BARRINGTON, ILLINOIS, FRIDAY, SEPT. 14, 1906

PALATINE LOCAL NEWS

Dr. Frank Olms, wife and daughter, of South Elgin, are visiting the former's parents, A. S. Olms and wife.

The game, Sunday, with the Clovers, of Chicago, resulted in a victory for Palatine. The score was 8 to 6. It was a fine game. The regular players were all in their places.

Charles Yates and Mrs. Lane left Thursday for New York, where they will sail for England, September 25th. Mr. Yates will be married while abroad and expects to return to Palatine in the spring.

Miss Elhora Arps received a letter from Mrs. N. E. Kent (nee Clara Sevicik) of Charter Oak, Cal., enclosing her subscription for the paper. She asked not to have her paper stopped, as it was her only means of news from her friends at Palatine and vicinity.

Palatine was defeated Saturday by the Y. M. C. A., of Woodstock, by a score of 9 to 4. It was a fast game. Roland Bentler was injured during the game, but was finally able to go back. Many of the regulars were absent, so George Kuebler and H. H. Hart were the new stars.

IT WILL BE ENTERTAINING

Barrington extends a most hearty invitation to the residents of her sister towns and rural communities to come and visit her next week and partake of the best and most entertaining literary feasts ever offered in Barrington; namely, the Chautauqua Assembly. The proceeds, or a good portion of it anyhow, goes towards promoting the work of the local Y. M. C. A. The talent engaged is of an exceptionally high character. Following is the program:

MONUMENT IS DEDICATED

Imposing Ceremonies as Viewed by One of the Old Soldiers

Last Sunday.

Barrington seems in a very happy frame of mind this week by reason of the glorious fact that, upon a splendid site in the new addition to Evergreen Cemetery stands a "Soldiers' and Sailors'" monument, unsurpassed in excellence of design and artistic beauty now unveiled, dedicated and paid for. The entire exercises and program on last Sunday afternoon, Sept. 10th, passed off quite satisfactorily and were witnessed by a large concourse of people.

The lengthy parade formed near G. A. R. hall, marshaled by Col. A. S. Henderson and headed by Barrington's grand Cornet Band, followed by T. W. Sweeney Post, a large delegation from Elgin Post and good representations from Woodstock, Wauconda, Dundee, Nunda, Palatine, Des Plaines, Waukegan, Lockport and other Posts. A goodly number from Chicago and vicinity were also present.

The Barrington Women's Relief Corps, augmented by delegations from Corps of the above mentioned towns, proved an interesting feature of the parade. The Modern Woodmen of America, Odd Fellows, Knights of the Globe, and other orders and societies, also the Y. M. C. A. all fell in line, constituting a procession very seldom to be seen. The unveiling was under the auspices of the Barrington W. R. C. Mrs. Ida V. Bennett, President, and the dedication was by the G. A. R. service.

The orators of the occasion were Rev. W. J. L. Bennett, Maj. Robert Mann Woods and Asst. Adjt. Genl. Chas. A. Partridge. Other Grand Army men of note on the platform were Col. Geo. D. M. Libby and Jasper T. Darling. Rev. A. Haseloff offered the invocation, Rev. W. Smith of Park Ridge read the "Prayer of Dedication," and Rev. Geo. K. Hoover, pronounced the benediction.

Beautiful Souvenir Programs were furnished for distribution by seventeen of the leading business men of our city, who favored the Barrington Review with advertisements to defray part of the cost—A. W. Meyer and D. F. Lamey, general merchandise, A. S. Henderson, fruit and confectionery; Barrington Roller Mills, Arnold Schauble, maker of the Barrington Gasoline Engine; Barrington Steam Laundry; M. C. McIntosh, lawyer; Barrington Review; Barrington Bank; Commercial Hotel; E. M. Blocks, furniture and undertaker; Miss Hettie Jukes, of the Up-to-date Millinery store; Barrington Pharmacy, who advertised school books; Comstock & Nagatz, the livermen; H. D. A. Grebe, hardware and harness; W. H. Gorman, the meat market man; H. T. Abbott, the watch maker and druggist; and Barrington Cafe. These firms, while appreciating that probably the intrinsic value of the advertising was small, yet they never hesitated a moment to place an "ad" in it when they were told it was for "the old boys" who wore the blue in time of need. Not a one objected to the price or asked for position.

The audience upon which this grand monument is situated affords a far-reaching and delightful view of the surrounding country, and will ever be a point of interest both to the Barrington people and to all visitors from elsewhere.

One of the best features of the dedicatory service was a paper written and read by Mrs. Emily Hawley, Senior Vice President of Barrington W. R. C., which is reserved in this article until the last, because it affords a full history of the women's work in securing this splendid memorial and which is here given entire.

