El Paso, Tex.—A special from Clifton, Ariz, the first authentic news out of that city since the flood prostrated
all wires, is as follows:
The river is receding rapidly and the weather has cleared, hence no further damage is apprehended. Two bodies were recovered from the wreckage along Chase creek, but the number of deaths cannot be told.
Joe Throm, who was rescued from the flood and whose wife was lost, was taken to the hospital in a serious condition, but will probably recover.
Three men who were caught in the act of looting and who refused to surrender to officers, were shot and fatally wounded.

Fatal Explosion in Mine.
Seeleyville, Ind.—Two men are dead and 14 seriously injured as the result of a dust explosion in the Rosebud mine, east of here, Wednesday afternoon. The explosion followed a shot and caught 150 miners is the mine.

PHOTOGRAPHY AND FINE ART.

Camera Pictures Much More Than Me-chanical Reproduction.

chanical Reproduction.

Few persons could be found who would deap the claims of photography to rank among the fine arts, when skillishy used and properly controlled, since the photography of to-day is something more than a mechanical reproduction. The individuality of the photographer is being expressed in his work almost as much as is that of the painter. The painter still has the advantage, for while he may give us an impression fuller than that made by nature upon the eye, the photographer can deal only with that which is observed with such unerring fidelity and skill by a mechanical eye. Composition is therefore one of the necessary principles to the photographer, who thus supplies the mechanical eye with a mind, yet he must study lighting at different hours of the day and varying weather conditions that he may know the wide of the control of th

Depew Writes Reminiscences.
While Senator Chauseory M. Depew was enjoying his long rest at Ardseyon-the-Hudson he did a good deal of work on his reminiscences. He is not sure that they will ever be published, his idea being that they might be of interest to his son. In his dity years of public life Mr. Depew has known a great many prominent personages
and his reminiscences can hardly fall
to be exceedingly readable.

To Represent Italy and Spain.
To Represent Italy and Spain, are sending new ambassadors to the court of St. James. The marquis di San Giuliano, who will represent Italy, is comparatively a young man. He comes of an old Stellian family of Norman descent, and is highly cultured, having traveled attensively with good results. He is an enthusiastic student of Dante, and is president of the Italian Geographical society. Senor Villa Urattis, the new Spanish ambassador, accompanied King Alfonso to London on the momentous occasion that ended in his engagement to Princess Ena, and won golden opinions for his tact and courtesy during that visit.

Sounded Praises of Sosp.
In a guide to etiquette published early in the last century the writer asys that "soap does not irritate the complexions; some of the finest complexions we have known have been regularly washed with soap every day." The same authority remarks that "the daily bath is now the rule rather than the exception, and common sense has triumphed over the decision that washing was injurious." And then the writer has a dig at her great-grand-mother, "whose only abutions consisted in wetting her cheeks with a cambric handkerchief dipped in rose-water." "In all our directions with regard to the bath," adds this early victoriar dictator, "it must be borns in mind that we only refer to those in sound state of health."

NEW YEAR'S CALLS.

A New Drink to Replace the Old-Time "Apple-Jack."

"Apple-Jack."

Twenty-five years ago the custom of making New Year's calls was a delightful one for all concerned, until some of the boys got more "egenos" or "apple-jack" than they could successfully carly.

Then the ladies tried to be charitable and the gentlemen tried to be as chivairous as ever and stand up at the same time. If anyone thinks there has not been considerable improvement made in the last quarter of a century in the use of alcoohile beverages, let him stop to consider, among other things, the fact that the old custom of New Year's calls and the genteel tippling is nearly obsolete.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots their own home medicines from roots can be a superience. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest Mrs. Pinkham took as great interest so the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took as great interest characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountfully provides in the harvest-fields and orcharks vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friendations of the cholects medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the fills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured them.

The three sons and the daughter; with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole word.

The Finthams had no money, and herbs were steeped on the store, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling the way freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamplets esting forth the merits of the medicines, now called Lydis E. Finkham's distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.
