

DEEP EFFECTS OF ANXIETY.

Whole Mental and Physical Being Disturbed by the Feeling.

In a paper read before the congress of French alienists at Grenoble Dr. Gaston Lalanne pointed out that anxiety is a disturbance which is expressed by the entire being.

The physical symptoms of "anxiety" include various degrees of vague dread and apprehensiveness, often taking definite forms, which case they are designated as "phobias" or "obsessions of fear."

Reminiscences. "Ah!" exclaimed the new benedict. "I never began to realize how much happiness there was in the world until I got married."

No Wonder. "Your wife's arguments seem to carry considerable weight. Encepe—you bet they do. She tips the scales at 250 pounds."

Don't you know that Defiance Starch bottles being absolutely superior to any other, is put up in 16 ounces in package and sells at market rate.

An artist, summoned for debt at an English court, said he got his living by painting pictures and then pausing them.

Storekeepers report that the extra quantity, together with the superior quality of Defiance starch, makes it next to impossible to sell any other brand.

CLARK SPEAKS TO DEMOCRATS

Missouri Statesman, as Permanent Chairman of the National Convention, Scores the Republican Party.

Cham Clark of Missouri was made permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention July 7. Temporary President, William presented Mr. Clark as permanent chairman, and as Mr. Clark bowed in acknowledgment he was heartily welcomed.

"This is the man that hath his quarrel in his hand, King David said that all men are liars. Had he been in Chicago while Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was reading the Republican platform he would, no doubt, have pronounced the same opinion more leisurely, for surely there never was more mendacity packed into the same space in any document purporting to be a party platform."

"To state it in a general way, our contention is that the government shall be restored to the Democratic-Republican basis on which the fathers of the constitution intended it to rest and shall be made once more a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, instead of a government of the classes, by the classes, and for the classes."

"The proposition that we must support President Roosevelt's Philippine policy—if he has the American people in the veriest rot—a tie voted by an idiot. I am willing to go as far as any one in patriotism; I will support my country in any emergency; but President Roosevelt is not the country."

"The time has not yet arrived—I pray Almighty God that it will never arrive—when the American people will accept the arrogant dictum of Lincoln XIV. If repeated by an American President, I am the slave."

"President Roosevelt is at all worthy of his high position he must entertain a supreme contempt for those political supplicants, particularly for those claiming to be Democrats, who go about with a servile and sycophantic moan, saying: 'The President is wrong in his Philippine policy, but we must support the President.'"

"Support the President's policy, eh? Will those gentlemen please tell us what that policy is? Has he any? If so, who does he say so?"

"The truth is he has none. He is an opportunist waiting for something to turn up. He is letting things drift and they are drifting to the deuce. Meantime our soldiers are being killed and are dying of disease in shoals. For what purpose?"

"Defiance to the Jingoism. 'With my sword I undertake to say I defy any Jingo to stand up and declare with a straight face what the President's policy or the Republican policy is. No one will say so or can say; but some say—more the pity and shame—the President is wrong, but we must support the President.'"

"No man ever found himself in worse political company than does President Roosevelt in this year of grace. He is in the hands of the Republican philistines and they will bind him with their wishes. In every state in the union it is a felony to get property of any sort or to attempt to get it—false pretenses."

"If the same rule applied to the getting of offices or to attempts to get them the whole Republican party could be sent to the penitentiary. Republican False Pretenses. Mr. Clark then entered upon a discussion of what he termed the false pretenses of the Republican platform. He denied the Republican pretense that the Democrats favor free trade. He asserted that the Democrats favored reduction of the existing tariff rates, but not free trade. He continued: 'The true Democratic position on the tariff is this: Recognize the fact that a large portion of our revenue has always been raised from customs duties or taxes, Democrats divide all imports into three classes—necessaries, comforts, and luxuries—and contend that the tariff taxes should be highest on luxuries, lower on comforts, and lowest or none at all on the necessities. The further they say that taxes should be uniform on all articles belonging to one class. 'That is the Democratic party's position, from which they will not be driven or coerced or bullied. No amount of misrepresentation will cause them to budge from that position.'"

