COMMERCE COURT JUDGE UNDER FIRE

EPITOME OF A WEEK'S NEWS

Washington

The standard of meat inspection has become lower an progressive step each year since the present law went into effect six years ago, according to J. W. Burroughs, a former inspector of meat, who testified before the committee of agriculture in the house of representatives at Washington. At the present time, according to the witness, conscientious inspectors regard their presence in packing houses as something merely perfunctory.

President Taft approved the service pension bill. He wrote his signature making it bow with an eagle quill tipped with gold.

Authoritative information given out by the secretary of the interior that the state will be ready to offer 15,000 acres of land in the third unit of the Belle Fourche reclamation project, South Dakota, on May 25, and approximately one hundred government farms will be ready for homeseekers' entry on that day.

The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, carrying an appropriation of approximately $34,000,000, passed the house at Washington. The bill contains several important changes in existing laws, including a provision abolishing the commerce court.

The senate at Washington passed the rivers and harbors appropriation bill. One of its items is an appropriation of $350,000 for the improvement of the Chicago harbor.

The bill to increase the safety of seagoing men favorably reported by the house committee on merchant marine at Washington, authorizes by which wages may be deducted in support of the seamen.

By a vote of 46 to 29 the senate at Washington ordered the abolishment of the commerce court, but refused to sanction the action of the appropriations committee providing for the abolition of the four circuit judges who now hold office.

Domestic

A statue in marble, by Hand-some prizes was held in Jefferson City, Mo., by representative school children from every county.

The General Society Daughters of the Revolution met in Boston, with President General Adline Prince Pitz in the chair.

J. Bliss Dallas, was arrested in Los Angeles, Cal., upon the complaint of three Chicago men who claim he sold them worthless oil stock. The complainants are Frank C. Sollen, Fred Bellman and James Grant, 736 Dearborn street. Post Office Inspector C. N. Moore of Chicago, who caused the arrest, on a charge of using the mails to defraud, says Dallas has secured thousands of dollars through misrepresentations. He has alleged that he owns 1,000 acres of land in Texas, which is worth $100 an acre, and that he has a big holding of Boise, Oregon, property, whereas, he says, he has only an automobile on a mortgage. Dallas was arrested at Fort Madison, Ia., on a charge of embezzling $1,000 from a bank there. He was released on bail and disappeared. Of late he has been living in Los Angeles. He says he is a millionaire.

The Dallas Post-Office Department has received a total of $10,000 in cash and stamps overlooking $1,000 in cash and stamps.

United States District Judge Cornelius J. Hanford at Seattle, Wash., ordered the cancellation of the citizenship papers of Tancredo Olsson, a Socialist agitator, on the ground that he had failed to attach himself to the principles of the Constitution of the United States.

Delegates to the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, to be held in Dallas, Tex., May 15, left San Francisco on a special train.

The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at Minneapolis, approved the Kenyon-Sheppard bill, which now is before congress and which prohibits the shipment in interstate commerce of intoxicating liquors into "dry" territory.

The general assembly of the Presbyterian church (Southern) convened at Bristol, Tenn.

On the ground that no intention on the part of the trust corporation to destroy evidence bearing upon the government's dissolution suits had been shown, Judges Gray, Buffington and Dickinson in the United States district court at Trenton, N. J., refused to grant the injunction prayed for by the government to restrain the trust from making away with any of these papers.

The business session of the Christian conclave in session at Los Angeles ended with the adjournment of the imperial council. William J. Cunningham, of Baltimore, Worthman imperial cochin potentate, was elected imperial potentate, succeeding John Frank Treat of Fargo, N. D. Dallas, Tex., had chosen as the site of the 1913 convention.

A disagreement between foreign and American miners at Houghton, Michigan county, as to whether they should go to work without awaiting the result of the referendum vote now being taken in the state, resulted in one man being fatally injured and four others wounded.

Personal

Close friends of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw in New York announce that she is the mother of a baby girl. The baby is said to have been born near Hamburg, Germany, where the mother was temporarily sojourning. In contradiction of these statements representatives of the Thaw family denied the paternity of the child and even questioned its existence.

