The Japanese Way.

It is said that the Japanese are an ingenious race, but it appears to the occidental mind that there are limits to this boasted ingenuity. An entomologist in a New York college tells the Reader Magazine of a case where a trusted Japanese assistant filled him in a moment where singular ingenuity was required. The scientist had a tray of carefully arranged and minute specimens and was carrying it from one table to another, when he stumbled on a protruding chair leg and partly fell, scattering the specimens over the floor. Many hours of work were in a second quite undone. Some screech and hard worked expulsive must have leaped to his lips and then proved inadequate to the occasion, for, after a pregnant moment of silence, he turned to the Japanese and said:

"Tell me, quick, what would you say in Japanese if such a thing happened to you? Give me the translation instantly."

"Ah," said the Japanese scientist, with calm gravity, "we would address the chair and say, 'You are very impolite.'"

Hands Work With Gloves.

"I hope," said the woman who was ordering a pair of slippers made of flowered satin, "that you will tell your workman to wash his hands before he begins to make these up."

"Wash his hands?" repeated the clerk. "Why, madam, he never will touch these with his bare hands."

Then the clerk explained that all workmen employed in making slippers and light colored work with white gloves on. "Try to keep them clean!" he continued. "I should say they did. They try so hard that they change their white gloves three or four times a day. Which is not so fantastic as it may seem, for if a shoemaker soils material of this kind the expense to him of replacing the material, to say nothing of the loss of his time, makes it worth his while to wear in gloves and keep them clean at that.—New York Press.

Deadly Serpent Bites.

are as common in India as are stomach and liver disorders with us. For the latter however there is a sure remedy: Electric Hitters, the great restorative medicine, of which S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "They restored my health, after years of suffering with dyspepsia and a chronically torpid liver." Electric Hitters cure chills and fever, malaria, biliousness, lame back, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. Write for a pamphlet by Barrington Pharmacy, Free 5c.

Following the Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morrill, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in large health. And now in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, cold, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at Barrington Pharmacy. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The Mystery of the Heavens.

Look through a telescope at some tiny star invisible to the naked eye. The light from that star perhaps left its surface before the time of William the Conqueror. It may be—it is not quite impossible—that the tiny star has since those days actually left off shining, but still we see it in our sky because the rays which started while it yet shone are arriving unobscured by moment, telling us the story of what the star was like hundreds of years ago, before it parted with its brightness. Perhaps, again, we are examining through a large telescope a faint and faroff nebula—a mass of whirling gases the light of which has taken, say, 10,000 years to get there. We see what the nebula was like in prehistoric times. It may since then have lessened in size and changed in shape. It may now wear a very different aspect, and men looking from earth 10,000 years hence will be able to see what that nebula was like in our days. All these things help us to understand what the luminosity of the stellar system is, and, yet more, to imagine dimly what the measurement and extent of all creation will be if any such star systems float side by side throughout the vast domains of space.—Chambers Journal.

Death From Lock Jaw

never follows an injury dressed with Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Its antiseptic and healing properties prevent blood poisoning, Chancres, swellings, ulcers, Rhesus, scalds, etc. It writes: "I cured Seth Burch, of this place, of the ugliest sore on his neck I ever saw." Cures Cuts, Wounds, Burns and Sores. See at Barrington Pharmacy.

Whether Mr. Jerome convicts any one or not is certainly an eminent success at maintaining a location with in speaking distance of the center of the stage.

That combined automobile and flying machine recently perfected in France will probably get over the course by "a hop, skip and a jump."

Susan B. Anthony will always be remembered for her saying that "any woman will marry if the man she loves asks her."

An Alarming Situation frequently results from neglecting clogged bowels and torpid liver, until constipation becomes chronic. This condition is unknown to those who use Dr. King's New Life Pills; the best and gentlest regulators of Stomach and bowels. Guaranteed by Barrington Pharmacy. Price 5c.

They have erected a stately shaft to keep alive the memory of Stephen Collins Foster. But this gifted singer has already proved that he who writes the ballads of a people is more certain of remembrance than he who writes their laws.

