of America. He was elected mayor of West Dundee two years ago, but was compelled to resign on account of ill-health.

HOME FOR ELKS.

Fine Retreat for Aged and Infirm Members to Be Open May 21.

The ambition of the Elks of the United States is to be realized on May 21, when their handsome home for aged and infirm members is to be dedicated and thrown open for use at Bedford City, Va.

Every Elk in the United States is interested in the project, and arrangements have been made on an elaborate scale for the opening exercises. It was necessary to appoint a time when the weather will be sufficiently warm for the guests to remain out of doors, as the buildings are not large enough to accommodate the large number that will attend. It is estimated by the grand lodge officers that over 5,000 Elks, representing every section of the United States, will congregate in the little Virginia village in the heart of the mountains.

The Hotel Bedford, which was purchased by the Elks, was built during the memorable real estate boom in that section of the country in 1900, and cost when completed $110,000. It is situated upon a commanding eminence upon the western suburbs of the town of Bedford City and matchless vistas of landscape may be seen spread out from it in all directions, the most prominent of which are the twin peaks of Otter, the gems of the Blue Ridge mountains.

The building was purchased by the Elks for $12,000, and they have spent over $40,000 in improvements. The manner of raising this fund, which was not in the way of extra cost to any member of the organization, is interesting.

When the first talk of the project began the question of making an assessment against each member of the order was discussed, and it was concluded that it would not be wise to make any extra tax on the members. Upon inquiry, however, it was found that each lodge in the United States was willing to take 25 cents from the annual assessment of each member and put this amount in the grand lodge treasury for the building fund. This was done, and without fairs, bazars, or in any way calling upon the public or levying an extra tax on the members, the necessary sum was raised, and in May the building will be ready for the purpose for which it was intended.

A Word of Warning.

Some of the officers who handle public money labor under a great delusion when they think they can get on from year to year without making a public statement. The law plainly specifies that every supervisor, treasurer of highway commissioners and treasurer of school trustees shall publish a full statement in some newspaper in the county, under penalty of a fine of not less than $50 nor more $500. Every taxpayer has a perfect right to know where every dollar of his money goes to, and there is no way he can know unless the officers who handle this money make a public statement of receipts and expenditures. The people of a town have a right to know what their township officers are doing, and should see to it that the handlers of their money publish a report as the law specifies.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Measures Under Consideration in the Capitol at Springfield.

SPECIAL SESSION IS RUMORED

Story That the Legislature Will Be Called Together to Discuss Traction Matters and to Take Action on Other Affairs of Importance.

Talk is heard of a special session of the general assembly to be called in the near future, at which traction legislation will be the chief topic but supplemented by other matters which the legislature throws in the scrap heap.

The resolution to adjourn sine die on April 29 is in the house committee on rules. Both branches of the general assembly are working like a lot of people trying to get away from quarantine to adjourn on that date. The senate Tuesday afternoon, with not near a quorum, advanced to third reading, without amendment of any nature or description, appropriation bills aggregating almost $7,000,000.

The senate will clear the decks of the appropriations and pile them into the house. Curtis, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, is not in Springfield, nor has he been there to any great extent during the session, Shanahan representing the chairman and pushing bills through the house.

Members are complaining bitterly that the appropriations bills are passed and names recorded of men miles and miles away.

The race to get away from Springfield is as bad as John Gilpin's ride. Scores and scores of important propositions embodied in bills will not be considered.

It is possible that this talk about a special session is made to relieve the tension on the traction question, which is getting tighter every hour.

Canal Appropriation.

Mr. Tice, from the committee on appropriations, reported a committee bill making an appropriation for the expenses of the Illinois and Michigan canal. The bill appropriates $50,000 per annum for maintaining the canal and $42,960 for the maintenance of the Bridgeport pumping plant. Appended to the bill is a section requiring that all fees collected by the canal commission be paid directly into the state treasury. It also provides that "no part of the amount hereby appropriated shall be due and payable until an account in detail, sustained by vouchers, shall be filed with the auditor showing to his satisfaction all previous expenditures of appropriations heretofore made for said canal."

Police Pension.

Representative Lindly, from the committee on municipal corporations, reported with favorable recommendation the senate bill (Dawson's) to amend the law creating the police pension fund of Chicago. The committee amended the bill so as to fix the maximum pension for officers at $900 per annum and the maximum for patrolmen at $600.

Money for Institutions.

A number of appropriation bills were passed, including one appropriating $80,300 to the Eye and Ear infirmary at Chicago for special purposes for the two years beginning July 1, 1903. Also one appropriating $74,000 to the infirmary for ordinary expenses for the two years beginning July 1, 1903.

Senate Has Brief Session.

The senate was in session only ten minutes Tuesday morning, an agreement having been entered into between the members last week not to transact any business of importance on account of the city and village elections throughout the state.

Additional Judges.

Representative Farley introduced a bill providing for three additional circuit judges in Cook county. This is in consonance with the action of the Democratic judicial convention at Chicago in making nominations for three places which the convention evidently thought the legislature might create.

When Records Burn.

Mr. Wilkerson's bill to quiet the title to lands in cases where public records have been destroyed by fire, or otherwise, and his bill providing that elevated railroads shall be assessed the same as other street railways, were advanced to third reading in the house.

Many bills were advanced. Among those already passed by the senate and sent to the order of third reading and final passage were:

Increases Salaries.

Senator Campbell's increasing the salaries of the state officers. Senator Farnum's providing that Election Contest.

A petition for a recount of the votes cast in Central precinct of Fancy Creek township on assistant supervisor has been filed in the county court by J. J. Keely, Democrat, who was defeated by B. F. Holland, Republican.

Election Expenses.

The total amount paid the judges and clerks for their services during the recent city election at Springfield was $2,304. This is the greatest sum ever paid for a city election there.

Oak Park and Berwyn, Cook county, may come in under the jurisdiction of the election commissioners of Chicago if they vote for it.

Nohe Objects.

"Gus" Nohe appeared in the role of objector in the house, when his friend, Cicero J. Lindly, tried to call up senate bill 433 for advancement. The bill provides for ceding to the national government a point of state land where the Illinois and Michigan canal joins the Chicago river. The federal government wants to dredge out the point to make a turning basin for vessels in the river. The river improvement association of Chicago is said to be back of the bill. L. O. Goddard has been working for it.

"Why," Lindly asked, when Nohe objected to the bill being considered. "It is a Chicago bill," Nohe answered, "and if some Chicago member is not willing to call it up it better not be called up."

New Organ for Mansion.

The executive mansion is to have a new pipe organ; an electric pipe organ, that will not require man or boy power to work the bellows. The mansion is also to have a new veranda in place of the massive porch so long a characteristic of the old house—a veranda long enough and broad enough so that the military bands may come in from Camp Lincoln when the state troops are in annual encampment and give concerts as adjuncts to the military receptions which take place at the mansion at such times. Provision for these improvements was made at the last minute in the omnibus appropriations bill, which carries the appropriations for the governor's office and mansion. Originally, the allowance for repairing and decorating and refurbishing the mansion was $17,000. It was raised at the last moment to $20,000. The extra $3,000 covers $1,100 for the electric pipe organ and $1,900 for repairing the driveway to the mansion and providing for long and broad verandas where the band can find room.

Session Nears End.

Politicians now agree that the General Assembly will adjourn on April 29, the date fixed by the Senate's joint resolution. The work of this week will be shaped to that end. This will involve almost continuous sessions of the House from 9 o'clock each morning until nightfall. All committee work will be done at night. Owing to the numerous municipal elections over the state, the attendance at Tuesday's session will be light, but the following day all of the members will arrive, and the heavy, steady grind which always marks the closing days of a legislature will begin.

New Charter Favored.

The Chicago "new charter resolution" is a special order for consideration in the House Wednesday morning. The resolution is before the house for adoption and there is pending an amendment limiting Chicago's representation in the legislature in the event that it is given a distinct government. A poll of the House shows a majority of the members in favor of the resolution, but it requires a two-thirds vote to adopt it. There are many members who have not committed themselves on the proposition, and it is not possible to predict with accuracy the result of the vote. Much of the country opposition has been withdrawn by concessions from Chicago on the assessment proposition.

Labor Legislation.

Representative Drew's bill, known as the "fellow-servant" bill, which is decided to change the present rule with regard to the liability of employers for injuries to employees, is a special order for Wednesday in the house. Representatives of the Chicago Federation of Labor have been urging the passage of this bill, but it has not made the same progress that the other labor bills have. Its companion bill, the measure raising the limit of death damages to $10,000, has already passed the Senate and is on the floor of the House.

