You have heard people say that they had "worked like a dog all day." An exchange has figured that if this were literally true, the twenty-four hours would be spent thus: (One hour digging out a rat, two hours gnawing a bone, one waiting for a cat to come down a tree, half an hour begging to get into the house and the balance of the time sleeping on a mat in the cold doorway.)

Attorney General Stead has rendered an opinion that the nominations for all offices of the prohibition party which have been made are legal under the new primary law, if they have been properly certified to by the secretary of the state and other officials necessary and that all nominations made by any party and certificates filed prior to July 1, 1906, when the primary law takes effect, will be legal.

People frequently inquire of the editor where we received our information concerning such and such a person, also who wrote this article or that. To impart information along this is against the rules of a newspaper office and our friends and patrons will please bear this in mind and not annoy us with inquiries. We always stand ready to correct a wrong or mis-statement.

Everyone welcome—Experience social at Baptist church, Wednesday evening, June 20. Ice-cream and cake, 10 cents.

At the annual convention of the State Letter-Carriers' association, held at Elgin last week, Mayor Botsford of that city, in his address of welcome, emphasized the fact that he was once in the employ of Uncle Sam, in the post office department. He ran between Crystal Lake and Chicago as a postal clerk, in the spring of 1888. It was a desiring job, gained by a political pull, and everything was lovely until an inequitable fellow from Chicago called the mayor in and asked him to name all the stations on his route. Soon after there was a new man on the job.