Mrs. Hawley's Paper.

The object of the W. R. C. is: First. To assist the G. A. R. and to perpetuate the memory of their heroic dead.

Second. To assist such union veterans as need help and protection.

Third. To maintain true allegiance to the United States, to inculcate lessons of patriotism and love of country among our children and in the community in which we live.

Our organization, unlike other benevolent societies, is organized to give and not to receive. We pay that we may give.

We are auxiliary to an organization which must necessarily diminish as the years go by. Their ranks cannot be replenished, and today must the earnest women gather around all that

Is left of that gallant band of heroes and see that not one suffers or the cause they fought for be forgotten.

When the idea of erecting a suitable monument in our cemetery as a memorial to our beloved soldiers, who either gave up their lives in battle or have since passed to the great beyond, was first conceived, it seemed a work eminently fit to be undertaken by the W. R. C.

Three years ago this month it was brought before the W. R. C. at our regular meeting, and to many the project seemed a mighty task for our strength, but our ranks are composed of courageous and dauntless women who possess the courage of their convictions, and we resolved that it could and should be done.

Our laws are laid down that the business part of our work shall be studied, so that with all in mind we went to work—just like a lot of women—in a very business-like way.

Our first appeal to the public in a form of a lawn social was responded to so generously, and public opinion proved so strongly in favor of our proposed monument that we were encouraged to go on. Our mistakes were corrected, and as it is "not good for women to be alone," the men were asked to lend their brains to ours, and a committee was appointed, composed of two members of the G. A. R., two ladies of the W. R. C., and one man to represent the citizens of Barrington. Since then the work has been pushed unceasingly, and the committee has been nobly and generously helped by our own townpeople and also by those scattered through the United States, whose hearts often turn to a hallowed spot in our beautiful cemetery. From these have come letters containing money and teeming with good wishes for the success of our work. Little by little the money accumulated until about one half the fixed sum was in sight. Although not discouraged, the culmination of our hopes seemed still in the distance, when a gift of $400.00 stopped all doubt and made the dream a reality.

The committee, filled with new energy, ordered the stone and began work on the monument by the cemetery association. Now, the result of three years' work stands before you, a loving tribute to our heroes, living and dead.

The W. R. C. extend their heartfelt thanks to those who have so generously patronized our entertainments and so willingly seconded our efforts, making it possible for the W. R. C. to contribute $475.80 to the monument fund. We are proud of our auxiliary relations to the Grand Army of the Republic.

O, what our country has cost! And that is why we love it. That is why we cherish the memory of our heroic dead and offer continually loving loyalty to the living.

It is not necessary that their individual names appear on the granite shaft.

Every sacrifice, every loss and cross, every holy endeavor of the boys who wore the blue, shall be entered with their names on the record of immortality and the nation's regeneration of blood.

[The gentleman who so generously came twice to the relief of the monument fund, once for $100.00 and next for $400.00, was William Waterman of Elgin—EDTOL.]

Baptist Sunday School Meets.

The Teachers' Round Table of the Baptist Sunday school was held last Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Grace Cannon. It being the opening meeting of the winter's work, the necessity of the meetings was explained by Supt. Arnett Lines. Rev. V. V. Phelps gave a talk on different lines of the work and questions were discussed openly. Miss Beulah Oats, who had the interesting part in charge, was assisted in serving refreshments. The first meeting of the Round Table proved beneficial.

The next meeting will be September 28th, 1906.

Lake Zurich's "City Dads" Are Hustlers.

A reporter for THE REVIEW attended a special meeting of the Village Board of Lake Zurich the other night, and although he had attended meetings of bodies all over the United States, he was surprised to see the thorough discussion each matter received and the promptness with which the business was transacted. President E. A. Fields presided, but before the meeting had progressed very far the only absent trustee arrived and took an active interest. The following business was done through with:

An opinion from Village Attorney L. H. Bennett was heard relative to the adverse possession of certain streets within the village, reading Ordinance No. 12, creating a Board of Local Improvement.

Ordinance No. 13.—Regulating the approval of maps, plats and subdivisions.

Ordinance No. 14.—Providing for the construction of sidewalks.

The trustees also resolved to publish the ordinances in a newspaper of the county, and after prices from various newspapers had been asked for, THE REVIEW was selected, and at the next meeting, no doubt, will be officially declared the official organ of Lake Zurich.

The trustees are: E. A. Ficke, president; Wm. Bicknese, Wm. Tank, Wm. Buesching, H. Helfer, Fred Hoelt and Wm. Eichman.

H. L. Prehm certainly makes an efficient clerk.
