

THE CAMERA FIEND.

Man Was Not Satisfied With Ordinary Amusement Like Taking Pictures.

A well-known criminal lawyer one day wandered into a police court just as a case was called. It appeared that the defendant had no attorney, and the judge glanced at the room to see whom he might assign to the case.

"I'll take it, judge," the late comer said, wishing to pass away the time. "By the way, what is the man charged with?" the attorney presently asked.

"He's a camera fiend of the worst sort, Mr. Brown," the judge said with a slight smile. "I expect to send him to the workhouse for about three months."

"What!" the lawyer shouted indignantly. "Your honor must be joking. Send a man to the rock pile for three months for a little harmless amusement like taking pictures?"

"Well," the judge said, mildly, "I don't take pictures much—it's the camera he takes."

HIS ONE WEEK SPOT.

Prominent Minnesota Merchant Cured to Stay Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

O. C. Hayden, of O. C. Hayden & Co., dry goods merchants, of Albert Lea, Minn., says: "I was so lame that I could hardly walk. There was an unaccountable weakness of the back, and constant pain and aching. I could find no rest, and was very uncomfortable at night. As my health was good in every other way, I could not understand this trouble. It was just as if all the strength had gone from my back. After suffering for some time I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The remedy acted at once upon the kidneys, and when normal action was restored, the trouble with my back disappeared. I have not had any return of it."

AGED English Clergyman.

Rev. John Aids, one of the most prominent ministers of the Baptist denomination in England, has reached the age of 98. He began life in a shoemaker's shop. Afterward he was sent to Horton village, near Bradford, to study for the ministry. Later he became pastor of Maze Pond chapel, London, and in 1866 he was elected chairman of the Baptist Union.

DO YOU REMEMBER—

An anticipated calamity that actually came? A sycophant who turned out to be a real friend? A bad man who was really as bad as he was reputed? An actor that wasn't thoroughly delighted with his own performance? An absconding cashier who wasn't "a trusted employee?"

A man who went wrong who wasn't "a highly-respected citizen?" A woman crime who wasn't "beautiful and apparently refined?" A horse that could trot as fast as the man who sold him to you said he could?

Anybody who achieved stoniness before starting a fustillade of stones at others? A successful man who used up nine-tenths of his time telling what he was going to do next? A prize fighter that went through the throes of the championship without becoming demoralized?

DIDN'T BELIEVE

That Coffee Was the Real Trouble.

Some people flounder around and take everything that's recommended but finally find the real cause of their troubles. An Oregon man says:

"For 25 years I was troubled with my stomach. I was a steady coffee drinker, but didn't suspect that as the cause. I took almost anything which someone else had been cured with but to no good. I was very bad last summer and could not work at times."

On Dec. 2, 1902, I was taken so bad the doctor said I could not live over 24 hours at the most, and I made all preparations to die. I could hardly eat anything, everything distressed me, and I was weak and sick all over. When in that condition coffee was abandoned and I was put on Postum, the change in my feelings came quickly and everything that was poisoning me was removed.

"The pain and sickness fell away from me and I began to get well day by day, so I stuck to it until now I am well and strong again, can eat heartily, with no headache, heart trouble or the awful sickness of the old coffee days. I drink all I wish of Postum without any harm and enjoy it immensely."

"This seems like a strong story, but I would refer you to the First Nat'l Bank, the Trust Banking Company, or any merchant of Grant's Pass, Ore., in regard to my standing, and I will send a sworn statement of this if you wish. You can also use my name." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Still there are many who persistently fool themselves by saying "Coffee doesn't hurt me." A ten days' trial of Postum in its place will tell the truth and many times save life. There's a reason.

RECEIVER FOR ZION

BIG ESTATE PLACED IN HANDS OF JOHN C. HATELY.

VOLIVA TRANSFER VOID

Court Holds Dowie Was Without Power to Turn Over City to Leader of Revolt—To Elect New Overseer.