Convict Bill a Special Order.

The House convict-labor bill is to come up in the Senate on Wednesday, it having been made a special order. A number of amendments to the bill have been prepared, the principal one of which is to extend the time for putting the new law into effect. It is provided in the bill that the new system should be in operation throughout the institutions within one year, and the proposed amendment is to make the time two years.

Another special order in the senate is the civil-service bill. A number of amendments to this measure will be presented, and it is likely that it will be amended and returned to the House.

Foreign Corporations.

The bill providing for the assessment of such part of the capital stock of foreign corporations as is employed in business in Illinois, which passed the house is to be reported and passed by the senate. A companion bill from the Secretary of State's office, requiring corporations to pay their incorporation fee before they are permitted to organize, will also pass. The last named bill is to cure a technical flaw in the present law, by which railroads have undertaken to escape payment of the fees.

Forges Passes.

Samuel Molin, a young employe of the Wabash, convicted of forging passes and transportation on that road, was sentenced to the state reformatory in the county court at Springfield.

Horses Starve.

James Barger was arrested at Decatur on a charge of having allowed three horses to starve to death in order to secure their hides. He was placed in jail.

STEAMER LOSES RAFT OF LOGS

Tow Breaks From Vessel at Alton Under Exciting Circumstances.

The steamer Jacob Richtman, of which Jacob Richtman is captain, rammed a tow of two barges loaded with cottonwood and a large raft of logs against a pier of the Alton bridge. The raft was broken up and the barges turned adrift down the river, while the towboat helplessly drifted in the swift current and stiff gale against the iron work of the bridge. Capt. Richtman was at the wheel and his brother, James Richtman, was in the engine room. The Richtman lodged securely under the iron girders of the bridge, which are just high enough to pin the top deck and sweep off the railings. The steamer careened dangerously, but did not ship any water. When the accident occurred Capt. Richtman was trying to guide his unwieldy tow through the outer side of the draw span of the bridge, but the current was too swift. The crew of twelve men on the raft leaped for the Richtman when the collision occurred, and all but two, Martin Wilson and Charles Utt, reached the steamer. The two men floated off down the river on the broken raft and were taken off by members of the crew in skiffs.

RECOVER STOLEN MAIL POUCH

Federal Detectives Find the Bag, but Contents Are Missing.

One of the mail pouches stolen in the big mail robbery at the Springfield junction was found in the vicinity of the junction by federal detectives. The pouch was hidden in a ravine and its contents were missing. From complaints received by the post authorities it is now believed that considerable money was obtained by the robbers, who are still at large. Mitchell Driscoll, the tower man who was arrested by Springfield officers for complicity in the theft, is suffering from nervous prostration and is in a critical condition. Driscoll was struck with a black jack and court proceedings will be commenced against the officer who struck him.

Favor Mueller Bill.

The manufacturers and merchants of Quincy have declared in favor of Senator Mueller's amendment to senate bill No. 49, one of the revenue measures now pending before the general assembly at Springfield. They are opposed to the sentiments of Senator L. B. Stringer of Lincoln, and have delegated the president of the chamber of commerce and secretary of the Quincy freight bureau to explain their position before the members of the state legislature.

Is Acquitted of Forgery.

The trial of Attorney Edward L. Maher of East St. Louis on an indictment for forging names to deeds of property located at Brooklyn, Ill., which has been on trial in the Circuit court of Belleville, was brought to a sudden end. After the evidence for the state had been presented, Judge Hartzell instructed the jury to acquit the defendant, as his guilt had not been sufficiently proven, and he was at once discharged from custody.

Merit Plan for Teachers.

The Mount Vernon board of education, at its April meeting, took action on a plan for the advancement of the teachers according to merit. The teachers whose services are considered satisfactory will receive an increase in salary each year. For instance, the salary of the principal of the high school is advanced $5 per month each year for five years.

Taffee, president; Mrs. Thomas Lee, vice president; Mrs. Don Davis, secretary; Mrs. J. D. Strait, treasurer.

Decatur National Banks.

The statements of the condition of the national banks of Decatur for the year ended April 9 show a big increase in deposits and loans. The increase in deposits over the year previous is $151,065.

IMPORTANT PAROLE DECISION.

Juries Have Power to Fix Sentences in Certain Cases.

The writ of habeas corpus prayed for by Lewis Georgetown, who is confined in the penitentiary, under a sentence of twenty-five years, entered in the Criminal court of Cook county, July 25, 1902, for criminal assault, was refused in the Supreme court, the court holding that the parole law did not effect a repeal of that provision of the statute authorizing juries to fix the term of imprisonment in cases of assault, murder, treason and kidnapping. This is the first time the Supreme court has passed on this question, though the point has frequently been raised in habeas corpus proceedings. Georgetown's counsel urged the issuance of the writ on the ground that the judgment and sentence by which he is held are void, and claiming that the statute under which he was sentenced to a definite term for criminal assault was repealed by the first section of the parole law passed in 1895, and that the power of a jury to fix the term of imprisonment in such cases had never been restored. Habeas corpus cases have appeared from all parts of Illinois in recent years and many prisoners have been released from prison because of no positive ruling by the Supreme court in cases very similar to the Georgetown case.

Champion Bigamist.

John T. Driscoll, the champion bigamist of the state, who has just been sentenced to the penitentiary from Virginia, Ill., is the husband of four women, whom he married at various times and places within the past few years. His first known wife was Miss Lizzie Schwartz. She resides at Paxton, Ill., with five children. Wife No. 2 was Mrs. Eliza Hunter, whom Driscoll married in 1901, only to desert her soon afterward. It was she who brought the suit for bigamy. His third wife lives in McLean county, but did not appear in the trial. Mrs. Sarah McGrant, another widow of means living at Huntington, Ind., was Driscoll's fourth victim. This wedding took place in Chicago, where the bigamist was a prominent Methodist and politician.

Independent Electric Plant.

A number of Centralia business men becoming dissatisfied with the service furnished by the present electric light company, have organized a merchants' light company, and will install an independent plant. The application for a franchise will be made at the next session of the city council. The present plant is owned and operated by a syndicate of foreign capitalists.

Physician is Accused.

City Physician Barker of Springfield has been charged with neglect of duty and investigation is being made by the board of health. Dr. Barker has been investigating smallpox cases for the state board of health recently and owing to his frequent absence from the city, it is said that he does not give proper attention to his Springfield work.

Close in Honor of President.

It has now been practically decided by the merchants of Springfield to close their stores during the four hours which President Roosevelt will remain in Springfield on June 4. The new $150,000 armory, which will be dedicated by the president in the morning, will be converted into a mammoth dance hall at night.

Pioneer of Hardin.

Mrs. B. F. Child, who recently celebrated her 87th anniversary, is the oldest resident of Hardin, having located there in 1836. Her husband was the founder of the city. Mrs. Child is the lone survivor of her family, her brother, Joseph Brown, who served a term as mayor of St. Louis, having died in 1900.

Militia Captain Resigns.

Predict Big Apple Crop.

The orchards of Calhoun county are now in full bloom. Orchardists claim that the bloom is healthy, and they predict an apple crop of about 500,000 barrels.

Danger in the Pipe.

Death, and a most terrible form of it, is declared to lurk in the tobacco pipe if it is made of clay. Such is the startling statement made by the Irish Registrar General in a special report on cancer in Ireland just laid on the table of the house of commons. The "clay" "dhudeen" is very common amongst the peasantry in Ireland. It is often smoked until the shank is quite short and then it so irritates the lips of the smoker that cancer sometimes supervenes.

Miss Gannon, Sec'y Detroit Amateur Art Association, tells young women what to do to avoid pain and suffering caused by female troubles.

"I can conscientiously recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to those of my sisters suffering with female weakness and the troubles which so often befall women. I suffered for months with general weakness and felt so weary that I had hard work to keep up. I had shooting pains and was utterly miserable. In my distress I was advised to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it was a red letter day to me when I took the first dose, for at that time my restoration began. In six weeks I was a changed woman, perfectly well in every respect. I felt so elated and happy that I want all women who suffer to get well as I did."—Miss GUILA GANNON, 359 Jones St., Detroit, Corresponding Sec'y Mich. Amateur Art Association.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

It is clearly shown in this young lady's letter that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will surely cure the sufferings of women; and when one considers that Miss Gannon's letter is only one of hundreds which we have, the great virtue of Mrs. Pinkham's medicine must be admitted by all.

