SELF-GOVERNMENT FOR CUBA PURPOSE OF THE PRESIDENT

Action Taken by America Destined Solely for Benefit of the People of the Island with a View to Restoration of Order.

Washington. — President Roosevelt Toesday discussed freely with his cabinet and with individual callers, among whom were Senators Knox and Forsaker, the present situation in Cuba and its temporary occupation by the American forces. The matter was talked over at the cabinet meeting, but no definite announcement of the result of the deliberations was given out. The president related to the cabinet and to the other callers with whom he talked that the action taken by the Americans government was destined solely for the benefit of the people of the island, with a view to the complete restoration of order there and the protection of all interests. He declared that he had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of all interests, the declared that the had no such motive in the protection of th