Chicago.—John Alexander Dowie, months ago repudiated by his followers as their spiritual leader, Friday was declared legally to have no personal or private claim to the Zion estate. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, present overseer and leader of the revolt against Dowie, was held also to have no legal hold on the property. Judge K. M. Landis of the United States district court, in deciding the famous controversy, placed the whole property in the hands of John C. Hately as receiver pending entry of a final decree and designation of a permanent trustee. He ordered also an election by the people of Zion the third Tuesday of September, as to who shall rule them spiritually.

Long before the hour set for the announcement of the court's ruling Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva and all the leaders who assisted in the overthrow of Dowie and many of his followers were in court, as were also the loyal supporters of Dowie. Broken in health and spirit, the hoary-headed founder of Zion was too weak to leave his Shiloh House at Zion City, and received the first news of his defeat by telephone.

The Ruling in Brief. Following are the important points in Judge Landis' decision: Lands, industries and all property in Zion held to constitute a trust estate in which John Alexander Dowie can claim no interest, and the property of the conveyance by Voliva under power of attorney from Dowie of the Zion property to Granger declared to be "mere waste paper."

An election to be held for the third Tuesday in September, at which all members of the church living in Zion City since January, 1905, may vote for a new spiritual leader of the church. If there be more than one candidate no tabernacle to be used alternately for campaign purposes.

Publication of Leaves of Healing to be suspended until after the election except for one issue, which is to contain the full decision of Judge Landis. In due course the court is to make provision for Dowie because of his services in organizing and developing the estate.

Judge Landis' sweeping decision sets at rest the controversy growing out of the action of Overseer Voliva in transferring the property of Zion from John Alexander Dowie to Granger. Millions are involved, and all Zion, throughout the world, has anxiously awaited the decision.

Chicago.—John Alexander Dowie will appeal from the decision of Judge Landis of the federal court declaring Zion City a trust estate and holding that the present first overseer has no individual proprietorship in the estate.

ROOSEVELT IS OUT OF THE RACE

President Will Not Accept Republican Nomination for Third Term.

Peoria, Ill.—A positive announcement from President Roosevelt that he will not accept the Republican nomination for a third term was made Monday in a letter addressed to Mrs. L. A. Kinney, of Peoria, by Secretary William Loeb for President Roosevelt. The text of the letter follows:

"Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 26.—Dear Madam: Your letter of thank you has been received and I thank you in the president's behalf for calling attention to the enclosed clipping. I would say, however, that the president has nothing to add to the statement issued on the night of the election in 1904. His decision as announced at that time is irrevocable."

This expression from President Roosevelt was called forth by an editorial in the Peoria Herald-Transcript which was called to the attention of the president through Mrs. Kinney, wife of a prominent Peoria politician. The editorial was in the form of an appeal to the president to accept the third term.

FATAL MISHAPS TO YACHTS

TWO CAPSIZE AND EIGHT PERSONS ARE DROWNED.

Disaster Occurs Off Jersey Coast—Waves Hit Crafts, Throw Occupants Into Water.

Anglesea, N. J.—Two yachts coming in from the fishing banks capsized on Herford Inlet bar off here Sunday, and so far as can be ascertained eight persons lost their lives. There were 23 persons on each yacht, of whom seven were lost, and 11 on the other all of whom but one were saved. That not more fell victims to the rough sea was due to the heroism of Capt. Henry E. Ludlow, of the Herford Inlet light saving station, and a crew of five men.

Anglesea is one of the favorite fishing places along the southern New Jersey coast and has seldom had a sadder Sunday. Every excursion boat from Philadelphia and other nearby points came down crowded with visitors the day of whom intended spending the day in fishing.

The weather in the morning was ideal and all the fishing boats took out large crowds to the fishing banks. After noon, however, a brisk breeze sprang up and the captains of the small craft feared to venture out for home. Most of the fleet got in without mishap, although some of them had considerable difficulty in clearing the Herford bar.