THE LION'S WHELP

A Story of Cromwell's Time

BY AMELIA E. BARR.

"I know who he is,"
"I never saw my father so distracted. And it is always 'give, give, give.' George took away our last silver, and I am sure nearly all our money. Father has sent away all the men-servants, but such as are necessary to work the land; four of them went back with George to the army. I have had to send Delia away—only Anice and Audrey are left to care for us, and father says they are more than he can afford."

"Dr. Verity has been here," said Jane, trying to change the subject. "He thinks the war nearly over, Matilda."

"It is not. Even if King Charles were killed, there would then be King James to fight. The war may last for a century. And if this is the world, I would I were out of it. Dear, shall I ever be happy again?"

Thus, in spite of all Jane's efforts, they ever found themselves on dangerous or debatable ground. All topics were roads leading thither, and they finally abandoned every kind of tactic and spoke as their hearts prompted them. Then, though some hard things were said, many very kind things were also said, and Matilda rose to go home comforted and helped—for, after all, the tongue is servant to the heart. As she was tying her hat, a maid called Mrs. Swaffham from the room, and Matilda lingered, waiting for her return.

"Heigh-ho!" she said, "why should we worry? Everything comes round in time to its proper place, and then it will be, as old Anice expects—the hooks will find the eyes that fit them."

As she spoke Mrs. Swaffham hastily entered the room, and with her was Lord Cluny Neville. Both girls turned from the window and caught his eyes and yet none the less she accomplished her purpose. For when they parted for the night he held her hand with a gentle pressure, and quick glancing, sweetly smiling, he flashed into her eyes admiration and interest not to be misunderstood.

And Jane's heart was a crystal rock, only waiting the touch of a wand. Had she felt the mystic contact? Her fine eyes were dropped, but there was a faint, bewitching smile around her lovely mouth, and there was something bewildering and something bewildered in her very silence and simplicity.

The sun was high when Neville awoke next morning, and he was ashamed of his apparent indolence and would scarce delay long enough to eat a hasty breakfast. Then his horse was waiting, and he stood at the threshold.

As he mounted, Mrs. Swaffham asked him if he went by York, and he answered, "Yes, I know perfectly that road, and I must not miss my way, for I am a laggard already."

"That is right," she said. "The way that is best to go is the way that best you know."

He did not hear the advice, for the moment his horse felt the foot in the stirrup he was off, and hard to hold with bit and bridle.

When he was quite out of sight, they turned into the house with a sigh, and Mrs. Swaffham said, "Now, I must have the house put in order. If I were you, Jane, I would go to de Wick this afternoon. Matilda is full of trouble. I cannot feel indifferent to her."

So Jane went to her room and began to fold away the pretty things she had worn the previous night. And as she did so, her heart sat so lightly on its temporal perch that she was singing

it. Dropping her gown, she let the open door frame her beauty for a moment. She was conscious that she was lovely, and she saw the swift lifting of Neville's eyelids, and the look of surprised delight which came into his eyes. She was resolved to be charming, and she succeeded. She let Jane help her to remove her hat and tippet. She let Mrs. Swaffham make much of her.

Then she sat down by Neville, and he cut her a slice of the patty, and Jane filled her wine-glass, and Neville touched his own against it and wished her health and happiness. Then they sang some madrigals, and as the shades of evening gathered, Neville began to tell them wild, weird stories of the Border-Land, and they sat in the twilight pleasantly afraid of the phantoms they had themselves conjured up, drawing close together and speaking with a little awe, and finding even the short silences that fell upon them very eloquent and satisfying.

There was then no question of Matilda returning that night to de Wick, and very soon Mrs. Swaffham joined them, and the servants began to build up the fire and spread the table for the evening meal.

"Where did Charles Stuart go after Dunbar?" asked Jane.

"He went northward to Perth. For a little while he held with Argyle and the Kirk, but the Covenanters drove him too hard. They told him he must purify his court from all ungodly followers, and so made him dismiss twenty-two English Cavaliers not godly—that is, not Calvinistic—enough. Then Charles, not willing to endure their pious tyranny, ran away to the Highlands behind Perth, and though he was caught and persuaded to return, he did so only on condition that his friends should be with him and fight for him."

"Why should the Scots object to that?" asked Mrs. Swaffham.

"Because," answered Neville, "these men were mostly Englishmen and Episcopalians; and the Whigs and Covenanters hated them as being too often reckless and wicked men, full of cavalier sauciness. In return, Charles Stuart hated the Whigs and Covenanters, made a mockery of them, and, it is said, did not disguise his amusement and satisfaction at the defeat of the godly army at Dunbar."

"And how did these godly men regard Cromwell?" asked Matilda with undisguised scorn.

"They troubled us a little in the West," said Neville, "and Cromwell marched the army to Glasgow, and on the next Sabbath day the preachers railed at him from every pulpit in that city. One of them met the Lord General on the street and attacked him with threats and evil prophecies. I would have shut his lips with a blow, but Cromwell said to me, 'Let him alone; he is one fool, and you are another,' and the very next day he met friends with this preacher, and I made them coming down the High street together in very sober and pleasant discourse. After beating these Whigs well at Hamilton, we went into winter quarters at Edinburgh; and Cromwell is now staying at Lord Moray's house in the Canongate."

"He ought to have taken his rest in Holyrood Palace," said Jane.

"I am glad he did not," replied Neville. "'Tis enough to fight the living Stuart; why should he run into mortal danger by invading the home of that unlucky family? A man sleeps in his dwelling place—and when he sleeps he is at the mercy of the dead."

"Not so," said Jane. "The good man is at the mercy of God, and if he sleeps, his angel wakes and watches. 'I will lay me down in peace and take my rest; for it is thou, Lord, only, that maketh me dwell in safety.'"

Neville looked steadily at her as she spoke with such a glad confidence, and Jane's face grew rosy under his gaze, while Neville's smile widened slowly, until his whole countenance shone with pleasure.

STRANGE DISH ON MENU.

Young Woman Who Christened It Is Under Grave Suspicion.

A very earnest young Englishman is Prof. Francis H. Tabor, superintendent of The Boys' Club of Tenth Street and Avenue A, says the New York Times. His sociological labors and the fact that he has redeemed whole regiments of East Side boys do not wholly detract from the grave impression made by his manners and presence, nor fail to strike awe to the hearts of society.

Prof. Tabor, who is a Cambridge man, was recently asked to dine at the home of a friend to meet a son just returning from student work at the famous English university. The daughter of the house and her girl friends designed special menus for the occasion. When the time came to write in the various items, "devil turkey" served as a bone of contention.

"It looks horrid, doesn't it?" said the daughter of the house. "This is my first dinner party, and I don't want to spoil it by offending so serious a man."

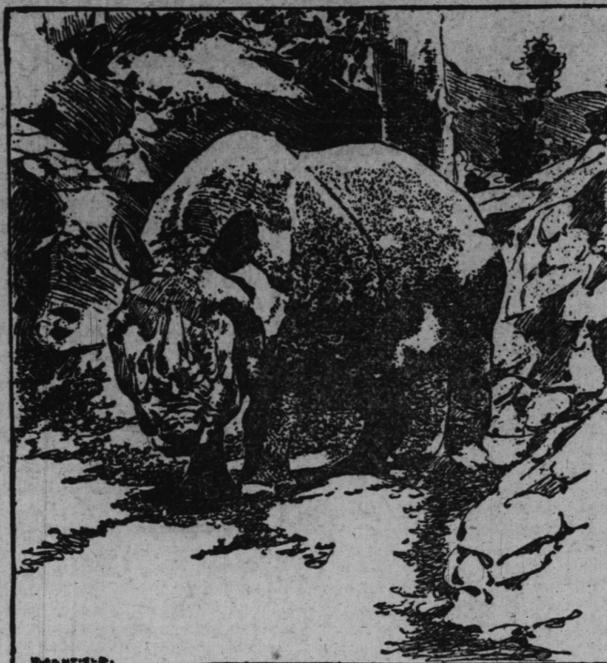

"What shall we do?" exclaimed a companion. "We can't call it 'peppered,' 'griddled,' 'curried,' or 'sauted,' because it's just 'devil'd,' that's all—as hot as Satan's residence."

"I know! We'll just use dashes." When the much-traveled professor explored his dainty menu that evening, he was somewhat surprised to find that among other excellent dishes was:

"D—d Turkey." The rest of the diners believe that the bud's mischief savored of too much wit to have been born out of mere ignorance.

