

NERVOUS COLLAPSE

Sinking Spells, Headaches and Rheumatism Yielded to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. Lizzie Williams, of No. 416 Cedar street, Quincy, Ill., says: "Ever since I had nervous prostration, about thirteen years ago, I have had periodical spells of complete exhaustion. The doctor said my nerves were shattered. Any excitement or unusual activity would throw me into a state of helplessness. At the beginning my strength would come back in a moderate time after each attack, but the period of weakness kept lengthening until at last I would be helpless as many as three hours at a stretch. I had dizzy feelings, palpitation of the heart, misery after eating, hot flashes, nervous headaches, rheumatic pains in the back and hips. The doctor did me no little good that I gave up my treatment, and really feared that my case was incurable.

"When I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills my appetite grew keen, my food no longer distressed me, my nerves were quieted to a degree that I had not experienced for years and my strength returned. The fainting spells left me entirely after I had used the third box of the pills, and my friends say that I am looking better than I have done for the past fifteen years."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are recommended for diseases that come from impoverished blood such as anemia, rheumatism, debility after nervous prostration and partial paralysis. They have cured the most stubborn indigestion. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills agree with the most delicate stomach, quiet all nervousness, stir up the system to do its proper work and give strength that lasts. Sold by all druggists, or sent postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Women Have Pet Snakes.

A great many snakes are imported into England. There is a brisk demand for snake pets among rich ladies. It's a funny kind of pet, perhaps, but they seem to like them, and get quite fond of them. I suppose it's because ladies in England like the unusual. Of course, these pet snakes are all nonpoisonous.—London Morning Leader.

A Strange Awakening.

Senator Bailey, of Texas, in describing a terrific fight that he had once seen on the streets of New York, said that the hubbub and confusion reminded him of an episode that happened on a train.

"On a certain train," he said, "a very large, muscular man fell asleep, and amonged all the passengers by snoring tremendously. A drummer, carrying half a lemon in his hand, tipped over to a little boy who sat behind the snorer.

"'Son,' said the drummer, 'I am a doctor, and if that man doesn't stop snoring he'll die of apoplexy. Watch your chances, and as soon as his mouth opens a little wider, lean over and squeeze this lemon into it.'

"The boy obeyed."

SAVED THE CUSTOMER TROUBLE

Meat Way Water Secured Tip from "Closs" Man.

There is a waiter in a Washington hotel, who in the name of polite attention, endeavoring in every way to save his customers trouble. The other day a man came in who was staid up by John's probably "little close," but the service was fully up to the standard. The bill came to 80 cents, and the man handed over a dollar bill.

John then proceeded to help the man into his coat.

"Where's my change?" the customer asked.

"Oh, hang, sah? Dar sin' non—dat was mah tip, tank yo', sah!" John said with a bow.

"But I hadn't given it to you," the man protested.

SAVED BABY LYON'S LIFE.

Awful sight from That Dreadful Complaint, Infantile Eczema—Mother Praises Cuticura Remedies.

"Our baby had that dreadful complaint, infantile Eczema, which afflicted him for several months, commencing at the top of his head, and at last covering his whole body. His sufferings were untold and constant misery. In fact, there was nothing we would not have done to have given him relief. We finally procured a full set of the Cuticura Remedies, and about three or four days he began to show a brighter spirit and really laughed, for the first time in a year. In about ninety days he was fully recovered. Praised be the Cuticura Remedies, they have always been our greatest pleasure, and there is nothing too good that we could say in their favor, for they certainly saved our baby's life, for I ever beheld, prior to the treatment of the Cuticura Remedies, Mrs. Mabelle Lyon, 1525 Appleton Ave., Parsons, Kan., July 13, 1905."

John Stuart Mill.

James Mill, his father, was a hard man, a clever man, and a crank—a hedonist capable of making himself thoroughly disagreeable about the greatest happiness of the greatest number; a theorist who regarded his clever son as a suitable object for educational experiments.

He would not send him to school because schools were the fortresses of "prejudice," and taught the wrong things in the wrong way. He provided him with no playmates, and allowed him no holidays, lest "the habit of work should be broken."—Francis Gribble, in Fortnightly Review.

Baby Clothes in Mexico.

The babies of Mexico—bless their dimples! They are no more like our babies than the long skirts are like our grandfathers. The long skirts are made to hang open in the back from the yoke down to the bottom, and it is a dainty exhibit of hand-made lace and linen drawn to the fineness of a spider's web, that spreads its expanse over the nurse's arm. The top of the garment is fashioned from the most elaborately beflowered and gorgeously hued material conceivable, and if the infant be a girl her splendor is not unfrequently enhanced by a set of coral-necklaces, bracelets, pins and earrings. The colorless baby dress is reserved for the unfortunate whose grandmother or great uncle has died since its birth. The white dress in this case is used as a background for a mesh of wide black ribbon, tied in a manner that nearly obliterates the front of the waist, while the long ends hang on the child like the long ends of a shroud of a house of mourning.—Lionelle Tisdale, in Sunset Magazine for October.