The two that got into trouble were the sloop yacht Nora, which had on board Capt. Herbert Shivers, his mate and 39 passengers, and the sloop Albatross, with a party of 12.

The Nora had come to the fishing banks at Five Fathom bank about two miles out to sea early in the day. When the wind began to freshen Capt. Shivers decided it would be to make port and with the assistance of a small gasoline engine and a good spread of canvas he made good time toward Anglesea. As the sloop luffed and the sea was getting stiffer and the sea rougher.

Capt. Shivers, from long experience, knew how treacherous is the Herford bar and approached it with his usual caution. He was about a mile from shore just as he was about to go over it a heavy squall struck the Nora.

Despite the efforts of the captain the craft heeled over and was hit by a huge wave. The wind and the wave coming together was more than the yacht could stand and it turned completely over, throwing the 22 occupants into the sea.

MEAT INSPECTION IN GERMANY

Strict Regulations Regarding Examination Are Put into Effect.

Berlin.—The revised regulations for the application of the meat inspection law, recently adopted by the Bundesrat, were published Monday and show a considerable increase of severity in the provisions of the law.

The regulations provide that when the meat of a carcass has been removed from a carcass, inspection can be made only by a veterinary expert, instead of the ordinary examiners, and that the meat of such carcasses can only be pronounced fit for food under certain specific conditions.

A much more thorough examination of the lymphatic glands of an animal also is required. These glands from all of the organs must be subjected to inspection by microscope. The glands as well as other organs must remain attached to fresh and prepared meats, so far as is necessary for trustworthy inspection.

New York.—William F. Hearst has decided to run for governor as an independent candidate. The state committee of the Independent League, a Hearst organization, met yesterday at the Gilsey house and decided the league shall hold a state convention in this city Sept. 11 to nominate Hearst for governor and put a full state and judiciary ticket in the field.

It was announced that the league will seek no affiliation with the regular democratic party—that it will go ahead as an independent movement. If the democrats see fit to endorse Hearst and the league ticket, well and good, but no favor will be shown from the heads of the democratic machine.

"Towards have no luck!" These are Elizabeth Kulmann's brave words.

J. Brisbane Walker believes that "No man is truly a gentleman if a coward." Fortune never helps the man whose courage fails. This is a bit of the wisdom of Sophocles.

Says George Horner Lorimer: "No man is a failure until he's dead or loses courage—and that's the same thing." Erny Smith long ago remarked that "A great deal of talent is lost to the world for the want of a little courage."

When moral courage fails that it is in the right that is inescapable, was Leigh Hunt's conviction. Said Rochefoucauld: "True bravery is shown by performing without wiliness what one might be unable to do before all the world."

"Fear, which only is another name for ignorance, is all that ails us. Understanding is the best advertisement in the world. People speak well of things they know are good. They pass the good word along."

The man who preaches the best sermon; the man who tells the funniest stories; the man who keeps the best store; or the man who makes the best poem, soon finds that people come to him. Merit is the best advertisement in the world. People speak well of things they know are good. They pass the good word along.

English Language in Antwerp. Nearly one-half of the shipping traffic of the world is carried on under the British and American flags, and this has been Antwerp almost an English-speaking port. Free night schools for exclusive classes in English, organized by the city authorities, are attended by thousands of pupils, while special attention is paid to the study of English in all the grades of the day schools, public as well as private. This desire to popularize the English language is not confined to Belgium, but has extended to Germany as well, where schools of instruction have already been established at Munich and Hamburg by the German government.

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused It to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Dates, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they gave it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1847, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and to employ the time the growth and success of this enterprise were assured, until Lydia E. Pinkham herself had her Vegetable Compound had become household words everywhere, and many thousands of sick women are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She died in her seventy-seventh year, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman was traced to her by correspondence, and there were thousands—received carefully, and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were written up for her reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands of testimonials, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of the various ailments, and the authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her father's knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the conduct of the work when its original founder passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price, as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too probable for a large real estate interest of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world. The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to