ACCIDENT ON THE SHAMROCK

Big Steel Mast Snaps in Two and Carries One Man to His Grave.

SIR THOMAS PAINFULLY HURT

Owner of the Challenger is Thrown Down a Hatchway—Hull of the Yacht is Uninjured, but New Gear- ings Must Be Made.

Weymouth, England, cable: The big steel mast of Shamrock III. was broken off short and all the rigging of the new challenger swept overboard by a sudden squall which caught the boat about a mile outside the harbor April 17. It will be necessary to put in an entirely new mast and supply a new set of sails and rigging.

One man, James Collier, a brother-in-law of Captain Wringe, was carried overboard and drowned.

Sir Thomas Lipton was knocked down a hatchway and one of his hands slightly injured. The hull of the challenger is intact and is not believed to have suffered any from the strain and wrenching out of the mast.

Defect in Mast.

After the mast went over, breaking about seven feet from the deck, it broke again with the weight of the water in the sails. Later, when an effort was made to raise it, the mast buckled again and it was finally taken aboard a lighter.

Generally speaking, the yacht and gear were quite fit to stand all racing strain. The whole accident originated in an unsuspected flaw in a turnbuckle eyepiece of steel, little thicker than a man's thumb.

The yachts were maneuvering in the roadstead under mainsails, jibs, foresails, and gaff topsails prior to the start.

Man Overboard.

Nearly a mile off short Shamrock III. went about on the starboard tack, when a gust of wind out of Weymouth bay struck the yacht and completely dismantled it. The yacht's decks were crowded with Sir Thomas Lipton's guests, officers and men. Most of the wreckage went clear of these, and many fatalities were thereby averted.

Immediately after Collier, who was handling a binocular glass to Sir Thomas Lipton, was swept overboard, Capt. Wringe ordered out a boat to search for Collier. Boats were also dropped from Shamrock I. and Erin, and in a couple of minutes these were all heading for the scene of the accident. Collier, however, never reappeared. A number of others were injured by falling gear, but none was seriously hurt. Clearing away the wreckage was a difficult task.

Sir Thomas is Hurt.

"The whole thing," said Sir Thomas Lipton, "was so sudden that I have not yet had time to realize the full extent of the damage. I heard only a ripping sound forward and then the whole structure wavered. While it was still swaying I was knocked down the hatchway and through the flooring. When I scrambled on deck again the whole thing was over.

"My injuries," added Sir Thomas, "are painful. I was badly shaken up by the fall and have a severely smashed hand, but everything is in-

FIERCE BATTLE WITH BANDITS

James McKinney Is Shot to Death in a Josshouse at Bakersfield.

DEPUTY SHERIFF IS A VICTIM

Desperado and Two Companions Put Up a Desperate Fight Before the Leader is Killed and His Allies Taken Captive.

Bakersfield, Cal., dispatch: James McKinney, the bandit and murderer, was shot and killed in a Chinese joss-house here, after a desperate battle, in which Deputy Sheriff Tibbitts was killed and Constable Packard was fatally shot.

McKinney, up to the moment he fell dead with a bullet through his neck, lived up to his reputation as a desperate fighter and a deadly man with the sawed-off shotgun, his favorite weapon.

Stand Off Posse.

McKinney and two others stood off the posse until McKinney was killed, and even then it was with difficulty the other two were dislodged. One came out when the fire department was called out and held ready to check the spread of the fire it was intended to start under the house. The other man refused to give up until the fire actually was started and the desperado almost suffocated.

Slays a Deputy.

Sheriffs Kelly of Kern county, Colings of Tulare county, and Leovin of Arizona, with Deputies Will and Burt Tibbitts, Gus Tower and City Marshal Packard, surrounded McKinney in a Chinese josshouse.

Will Tibbitts and Packard approached McKinney in the house and ordered him to surrender. McKinney answered by shooting. Will Tibbitts was shot through the stomach and died shortly after; Packard was shot through the neck and shoulders and dangerously wounded. Burt Tibbitts, a brother of the dead deputy sheriff, shot McKinney through the mouth and neck, killing him.

Turn House Into Fort.

McKinney had been in Bakersfield two days, and was harbored by friends. The house was a regular fort. In the place with McKinney was Hul-Hulse and another desperado. McKinney had a sawed-off shotgun in his hand, while Hulse used a pistol.

Hulse would not obey the order to come out of the barricaded house until the fire department was ordered to the scene. He was taken to the county jail. An immense mob surrounded the jail and tried to take him from the officers.

The other accomplice of McKinney staid in the house until it was set on fire and he was smoked out.

She let the open door frame her beauty.

at the same moment. He was, as Dr. Verity said, a man destined to captivate, not only by his noble bearing and handsome face, but also by such an indescribable charm of manner as opened the door of every heart to him. Bowing to both girls, he presented Jane with a letter from her friend Mary Cromwell, and also with a small parcel which contained some beautiful ribbons. The pretty gift made a pleasant introduction to a conversation full of gay inquiries and interesting items of social information. Matilda watched the young soldier with eyes full of interest, and did not refuse his escort to her carriage; but, as she departed, she gave Jane one look which left her with an unhappy question in her heart, not only for that night, but to be recalled long after as premonitory and will come, etc.

During the preparations for the evening meal, and while Neville was in his chamber removing his armor and refreshing his clothing, Jane also found time to put on a pretty evening gown. Something had happened to Jane; she was in a delicious anticipation, and she could not keep the handsome stranger out of her consideration. When she heard Neville's steady, swift step coming towards her she trembled. Why? She did not ask herself, and her soul did not tell her. It indeed warned her, either of joy or of sorrow, for surely its tremor intimated that the newcomer was to be no mere visitor of passage, no neutral guest; that perhaps, indeed, he might have entered her home as a fate, or at least as a messenger of destiny. For who can tell, when a stranger walks into any life, what his message may be?

It was a wonderful evening to both Jane and Mrs. Swaffham. Neville told over again the story of Dunbar, and told it in a picturesque way that would have been impossible to Dr. Verity. It was a magnificent drama, though there was only one actor to present it.

Jane did not speak; she glanced at the young man, wondering at his rapt face, its solemn pallor and mystic exaltation, and feeling his voice vibrate through all her senses, though at the last he had spoken half-sudbly, as people do in extremes of life or feeling.

It is in moments such as these, that Love grows—even in a moment's gaze. Jane forgot her intention of captivatand did not know it. And she did not know that, at the very same moment, Cluny Neville was solacing the loneliness of his ride by the "Hymn for Victory," given to its Hebrew fervor a melodious vigor of interpretation admirably emphasized by the Gregorian simplicity of the tune.

CHAPTER IV.

So Sweet a Dream.

Peace was now confidently predicted, but hope outruns events, and the winter slowly settled down over the level dreariness of the land without any apparent change in the national situation.

In de Wick the situation was pitifully forlorn and desolate. Matilda would gladly have escaped its depressing atmosphere for a little while every day, but she could not, for the roads leading from it were almost quagmires unless steadied by frost, and it was only rarely on such occasions that the horses could be spared to take her as far as Swaffham. Even the atmosphere of Swaffham, though grateful and cheering, was exasperating to the poor royalist lady. There was such cheerfulness in its comfortable rooms, such plenty of all the necessities of life, such busy service of men and maids, such active, kindly hospitality to herself, and such pleasant companionship between Jane and her mother, that Matilda could not help a little envious contrasting.

One day, near Christmas, the roads above them, and in spite of the cold were hard and clean and the sky blue. Matilda resolved to walk over to Swaffham. As she left her father she kissed him affectionately, and then courtseyed to the Chaplain, who did not notice her attention, being happily and profitably lost in a volume by good Dr. Thomas Fuller.

Matilda walked rapidly, and the clear cold air blew hope and cheerfulness into her heart. As she went through the garden she saw a monthly rose in bloom, and she plucked it; and with the fair sweet flower in her hand entered the Swaffham parlor. Jane was sitting at the table serving Lord Cluny Neville, who was eating and drinking and leaning towards her with a face full of light and pleasure. Mrs. Swaffham sat on the hearth.

Matilda saw the whole picture in a glance, and she set her mood to match

Wheat and Prosperity.

It is gratifying to learn from the latest report of the weather bureau at Washington that "the condition of winter wheat is excellent and it has made splendid progress since the first of the month (April). On the whole," the report continues, "the condition of the crop in the winter wheat belt east of the Rocky mountains is more promising than for years."