Sudden fame is dangerous in its liability to bring about chestiness. For instance, that Upton Sinclair, author of "The Jungle" is already beginning to thank that the famous initials "U. S." refer solely to himself.

Dropping twenty dollar gold pieces down a wife's back might go, but one woman drew the line when hubby made it silver dollars, and now the divorce courts have a novel plea to entertain.

Now that a woman of seventy-eight has walked two miles in twenty-six minutes Dr. Osler is thanking his stars he never talked chloroform for women over sixty.

STATES HIS POSITION

Wm. J. Bryan Tells an Interviewer How He Stands on the Issues of 1904.

HE IS MORE RADICAL THAN EVER

As Much of a Silver Man as Four Years Ago, but Says Other Issues Are Now Dominant.

London, July 13.—William J. Bryan, having had the opportunity of reading newspapers from the United States, consented to discuss some of the questions which have been raised since he has again become prominent as a presidential possibility. He said: "I notice that I am now described by some as conservative, and in order that there may be no misunderstanding on that subject permit me to say that in one sense I always have been a conservative. The Democratic policies are conservative in that they embody old principles applied to new conditions. There was nothing new in principle in either of the platforms on which I stood."

More Radical Than He Was.

"If, however, by the word conservative they mean that I have changed my position on any public question or moderated my opposition to corporate aggrandizement they have a surprise waiting for them. I am more radical than I was in 1896, and have nothing to withdraw from the economic policies which have been under discussion. The only question we discussed in 1896 upon which there has been any apparent change is the silver question, and that has been a change in the advocates of bimetalism, but in conditions. We contended for more money, and urged the free coinage of silver as the only means then in sight of securing it."

Stands by the Quantitative Idea.

"The increased production of gold has brought in part the benefit we expected to secure from the restoration of silver. The per capita volume of money in the United States is almost 50 per cent greater now than it was in 1896, and the benefits wrought by this increase have not only vindicated the quantitative theory of money, but have proven the benefits of the larger amount of money. No advocate of the gold standard can claim the triumph of his logic."

Issue Is Not Dominant.

"I believe in bimetalism, and I believe that the restoration of silver would bring still further prosperity, besides restoring par in exchange between gold and silver-using countries; but I recognize, as do all other bimetallists whom I have met abroad, that the unexpected and unexpected increase in gold production has for the present removed the silver question as an issue."

Other Questions to Discuss Now.

"While the money question was raised in importance other questions have been forcing to the front, and to these questions we must apply the same principles we applied to the money question. Bryan said that he would discuss the tariff, railroad and labor questions, imperialism and other issues at length when he reached the United States, and it is presumable that these are the "other" questions he referred to, as he did not enumerate them explicitly."

HENRY C. ADAMS BURIED

His Funeral Attended by a Large Delegation of His Colleagues in the National House.

Madison, Wis., July 13.—The public funeral of Henry C. Adams took place from the Congregational church, following private services at the residence. In the large gathering were Governor Davidson and Ex-Governors Hoard, Scofield, Peck and LaFollette; Representatives Cooper, Jenkins, Welsch, Brown, Esch, Stafford, Olsen, Babcock, Miner and Davidson; the members of the Wisconsin supreme court, many members of the legislature and prominent citizens from all sections of the state.

Besides the Wisconsin delegation the following representatives were present as a committee from the house of representatives: Bede and Tawney, Minnesota; Brick, Indiana; Madden, Chicago; Boutell, Gruff and Wilson, Illinois; Davison, Iowa; Goebel, Ohio; Marshall, North Dakota; Barchfield, Pennsylvania; Overstreet, Indiana; Woolyard, West Virginia, and Hamilton, Michigan.

Theater Is a Private Snafu.

New York, July 13.—The manager and proprietor of the theater has a right to say who shall enter his place of amusement and who shall not, his playhouse being a private and not a public place, is the gist of a decision handed down in the appellate division of the supreme court.

Evans Nominated for Governor.

Nashville, Tenn., July 13.—Henry Clay Evans, of Hamilton county, ex-commissioner of pensions and recently United States consul general in London, has been nominated for governor by the Republican state convention. Representative Brownlow acquiesced. The platform is standard Republican.