Successfully Paints on Metal.

Carl Lunde, a Norwegian artist, has made himself famous by painting on metal in the art of the Japanese. He fell in, great as they are as metal workers. Lunde decorates ordinary tin with characteristic designs in colors and finishes an ordinary tray or plate that would otherwise be cheaply jettisoned. The method is his secret and only one of many clevernesses he employs to render utility artistic and decorative.

A Good Record.

Out of all the external remedies on the market we think there is one that has the record of that world-renowned porous plaster—Allocock's. It has now been in use for sixty years, and still continues to be as popular as ever in doing the great work of relieving our pains and aches. It is the remedy we all need when suffering from any ache or pain resulting from taking cold or overstrain.

Allocock's Plaster is sold by Druggists all over the world.

Playwright's Method of Work.

Mr. A. W. Pisher has an unusual method of writing his plays. His work day does not begin until that of the average city man is over. In the morning he goes out, preferably on his bicycle, returning in time for early dinner. Then he has a comfortable sleep, and on waking up, late in the afternoon, he prepares for business. After a cup of tea he goes to his desk and remains working at his play until far into the night.

MEAT INSPECTION LAW

SECRETARY WILSON THROWS LIGHT ON SHIPMENTS. MUST HAVE CERTIFICATES

Carcases Must Bear Official Attest, Showing They Have Been Passed by Proper Authorities or Railroads Cannot Accept Them.

Washington—Some important rulings were announced Tuesday by the department of agriculture under the meat inspection law. The rulings come under the heads of "Transportation of Animals," "Labels," and "Definitions." In brief, the rulings provide as follows:

"No shipment of meat or meat food products shall be accepted for transportation in interstate commerce by any carrier until the carrier has received from the shipper a certificate in one of the forms prescribed in the regulations.

"When it is desired to divert a shipment of inspected and marked meat or meat food products from the original destination, such diversion may be made with retrospective effect, a new certificate showing the changed destination be given to the carrier by the owner or shipper.

"The right of the farmer to ship interstate or foreign commerce the carcasses of animals slaughtered on the farm is a right personal to the farmer and applies to the shipment of carcasses of such animals in interstate or foreign commerce only when such carcasses are shipped by the farmer or his agent.

"Wholesale dealers, who are not acting as agents for farmers, but who sell carcasses of animals slaughtered by a farmer on the farm, may not re-ship said carcasses in interstate or foreign commerce.

"Reshipments of inspected meat and meat food products which are sound and wholesome at the time of re-shipment may be made without inspection, when the meat or meat food products, or the containers thereof, are marked "U. S. Inspected and Passed," and the meat or meat food products have not been processed, other than by smoking, since they were originally shipped.

"The transportation of meat or meat food products from one point in a state or territory to another point in the same state or territory, when in course of shipment the meat or meat food product is taken through another state or territory, is interstate commerce, and brings the said transportation within the scope of the meat inspection law and regulations."

BARGE AND SEVEN MEN MISSING

Ship and Crew May Have Gone Down in Fierce Gale on Lake Huron.

Alpena, Mich.—It is feared that the tow barge Thomas H. Caboon, owned in Saginaw, is lost with a crew of seven men. The Caboon, with other boats, was towing a steamer Homer Warren and anchored off Thunder Bay island Saturday night. The barge broke loose during the height of the gale and drifted out into Lake Huron. It may have drifted across the lake to the Canadian shore, but vesselmen do not think the barge could have lived in the gale.

WORLD HAS LABOR SHORTAGE

Panama Commissioners Unable to Get Help for Canal Work.

Washington—Through their efforts to obtain labor for work on the isthmian canal, members of the canal commission have found there is a dearth of labor in practically all parts of the world.

So great is the demand for labor in connection with railroad building and other improvements on a large scale that countries which formerly have sent thousands of laborers to this country monthly are now using their labor at home.

"What do you think of the case of old Ketchum?" said one of the businessmen of the place to a friend. "It is true that he has got religion?"

"Well, hardly," replied the other, with the air of one who knows. "The fact is, it's entirely a matter of business with him. I am in a position to know that about a year ago he loaned the pastor $50, which the latter was unable to pay. So there remained nothing for Ketchum but to take it out in pew rent."—The Sunday Magazine.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.