The government statistician reported that on the 10th of April the average condition of the crop was 97.3 per cent as against 73.7 per cent for 1902, 91.7 per cent for 1901 and 82.1 per cent the average for the ten years previous. It is, of course, too early to make definite predictions as to the final outcome, but these indications are sufficient to warrant a distinctly hopeful view of the immediate future.

During the last ten years, or from 1892 to 1902, inclusive, the total yield of wheat in this country reached the enormous figures of 5,303,236,233 bushels, or an average, in round numbers, of 530,000,000 bushels annually. Excluding from the calculation the crop of 1902, the average product of the previous nine years was but a little over 500,000,000 bushels. The crop of 1902 reached the extraordinary total of 756,209,573 bushels, or 50 per cent more than the average for the previous nine years. If the crop of this year shall be equal to that of last year, the prospect will be exceedingly encouraging. If, as the indications now are, there should be an increase in the crop of this year, due to added acreage and better yield, of even 7 per cent, we should have a crop of 800,000,000 bushels. We sent abroad 155,000,000 bushels of last year's wheat crop, for which we received $113,000,000, and the prospects are that these figures will be surpassed by the crop of this year.

It is not, however, necessary to have an improvement over last year to assure us of a prospect flattering to the most conservative judgment. It is facts of this sort that determine the real prosperity of the country. A crop of 750,000,000 bushels of wheat is the best guarantee we can have of the continuance of good times for at least another twelvemonth.

"For two years I suffered terribly from dyspepsia, with great depression, and was always feeling poorly. I then tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and in one week I was a new man."—John McDonald, Philadelphia, Pa.

Growth in Church Building.

According to figures compiled by the Church Economist, a journal which gives especial attention to the material problems of religion, the people of the United States spent in 1902 between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000 for new church buildings. This includes, of course, not only the buildings erected for new congregations, but also replacements of structures for old congregations. This is at the rate of $100,000 a day.

As to the number of new churches thus provided the experts differ somewhat. The Rev. Dr. Erskine N. White, secretary of the Presbyterian board of church erection, figures out that fifteen new churches on the average are erected and dedicated every day in the year. Other men holding similar positions reduce the average to twelve. Still others place it between twelve and fifteen. Whatever the exact truth, it is evident that a new house of worship was opened to the American people every working hour of every day in the year 1902.

The average cost per building is harder to ascertain, but would appear to be about $7,000. Dr. White finds, and other authorities substantially agree with him, that Episcopal and Catholic churches cost rather more each than the buildings of other denominations. Perhaps this difference is accounted for by the fact that the furnishings and paraphernalia called for by the liturgies of those churches are more expensive than the corresponding equipment of other denominations.

Truly a nation that spends $100,000 every day of the year on new houses of worship and opens such a house every daylight hour is proving its faith—whatever that faith may be—by its works.

"If women would pay more attention to their health we would have more happy wives, mothers and daughters, and if they would observe results they would find that the doctors' prescriptions do not perform the many cures they are given credit for."

"In consulting with my druggist he advised McElree's Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black-Draught, and so I took it and have every reason to thank him for a new life opened up to me with restored health, and it only took three months to cure me."

Wine of Cardui is a regulator of the menstrual functions and is a most astonishing tonic for women. It cures scanty, suppressed, too frequent, irregular and painful menstruation, falling of the womb, whites and flooding. It is helpful when approaching womanhood, during pregnancy, after childbirth and in change of life. It frequently brings a dear baby to homes that have been barren for years. All druggists have $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

WINE OF CARDUI

Morally Certain of It.
The prosecuting witness, who had a lump over one eye, a black and blue spot under the other, a nose that pointed decidedly awry, and various strips of court plaster on his face evidently arranged without any regard to their artistic effect, testified that the defendant had knocked him senseless and then kicked him in the head and face for several minutes.
"If he knocked you senseless," asked the police justice, "how do you know he kicked you after you were down?"
The witness scratched his jaw and reflected.
"I know it, judge," he replied, "because that's what I'd a' done to him if I'd got him down—you can bet on that!"

Opportunity for Treasure Hunters.
Nearly one hundred years ago the Jesuits were banished from Mexico. It was known that they had immense hoards of gold, but feared to tempt cupid by taking it all with them. What they did with the bulk of their savings has just been revealed by Pierre Guire, who says that treasure to the value of over £4,000,000 was buried beneath the old cathedral in the little town of Typozottan, and is believed to be there yet.

Giving Them What They Want.
A convicted false medium at Paris defends her spurious flower seances by saying that she did what people who paid admission wanted her to do. There is a world of shrewdness in that. People ought not to claim to be cozened when they get what they want to pay for.

HILL RAILROADS GET COAL LANDS

Fields in Central Illinois Are Secured by Company with Big Capital.

TO DO AWAY WITH DEAD LOADS
Products of Mines Will Fill Cars on Their Return Trip to the Grain Country of the Northwest, Increasing Roads' Earnings.

Chicago, Ill., dispatch: Vast coal fields in central Illinois are to pass to the control of a gigantic corporation, with a capital of $80,000,000, and they will be operated in connection with the Hill system of railroads.
James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Securities Company, is said to have financed the deal, and the Burlington, the Great Northern, and the Northern Pacific railroads will open markets for Illinois fuel in the northwest.
Primarily the deal has for its purpose to give these three railroads a return haul, and increase the traffic receipts by reducing the number of "dead" loads. Trains which bring the products of the great northwestern grain fields to Chicago will take back the output from Illinois mines instead of returning empty, as is so often the case at present.
To Build Short Line.
The territory acquired by the combination extends through forty miles

AND YET WE SEND MISSIONARIES TO THE HEATHEN!

"The movement is designed to bring Illinois coal to the front. There are a number of mines in the district through which the Jacksonville and St. Louis, now a part of the Burlington, runs, and all of them are being improved in anticipation of a considerable volume of business."

CUBAN BROKER UNDER ARREST
European Merchant Victimized to the Extent of $500,000.

Havana, cablegram: Transactions that are alleged to constitute frauds upon merchants in London, Paris and Frankfurt to the extent of $500,000, were developed as a result of the arrest of Santos Vasquez, who conducted a merchandise brokerage business in Havana under the name of the Mutual Mercantile Agency of New York. It is alleged that Vasquez had quantities of foreign goods shipped to Havana during the last six months, giving in payment ninety-day drafts on Fruhling Brothers of London. This firm accepted the drafts, but refused payment when due, saying the Havana house had not sent any money. Mexican merchants also are reported to have been victimized.

IDEAS OF RUSSIAN PEASANTS.

Show Remarkable Ignorance of the Earth and Elements.
The ignorance and the mental state of the peasants of central Russia are shown forcibly by their ideas of the form of the earth and the nature of rain, thunder and lightning. They regard the earth as something like a sponge, a flat or possibly globular body floating in the ocean. The water of the ocean filters through the earth, leaving its salt behind in the interior, and, issuing from springs, flows back in small and large streams to the ocean. This view is probably due in part to the character of the country, which is filled with small lakes and swamps. The sky, being so near the sun, must become very warm, and therefore it must perspire freely. In this way rain is easily accounted for. It should be noted that destructive cloudbursts or violent downpours of rain are common in central Russia and that they occur there, as elsewhere, chiefly in the hottest of summer weather. Thunder and lightning have nothing to do with each other. Thunder is the noise produced by the sky cracking from intense heat, while lightning is the glow of the chariot of fire in which Elijah was taken up to heaven. The stars are firmly attached to the sky, and an eclipse of the moon is caused by a cloud.

NEVER SAW SUCH LARGE YIELDS.

The Climate is Healthy—The Winters Are Pleasant in Western Canada.

Writing from Stirling, Alberta, to one of the agents representing the Canadian Government free homestead lands, Mr. M. Pickrell, formerly of Beechwood, Ky., says of Western Canada:

"In the first place we will say that the summer season is just lovely indeed. As to the winter, well, we never experienced finer weather than we are now enjoying. We have just returned from Northern Alberta, and will say that we found the weather to be very mild, the air dry, fresh and invigorating. Considering everything we can say that the winters here are most pleasant, healthy and enjoyable to what they are in the States. Here it gets cold and continues so till spring—there are no disagreeable winds. In South Alberta it is some warmer—two to four inches of snow may fall and in a few hours a Chinook wind comes along, evaporating the entire snow, leaving terra firma perfectly dry; in fact, we did not believe this part until we came and saw for ourselves and we now know what we herein write to be just as we write it. There has not been a day this winter that I could not work out doors. Farmers here are calculating on starting the plow the first of March.