Hargis on the Witness Stand.

Beattyville, Ky., July 13.—Ex-Judge James Hargis, charged with the murder of Lawyer James B. Marcum, was the principal witness in the case of the state versus Hargis and Callahan. Hargis put in a general and explicit denial of the charges against him.

Boers Want Woman Suffrage.

About all the Boers of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State fought for in the last war with England is again at stake. A new electoral law is to be framed, and on its provisions will hang the fate of the Boers. Fear of being outvoted by the opposing element who have no permanent interest in South African development, led to the war of 1896. They lost, and now it will be a matter of fair play if the Liberal parliament of England hearken to the Boer appeal.

It has long been settled that the Boer shall have a legislative assembly, and the question now turns on the basis of representation. The British element ask for a distribution of seats according to the number of voters, while the Boers ask that it shall be based upon population, as it is in the United States. The Boers marry young and raise large families. Moreover, they have a stake in the country where they were born and expect to remain. But the whites, exclusive of Boers, mean to quit South Africa after they have made their pile. They do not marry and cannot live up with the Boer element in a test of population. One compromise the Boers are ready to make for the sake of harmony. If the women are given the ballot and counted among the voters they are willing that the seats in the assembly shall be distributed according to the number of voters in the electoral districts. Great Britain has sanctioned woman suffrage in New Zealand and in several Australian colonies, and the Boers argue that in the new assembly a square deal for them is impossible short of woman suffrage if the representation shall be based upon the number of qualified voters.

Joe Jefferson's Sons.

It is pleasing news to theater goers that the sons of Joe Jefferson are to appear in a new comedy written by two American authors unknown to fame. The Jefferson boys inherited a name which will give them patient bearing anywhere and drop into a place on the stage which means half the battle won. A revival now and then of the plays which the elder Jefferson made famous would be a welcome variation, but it will be better for the sons and vastly better for American dramatic art that they should strike out in new lines and show that the name of Jefferson can hold its own in this progressive age.

Complaint is often made that the second generation of the strong families of this country are not so earnest as their fathers, that they are content to reap where their fathers sowed instead of putting in seed and tilling for themselves. This will prove a calamity in the world of business, but it is especially deplorable where the heritage is personal talent. Those who are at home on the stage from the very start and schooled in its traditions are the very ones to work for progress in the theater and in dramatic literature.

A Chance For Esperanto.

If we have to learn to spell again and go through the tedium of making our English over to suit the times the Esperantists may argue with reason that we might as well adopt their new "universal" language and be done with it. A few months hence the devotees of Esperanto will hold a congress at Geneva, and, judging by the way the new idea is taking hold here at present, America will probably have a goodly delegation and perhaps take rank as the "infant prodigy" among Esperanto experts.

The grammar of Esperanto has but sixteen rules, and it is claimed that a beginner can master a working knowledge of the tongue in a few weeks. When the trained Esperantist would write the sentiment, "The international language should be comprehensible to the whole educated world," he puts it this way, "La lingvo internacia estas komprenebla do la tuta mondo edukita." The newspapers are bringing the whole world to one line of thought. When the people of all lands get to thinking alike on a wide range of subjects the adoption of a world language ought to be a very simple matter.

New York educational reformers are fighting the dime novel fire with fire. "Just as good" is a way, but less perilous, by placing tons of good literature free at the disposal of the public school children. Last year the school library circulation was nearly 5,000,000 volumes, each book doing duty fifteen times on the average.

Signs accumulate that a new era in transportation is near and that waterways to afford cheap freights will be its main feature. Railroads may prove impregnable factors on land, but we can flank them on the water.

The death at the good old age of ninety-two of the mother of Ella Wheeler Wilcox inspires the hope that the pen of this gifted and wholesome writer will not be laid aside for many years to come.

It is claimed that there are 8,000,000 tons of coal stored within 100 miles of New York city to tide over in a miners' strike, but the consumer will never be able to guess it from looking at his coal bill.
