The little son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Walthausen, who reside west of the village, died Monday, August 22, of inflammation of the bowels. The amount charged to property benefited is $908.25. The warrant is known as special assessment No. 3 and interest is chargeable at the rate of 6 per cent. from August 19, 1904.

The members of the Ladies' band are mutually handsome and need no artificial adornments to impress one with the fact, but in their new, natty uniforms of cadet grey, black trimmings and military caps of same color, the ladies are stunning. The ladies are noted for their beauty and ability to render first-class music on brass and reed instruments.

Persons who hang about the C. & N. W. Railway station should be careful and keep well back from the main tracks when through trains are passing. The suction produced by one of the fast trains passing a station is very dangerous. At Woodstock the other day a person named Conroy was standing on the platform when a special composed of Pullmans passed. He was drawn onto the track and badly injured.

The Wauegan Sun, speaking of the political outlook in Lake county, says: "The candidates for the offices to be filled are, Circuit Clerk, L. O. Brockway, James M. Woodman, Coroner, J. L. Taylor, States Attorneys, L. P. Hanna, E. J. Heydecker, P. L. Persons, Arthur Bulkley, County Surveyor, James Anderson, Jr. The race contest is in the fight for the office of states attorney. All of the candidates are well known and each has an unusual element of strength. All four candidates reside in this city and a lively good-natured scrap for Wauegan's delegates is on in earnest."

The Death Penalty. A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignif-icant cuts or pony boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best Salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten only 25c. at G. C. Roberts & Co. Drug stores.

TOURIST'S VIEW OF RUSSIA.

American Not Particularly Welcome There These Days. Some interesting observations on Russia are furnished by W. R. McAlister, of Franco, who recently returned from a two month tour in that country and was in Washington, by a reporter of the New York Press.

"It was difficult to realize from the behavior of the Russian people that any war is being carried on," he said, "and then I conversed about it with some intelligent citizens, and invariably they used these words: 'We haven't begun to fight yet.' This is indeed the truth. Russia has not started in any of the initial successes of the Japanese make no sort of impression on the sturdy and fearless subjects of the czar, who have no sense of danger and are defiant of death. How such a giant as Russia can be subdued is more than anybody who goes through the empire and sees its millions of population and its unlimited resources can understand.

"Americans are in no great favor over there, and, though I was treated with the respect which a German was greatly preferred to an Englishman or a Yankee. I had an experience right on the threshold of the country which was a warning to me. I was in America. I carried not only my passport, but the strongest credentials that could be presented by a stranger visiting the country. For such a man as I had no individual passports, having been told that these would not be necessary, and yet when I got to the little Russian town on the frontier because of this lack my journey was arrested, and I had to go back to a German city a hundred miles away and secure through the American consul the necessary papers, which required negotiation through Berlin and held me up for three days, besides putting me to a lot of expense."

The desire of knowledge, like the thirst of fishes, increases ever with the acquisition of it.—Stierne.