"As to farm wages, we would not advise a man to come here with the expectation of living by his day's work, but all who do want a home I advise to have nerve enough to get up and come, for there never has been, and may never be again, such a grand opportunity for a man to get a home almost free.

"As to the crops, I have been in the fields before harvest, saw the grass put up and the grain harvested, and I never saw such large yields. I saw oats near Edmonton over six feet tall that yielded 80 bushels per acre, and I talked to a farmer near St. Albert who had a field year before last that averaged 110 bushels per acre and weighed 43 pounds to the bushel. All other crops would run in proportion—as to potatoes and vegetables, the turnout was enormous. I have such reports as the above from all sections that I have visited, and that has been every community between the Edmonton district and Raymond, in the Lethbridge district.

"As to stock raising, I would advise a man to locate in this place, or any place, in South Alberta, but for mixed farming I would say go up farther north, say near Lacombe, Wetaskiwin or Edmonton, where it is not quite so dry and where there is some timber to be had. I will say that nowhere have I ever seen a better opportunity for a man, whether he has money or not, to obtain a home. Nowhere can be found a more productive soil, better water and a better governed country than Western Canada affords. Inducements to the homeseeker are unexcelled. I met two men near Ponoka on the C. & E. R. R., who borrowed the money to pay for their homestead, and in four years those two men sold their farms—one for $3,500, the other for $3,000. I met a man near Wetaskiwin who landed here with 25 cents six years ago. He is now worth $8,000. The advantages for ranching are excellent. In fact, I do not believe this section can be beat. Markets are good; as to living, a family can live as cheap here as they can in the States. The average yield of oats in this neighborhood last year was 70 bushels per acre; wheat averaged 35, barley 40, and the beet crop was good. In consequence of the successful cultivation of the beet a large beet sugar factory is being erected at Raymond, seven miles from here.

"In conclusion I will say that N. W. T. from Manitoba to a long distance north of Edmonton produces most wonderful crops. Lakes and rivers abound with fish, and game is plentiful. And that this is unquestionably the country for a man to come to if he desires to better his condition in life. I would advise the prospective settler to look over the Lethbridge, Lacombe, Wetaskiwin and Edmonton districts before locating.

Travelers will locate in the Edmonton district next fall and several families from the States will locate with me. In the meantime I will receive my mail here and will be pleased to give the interested all the information desired."

LITTLE LOLITA ARMOUR NO LONGER A CRIPPLE

DR. ADOLF LORENZ, FAMOUS VIENNA SURGEON, AND LOLITA ARMOUR, HIS LITTLE PATIENT.

Lolita Armour is no longer a cripple. Dr. Adolf Lorenz, the famous Vienna surgeon, took off the plaster cast on the little girl's hip at Chicago last week in less time than it takes to tell of it.

The physician told her to move across the room. With a cry of joy the child found herself able to walk without assistance. Tears flowed from the eyes of the onlookers, but they were soon mingled with smiles and laughter.

Mrs. Armour was not in the house at the time. When she returned she nearly fainted when Lolita ran—actually ran—up to her and cried out: "Oh, mamma, see, I can walk now."

With a hysterical cry Mrs. Armour caught the child to her breast, and soon mother and daughter were weeping with an excess of joy. Dr. Lorenz performed the work of removing the cast with an ordinary penknife. The plaster was removed without the slightest difficulty, and with no pain to the little patient, who has suffered all her misfortunes with the heroism of a martyr. Lolita's nurse, keyed to a pitch of intense excitement, was present in the child's room.

With trembling limbs and an anxious look on her young face, Lolita stepped forward.

"Oh," she exclaimed, "I am so happy I can now walk. I wish mamma was here to see me."

Mrs. Armour was almost too happy to see strangers, but she said:

"Dr. Lorenz has told me that the operation was entirely successful. He says he sees no reason why it should not eventuate in a complete cure, and that every condition points that way."

The young patient now looks as rosy and fresh as other little girls, and she is said to be in first-class health.

Lolita Armour has been a cripple from childhood, suffering from congenital disease of the hip. Last fall Dr. Lorenz was brought from Vienna by Mr. Armour and paid $30,000 for placing the child's limbs in a plaster cast after reducing the complications. This was the second operation, the first being unsuccessful.

For months the little girl has been unable to move her limb, and through all her trials has kept up a brave little heart. Now she will be able to take part in the amusements of her friends' and play like other children, and the Armours would not care if the cost had been trebled.

Record of an Explorer.

Sir John Forrest, the Australian statesman, has a great record as an explorer. A few years ago after entering the survey department in 1865 he commanded an expedition sent into the interior in search of Dr. Leichardt. The following year he explored the shores of the great Australian Bight from Perth to Adelaide. Later on he conducted an expedition in connection with the overland telegraph between Adelaide and Port Darwin, making a journey of nearly 2,000 miles without the aid of camels and with horses only.

Hewitt as a Business Man.

The late Abram S. Hewitt did not believe in the stereotyped saw "If you want a thing well done do it yourself." He used to say: "My principle of economy always has been never to do anything myself if I could pay someone else to do it as well." Mr. Hewitt held this system to be the truest economy—to save himself for the most important uses. He was of opinion that the great weakness of Gladstone as a political leader was that he seldom allowed a subordinate to do anything.

Brigham Young's Successor.

The death of Brigham Young, president of the council of twelve apostles of the mormon church, leaves a vacancy in that office and the succession is a matter of much speculation. F. M. Lyman and John Henry Smith are the senior apostles, both having been appointed in 1879. Following precedent, one of these would be selected as president of the twelve apostles and thus be in line of succession to the presidency of the church.

HAS "AUTOGRAPH" HAT

P. W. Williams, a telegraph operator of Detroit, has an old cowboy's hat which he wouldn't take $100 for. Mr. Williams accompanied President Roosevelt on his campaign tour of the west in 1900 and bought the headpiece in a Wyoming town. Instead of wearing it, the operator asked Mr. Roosevelt to write his name on the brim, which the president did. Now the hat is a valuable autograph album, bearing the signatures of many distinguished men and a record of the states through which it was carried.

A Boston Form of Thanksgiving.
Supt. Hillis of the New York juvenile asylum was formerly the head of a similar institution in Columbus, Ohio, having been appointed when William McKinley was governor of the state. The Ohio system gives the children the privilege of living in separate houses, fifteen or twenty in a house. On a certain Thanksgiving Mr. Hillis offered three prizes for the best compositions on the subject, "What Have I to Be Thankful For?"

When he began to read the efforts at composition which the waifs submitted, a great similarity was noticed in those which came from the same house. The boys knew who of their number was best fitted for composition work, and they copied after his effort. They were thankful for all sorts of strange things, including the bean soup which was served them three or four times a week, and of which they were most fond. One youngster, with a faculty for adaptation beyond his years, thus expressed it:

"I am thankful for a lot of things. I am thankful that we live, move and have our beans."

They "waited" and "saw." Warren's Corners, N. Y., April 20th.—"Wait and see—you're better now, of course, but the cure won't last."

This was what the doctors said to Mr. A. B. Smith of this place. These doctors had been treating him for years and he got no better. They thought that nothing could permanently cure him. He says:

"My kidneys seemed to be so large that there wasn't room for them, and at times it seemed as if ten thousand needles were running through them. I could not sleep on my left side for years, the pain was so great in that position. I had to get up many times to urinate, and my urine was sometimes clear and white as spring water, and again it would be high-colored and would stain my linen. The pain across my back was awful. I was ravenously hungry all the time.

"After I had taken Dodd's Kidney Pills for four days my kidneys pained me so bad I could hardly sit down. On the morning of the fifth day I felt some better, and the improvement continued until I was completely cured.

"This is months ago, and as I have had no symptom of a return of my old trouble I am sure I am permanently cured."

King William Made Richer.

The revenues of King William of Stuttgart have been increased about 500,000 marks yearly, Duke Nicholas having left his property to his majesty.

If you don't get the biggest and best it's your own fault. Defiance Starch is for sale everywhere and there is positively nothing to equal it in quality or quantity.

Croesus possessed in landed property a fortune equal to £1,600,000, besides a large sum of money, slaves and furniture.

Defiance Starch is put up 16 ounces in a package, 10 cents. One-third more starch for the same money.

A churlish courtesy rarely comes but either for gain or falsehood.—Sir P. Sidney.

"POOR DIGESTION LANGUID AND TIRED."

An Interesting Letter Concerning Peruna.