Members of the Panama-Pacific exposition commission, under the leadership of John Hays Hammond, arrived in St. Petersburg from Germany and passed the greater part of the day in sightseeing in the capital.

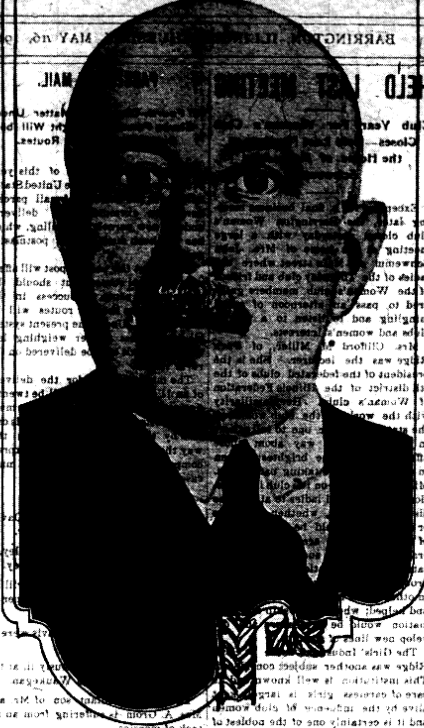
Dr. John Grier Hibben was inaugurated president of Princeton university in the presence many distinguished educators and thousands of alumni, students and others.

A rumor in Paris that Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, who divorced Col. John Jacob Astor, will be married to Maurice Rostand, second son of Edmond Rostand, author of "Chantecler," was cabled to New York.

Politics

Complete returns on the result of the April 5 primaries on file with the secretary of state of Illinois show Roosevelt's majority over Taft is 148,064; Clark's over Wilson is 141,475. Dunne's lead over Small is 52,166, and over Harmon 80,414.

Governor Foss censured the Massachusetts senate in a special message for rejecting the initiative, referendum and recall amendment to the constitution. The governor pointed out that the people had acquired their right to express a preference for United States senator and that the legislature's only duty regarding the matter was to provide machinery for the election.



THIS is the latest photograph of Judge Robert W. Archbald of the United States Commerce court, whose alleged business dealings with the Erie railroad are being investigated by the house committee on judiciary in Washington.

FAVORS NO CHURCH

PRESIDENT TAFT STRENUOUSLY DENIES GIVING PREFERENCE TO ROMAN CATHOLICS.

CONSPIRACY CHARGE IS MADE

Did Not Send Wireless Welcome to Newly Appointed Apostolic Delegate—Says Purpose Is to Arouse Religious Prejudice Against Him.

Washington, May 14.—On Sunday the following statement was issued from the White House:

"Among the insidious methods of attack pursued by some against me is the attempt to arouse religious prejudice on the charge that I am in some manner unduly favoring the Roman Catholic church. It has been my official purpose first, as the governor general of the Philippines; second, as secretary of war, and third, as president, to encourage every church as far as possible where this does not involve invidious distinctions, and does not depart from the rule which separates our state from official relations to all churches. I have unduly favored no church, but have treated them all with absolute impartiality.

"In 1907 I visited Rome and conferred with Pope Pius X. in an attempt to settle the friar land controversy, which had existed in the Philippines, with a view to its removal, and after a time I succeeded in doing so. When last March my aide, Major Butt, set out on a trip solely for his health I directed him to call upon the Archbishop of Naples and the Archbishop of Palermo, and I gave him such letters as I thought would facilitate his visit. Both of these prelates are Americans. A conspiracy for the purpose of arousing religious prejudice against me is shown by the following instance:

"Upon the return of Archbishop Bonzano from the Philippines, where he had been apostolic delegate, he was appointed by the pope to be apostolic delegate to the United States. Mrs. Taft and I were desirous of showing him some courtesy, and I directed that he be invited to the White House to dine with us. He was not invited to the White House to meet us, but to dine with us. He was not invited to the White House to meet us, but to dine with us. He was not invited to the White House to meet us, but