"The chairman then devoted his attention to former Attorney-General Philander C. Knox. He declared that Mr. Knox had been made attorney-general through the influence of the trusts and was afterward transferred to the United States senate as a reward for his protection of the trusts. On this subject he said, in part: 'People will open their eyes in astonishment and begin to inquire as to the why and wherefore of his appointment when they learn that the transfer of Mr. Knox from the Attorney Generalship to the Senate was procured by the earnest and successful efforts of Mr. Frick, Mr. Cassatt, and Mr. Donaldson, who are members of the United States Senate. Mr. Frick, Mr. Cassatt, and Mr. Donaldson, who are members of the United States Senate, to permit Mr. Knox to be Senator—for Gov. Pennypacker, who nominally made the appointment, does not appear to have been considered at all in the premises. 'The management of the people will know the truth of the matter when they learn that Mr. Frick is the heaviest stockholder in the steel trust; that Mr. Cassatt is president of the Pennsylvania railroad company, which is one of the defendants in the coal trust suit now pending, and that Mr. Cameron represented the Standard Oil trust and Wall street interests in persuading the President to let Mr. Knox go to the Senate. 'Polks who still dare to think will be forced to one of two conclusions: either Mr. Knox is the only lawyer in America capable of conducting a suit against a trust—which is absolutely preposterous—or that the Knox anti-trust crusade has been a bogus game from the beginning.' Chairman Clark then paid his respects to President Roosevelt and Wall street, saying: 'It has been told in Gath and proclaimed on the streets of Askelon by the Roosevelt shouters, for, lo! these many months that the trust magnates have been especially those whose habitat lay in Wall street, are bitterly opposed to the President. 'A change appears to have come over the spirit of their dream. If Francis B. Loomis, assistant secretary of state, can be believed, that illustrious public functionary recently swung around the circle in New York and elsewhere to 'survey the situation.' Upon his return to Washington he delivered himself of an interview, in which inter alia he says: 'While in New York I spent two days in Wall street, chatting with many representatives of the financial interests, and I find that there is no longer any disposition to make a fight. And, in accepting the situation, the feeling toward Mr. Roosevelt seems to have undergone a change, and I heard many friendly comments. I confess I was surprised at the extent of this change.' 'Plain People Bewildered. Concluding his address, Chairman Clark said: 'Has the President changed his views, or have the trust magnates changed theirs? 'Plain people cannot be blamed for being bewildered by all this kaleidoscopic performance. 'They cannot be censured because by an old saying they figure out that two and two make four, and that the transfer of Mr. Knox from Cabinet to Senate at the behest of Messrs. Frick, Cassatt, and Comerson, taken in conjunction with the change of feeling in Wall street in favor of the President, has a sinister meaning. 'The trust magnates who secured the removal of Mr. Knox, since they have established the entente cordiale with that famous trust buster, ought to compel the young republicans to take the same course, who some time ago insulted and assaulted Mr. Knox in a public restaurant to go down on their knees and make him the grand honorable. Then all will be lovely—and wia the trusts and the trust-buster.'"

Secrets of Old Roman Bath.

Women used to lose their hairpins a thousand years ago much in the same way as they do today. That, at least, is the impression one gets from the antiquities found during last year at the Bitchester excavations.

The most interesting discovery was the building which formed apparently the principal baths of the Roman town. The exploration of the baths yielded a number of architectural fragments, including a small altar, portions of capitals and bases, part of a large bath of porphyry marble, and some singular pieces of metal.

In a filled-up hypocaust were found at least 100 bone pins, which had evidently been used to adjust the back hair of Roman women, who used the baths. Probably they had been dropped in the way woman throughout the ages has shed pins, and were collected by the keeper of the baths. Some of them are quite three inches long and would make passable hatpins for the present fashion.