Miss Della Janveau, Globe Hotel, Ottawa, Ont., is from one of the oldest and best known French Canadian families in Canada. In a recent letter to the Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio, she says:

"Last spring my blood seemed clogged up, my digestion poor, my head ached and I felt languid and tired all the time. My physician prescribed for me, but a friend advised me to try Peruna. I tried it and am pleased to state that I found it a wonderful cleanser and purifier of the system. In three weeks I was like a new woman, my appetite had increased, I felt buoyant, light and happy and without an ache or pain. Peruna is a reliable family medicine."

Adia Brittain, of Sekitan, O., writes: "After using your wonderful Peruna three months I have had great relief. I had continual heaviness in my stomach, was bilious, and had fainting spells, but they all have left me since using Peruna."—Adia Brittain.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

THE MEN AND WOMEN

Who Enjoy the Choicest Products of the World's Commerce.

Knowledge of What is Best More Important Than Wealth Without It.

It must be apparent to every one that qualities of the highest order are necessary to enable the best of the products of modern commerce to attain permanently to universal acceptance. However loudly heralded, they may not hope for world-wide preeminence unless they meet with the general approval, not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting, enjoying and learning the real worth of the choicest products. Their commendation, consequently, becomes important to others, since to meet the requirements of the well informed of all countries the method of manufacture must be of the most perfect order and the combination the most excellent of its kind. The above is true not of food products only, but is especially applicable to medicinal agents and after nearly a quarter of a century of growth and general use the excellent remedy, Syrup of Figs, is everywhere accepted, throughout the world, as the best of family laxatives. Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the combination of the laxative and carminative principles of plants known to act most beneficially on the system and presented in the form of a pleasant and refreshing liquid, but also to the method of manufacture of the California Fig Syrup Co., which ensures that uniformity and purity essential in a remedy intended for family use. Ask any physician who is well informed and he will answer at once that it is an excellent laxative. If at all eminent in his profession and has made a special study of laxatives and their effects upon the system he will tell you that it is the best of family laxatives, because it is simple and wholesome and cleanses and sweetens the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after-effects. Every well-informed druggist of reputable standing knows that Syrup of Figs is an excellent laxative and is glad to sell it at the regular price of fifty cents per bottle, because it gives general satisfaction, but one should remember that in order to get the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs it is necessary to buy the genuine, which is sold in original packages only; the name of the remedy—Syrup of Figs and also the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package.

FRIDAY, APRIL 24, 1903.

What about the proposition of the Bowman Dairy Co?

The indications point to a season of pleasant weather. We need it.

The Wauconda Minstrels are booked to appear here the evening of May 7.

Go to the M. E. church Sunday evening and hear Rev. Tuttle talk on Odd Fellowship.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fackelman are rejoicing over the advent at their home of a daughter.

Born—to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Frick of Otter Lake, Mich., a son. The little one arrived Monday, April 20.

The Royal Neighbors are preparing for an entertainment and ice cream social to be given the evening of May 11.

At the meeting Wednesday afternoon two more candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the W. R. C.

Wanted—A man to work on farm. Must be a good milker. Apply P. O. box 230. JOHN HEANEY, C.

Men do not always vote as they talk. The election held in this village Tuesday proves the statement beyond any doubt.

H. A. Harnden has just received a full carload of fine finished monuments, which are now on exhibition at his shop.

Miss Alta Powers will give a piano recital at her home Friday evening, May 1, at 8:15 o'clock, assisted by W. N. Sears.

The village board of trustees met in adjourned session last evening and canvassed the vote cast at the late village election.

Snow storm, last of the season, Tuesday morning, April 21. Couldn't very well have an election day without a rain or snow storm.

Barrington Lodge I. O. O. F. will attend the M. E. church Sunday evening in a body and listen to an address by Rev. W. H. Tuttle.

It is to be hoped that the village board can devise ways and means to improve South Hawley, Lake, Liberty and Elm streets this season.

Last week we stated that Richard Earith had purchased the Plagge cottage on Walnut street. His daughter Mrs. Fletcher, was the purchaser.

Remember that the "Glazier Jubilee Singers" will be at the M. E. church next Tuesday evening, April 28. Buy your reserved seats early and avoid the rush.

Attention is called to the advertisement of the new general store to be opened here next Tuesday morning. Mr. Eroeker, the proprietor, proposes to attract a share of the trade.

The Review is under obligations to A. Y. H. Kimberly, of the West Newton, Mass., for copies of the Newton Circuit and Newton Graphic, the papers published at his New England home.

Barrington High School will give an entertainment at Odd Fellows' hall Tuesday evening, May 5th. Keep the date in mind and be sure to attend as a very interesting program has been prepared.

The W. R. C. will give an entertainment on the evening of May 30. The nature of the entertainment has not been fully decided upon, but we know it will be first-class. Particulars later.

The village of Libertyville don't want a system of sewerage or improved water system. A proposition to bond the village for $8,000 to put in such improvements was defeated by a vote of 137 to 79.

As soon as the village board reorganizes and is ready for resolutions it will be requested to use its power to rid the village of the pig pens and the pigs. The matter deserves attention from a sanitary point of view.

The regular business meeting of the Epworth League will be held next Wednesday evening at the parsonage. Reports from the delegates to the late district convention and election of officers. All members requested to attend.

Bumstead, the directory man, is working Lake county again in the interests of an "up-to-date" directory. Mr. Bumstead has not invaded this territory as yet, and should he do so will strike a tough proposition. A year or so ago Mr. Bumstead issued, in connection with the Lake county directory, what he termed a directory of the village of Barrington. The work was as full of holes as a sieve is of holes. More than two-thirds of the names were misspelled and many omitted. We appreciate a directory, but not the kind that is useless as a reference book.

At the M. E. church next Sunday morning the pastor will preach from the theme, "A Time for Everything." In the evening the sermon will be an address to the I. O. O. F., who are to be present in a body. The public is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Meier mourn the death of their infant child. The little one was found dead in its cradle Monday morning. An inquest was held, and the cause of death found to be strangulation. The funeral was held from St. Paul's church Wednesday.

Messrs. J. I. Sears and W. N. Sears are organizing a brass and reed band which promises to make music for our people in the near future. The organization will start with a membership of 15. Messrs. Sears are thorough instructors and will, no doubt, bring out a band that will prove a credit to the village and the leader of such musical organizations hereabouts.

Odd Fellow lodges of Chicago and Cook county will celebrate the 84th anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America at the First Regiment armory, Chicago, tomorrow evening. The program will include drills by the uniform rank, cantons and addresses by officers of the supreme lodge.

It is now said that while there will be no picnic trains run out from Chicago on the Sabbath day by the C. & N. W. Ry., that the road will sell tickets for picnics, good coming out Saturdays and returning Monday mornings. This is mere rumor, and may be taken with a large grain of salt.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Leslie Bennett, of Florida, is visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Starck of Chicago are visiting here today.

W. F. Clow of Lisbon, S. D., was in the village this afternoon.

Prof. Newton, of Palatine, visited with friends here Wednesday.

Mrs. U. W. Iversen, of Milwaukee, is visiting her mother and sister this week.

Misses Sadie Krahn, Emma Jahnke and Georgia Topping were Chicago visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. R. Earith is slowly improving and is now convalescent from her recent severe illness.

Mrs. Minnie Wolfe and children of Chicago are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wolfe.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lipofsky have begun housekeeping in the Ed Horn residence on Cemetery avenue.

George W. Foreman, who has been a sufferer of rheumatism for some weeks past, is able to be about again.

Mrs. Barber of Beaver, Iowa, who has been visiting her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cornwell, returned home yesterday.

Mrs. M. K. Church and daughter, who have made their home with A. D. Church during the past winter, now occupy the Collen residence, corner Russell street and Grove avenue.

Ralph Colby, for four years serving as musician attached to the 30th Regt. U. S. Infantry, has secured his discharge and will return to his civilian duties. Mr. Colby is visiting with his mother-in-law, Mrs. M. E. Jukes.

Fred T. Hoffman, for four years connected with The Review, now one of the owners of the Spring Valley (Ill.) Gazette, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morrison, Thursday. Fred is looking well and prospering in business, which will be pleasant news to his host of friends here.

Manard Hamilton, of the Hamilton Milk and Cream Co., Chicago, was here Monday in the interest of that company. The proposed advent of the Bowman Dairy company into this district has caused Chicago dealers to become alarmed for the supply from this section. Mr. Hamilton says that while the Bowman company may attract a number of shippers from their Chicago customers, many of them will without doubt continue to supply those dealers in the city who have treated them in a business-like manner.

Charles Beinhoff, who has served the firm of Nelson Morris & Co., packers of Chicago, for a number of years in the main office, and lately as credit man at the South Chicago branch, has received a deserved promotion, being given charge of the company's extensive interests at Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Beinhoff left for his new post Monday morning. His wife and little daughter will remain here with Mr. Beinhoff's parents until a residence in Cleveland is secured. The many friends of Charles in this place are pleased to know of his promotion.

REFORM IN DAIRIES.

More Consideration Demanded in Handling Cows and Milk.

There is a growing tendency to make reforms in the dairies, and there is no department on the farm which demands more consideration than the present methods of handling both cows and their milk. It is claimed that there is more filth and less care in dairying than in almost any other occupation. The milk is to be "sold" and "the dealer is not particular," while the consumer is in blissful ignorance of any of the conditions affecting the preparation of milk. Milk passes through so many hands from the cow to the consumer as to render the matter of obtaining pure and clean milk a difficult one. The dairyman consoles himself with the fact that he strained the milk before selling it, but the strainer does not remove soluble filth. A pinch of salt or sugar in milk is not arrested by the strainer, nor is any other substance that is dissolved by the milk during the act of milking. Those who handle cows know that it is not unusual for a cow to get down on the floor of her stall to rest, without regard to whether the floor is covered with manure or urine, and her udder and teats may have rested during the night on a heap of fresh manure. The cow is not as clean as the hog so far as selecting a suitable place for resting is concerned, and where the dairyman himself is careless and doesn't keep the stalls clean, as well as brush, and even wash the cows, it is almost impossible to have clean milk. It is gratifying to notice, however, that some dairymen wash the udders and teats of the cows at every milking, wiping with clean towels, avoiding every chance of filth entering the milk, but such dairymen get good prices, which are secured by their reputations for skillful management of their cows and their products.

Why So Little Interest?

It is not a compliment to the citizens of this village that they show so little interest in school affairs. If there is one thing more than another that should have the undivided attention of the people it is the welfare of our school system. Of course it is complimentary to the gentlemen composing the board of education that no opposition was made to their re-election, but how was the voters to know that such was to be the case? No public notice was given through the press, as required by law, that an election was to be held, and while the people are supposed to know that such an election is held on the third Saturday of April in each year, they are apt to forget. However an election was held Saturday and only 16 votes were cast. It is to be presumed from this that only 16 of our people have any interest in the selection of a board of education, the remaining 200 or 250 have no expression to offer. The following are the officers elected: President—J. C. Plagge. Trustees—J. E. Heise, A. W. Meyer, A. H. Boehmer. There is no change in the board with the exception of A. H. Boehmer, who was chosen to fill the vacancy caused by removal from the village of Frank Robertson.

When cleaning up your premises this spring give attention to sidewalks about your property. There are walks in this village which are a disgrace to a civilized community. The village authorities have been very lenient with property-owners in the past regarding this important matter, and it is probable the ordinance relative to repair of walks will be allowed to remain inoperative in the future as in the past, but that is no reason why sidewalks should not be put in condition.

Dr. Baker, of the Illinois State Board of Health, was in the village today, called here to examine into the extent of the infectious diseases reported here. Dr. Baker reports that there has been five cases of modified small-pox in our village. Four of those have recovered, and one is still being investigated. The doctor says that there is no immediate danger of an epidemic; that the physicians of our village understand the care and treatment of the disease and able to take care of it. Dr. Baker met the local board of health and gave them much valuable information, regarding the care of infectious diseases and its duty in the premises.

Remember that the "Glazier Jubilee Singers" will be at the M. E. church next Tuesday evening, April 28. Buy your reserved seats early and avoid the rush.

Married.

At St. Ann's Catholic church, this village, Wednesday afternoon, April 22, occurred the marriage of Miss Marie Agnes Wollaver of Dundee, to William Farrell of Gilberts, Rev. Father Quinn, of Woodstock, officiating. Edward Farrell, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and Miss Edna Wollaver, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid.

The wedding was attended by quite a number of friends of the contracting parties from Dundee, Elgin and this village. After the ceremony the party drove to the residence of the bride's parents at Dundee, where a wedding dinner was served.

The bride is well and favorably known to our people, and Mr. Farrell is one of the well-to-do young men of Kane county.

Independent in All Things.

This newspaper does not object to just criticism—it expects it. It does, however, object to being lampooned for carrying out a policy which it believes is the mission of a newspaper published in a town whose population is made up of several classes and nationalities of people.

It should be remembered that a village editor does not find it profitable to pose as a reformer. He reserves the same right as the merchant "who cannot afford to declare himself on certain matters because it may affect patronage."

The village paper should stand for right principles, but it is not necessary that it undertake to correct all the evils and abuses in the community. Men will come and pat the editor on the back and urge him to "go after 'em," but they will offer no sympathy or assistance if the other fellows go after the editor.

This paper is not a political organ, or is it the mouthpiece of any set of men. It shapes its course to receive the support and respect of all classes, and believes it sacrifices no principle in so doing.

In the late election the Review stood neutral—made no attempt to influence the voters. Its columns were open to all for a discussion of the issue before the voters. Its assistance was not solicited by the license or no license people. The majority has decided the issue and this paper believes in majority rule. Further it believes that Barrington can better afford to have licensed saloons than unlicensed blind pigs.

Henry A. Schaefer, Sr., an old settler residing about one mile north of the village, died Thursday night at 9 o'clock after a lingering disease at the age of 63 years. The funeral will take place next Sunday afternoon at the Salem church. The services at the house will be held at 1 o'clock.

THE REVIEW CHIP BASKET.

Hewed by Hackney.

Senator Hopkins remembers his political creator with a devout fervor which shows that ingratitude, at least, is not one of his vices. Mr. Lorimer needs the senator's sympathy and care since the Supreme Court decided that those ballots must be recounted.

Mr. Bullock, late republican candidate for mayor of Waukegan, is of the opinion that some of the Waukegan republicans voted for Mr. Pearce for mayor. As that city claims to be republican and Mr. Pearce is a democrat, Mr. Bullock has good grounds for his belief.

Silas Robertson, candidate for member of the village board of trustees of this village at the late election, led the ticket. He will find that being high man in a political game is different from being high in a game of skin hearts. Now Silas will have to banquet the other fellows.

The Chicago board of education has decreed that teachers must not take the young idea by the nape of the neck and agitate him violently for the purposes of correction and improvement. Yet there can be no doubt that a good shaking up—physical or intellectual—is one of the greatest aids to progress.

Secretary of the Treasury Shaw has had a conference with Mr. Williams, sub-treasurer at Chicago, and it is understood that Mr. Williams will continue to hold on to his position. The place was promised to Luman T. Hoy of Woodstock in return for services rendered Senator Hopkins. Is Luman to be disappointed again?

Frank Just, editor of the Libertyville Independent, was elected president of the board of trustees of Libertyville village, defeating his opponent, E. H. Smith, by 6 votes. Now Bro. Just is in it. He can't, consistently, criticize the acts of the board.

Sometime ago an "eminent" M. D. contributed an article to a medical journal in which he asserted that lettuce was an absolute preventative of smallpox. A whole lot of people who believe everything the medical profession may say swallowed the story. We are of the same opinion as an editor in Ohio. "If smallpox should show up in these diggins we would want and demand more radical treatment than the lettuce preventative." Some doctors call other doctors quacks. It sounds unprofessional to do so, but there is a vast army of medical practitioners who have earned that title.

Long Ways From the Truth.

The Waukegan Gazette has again proved its inability to estimate public opinion. Instead of sending its reporters out to verify reports on the "ravages of smallpox in Barrington," the city editor grasped his Hearst's American, scanned its columns and perloined what that yaller sheet said about 'the scourge.' Of course it was a long ways from the truth.

Tuesday the city editor and manager prepared, early in the afternoon, a report on the result of the city election then in progress. Just how they found out what the ballot boxes in the several precincts about the city contained, is a mystery to everybody but the sleuths on the force of "us for enterprise." However they satisfied themselves that "The Entire Republican Ticket Elected by Handsome Majorities—Bullock Defeats Pearce—The Sun Eclipsed." But when the Gazette reporters got out of the basement and began to look around they discovered The Sun shining brightly and the democratic ticket elected excepting clerk and city attorney.

Is it journalistic enterprise to imagine something and publish it as a fact?
