BLAIR ADDRESS GOOD

Address Given by Francis G. Blair Was Well Liked by All—Class Picnic Ends Commencement Week.

The commencement exercises in connection with the Barrington high school Thursday evening aroused the usual amount of interest among the friends of the graduates, and the citizens generally. The program included a reception to the senior class by the juniors, a faculty reception at the home of Prof. and Mrs. E. S. Smith, a class day exercise at the high school hall, a picnic on Monday, June 24, and the baccalaureate sermon at the Salem church on Sunday evening, June 18, participated in by all the churches, and at which the preacher was Rev. J. Bunce, pastor of Zion Evangelical church.

The main interest, however, centered in the commencement exercises proper, which occurred at the Salem Evangelical church on Thursday evening, June 20. The house was well filled for the occasion and on the walls over and back of the platform were notices and banners reading the victories of the high school in oratorical contests with other schools. The class colors, purple and white, were in evidence as was also the class flower, the white rose. Other flowers were not wanting. The class motto was in large letters over the platform. It was: "No wind serves him who has no wind." The principal interest was in the class of graduates. The class numbered six who were: Ruth M. Caslow, Mabel F. Kampert, Alta K. Smith, Josephine A. Caslow, Leah M. Mayer and Homer H. Plagge. These young people took their usual part in the platform and remained there until the exercises of the evening were completed. Following is the program rendered: march, Miss Almada Plagge; selection, "Godolphin," Barrington Concert company; invocation, Rev. H. Thoren; piano solo, "The Little Prince," Mabel Schaefer; address by Francis G. Blair; oration, "Sky Pilot," Barrington Concert company; vocal solo, "The Village Blacksmith," W. J. Cameron; presentation of diplomas; march, "Army and Navy," Barrington Concert company; benediction, Rev. O. F. Mattison.

The management was fortunate in securing for the speaker of the evening, the Hon. Francis G. Blair, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, of Springfield. Mr. Blair made a very favorable impression both in the nature of his address and in his personal appearance and manner. As he came in with J. C. Plagge, president of the board of education, and took his seat on the platform with Mr. Plagge they seemed to be of about the same size. Mr. Blair selected as the text of his address, "The High School Graduate." The address was simple and practical, in its outline and application and contained just such suggestions for successful living as every young man and woman ought to hear. He captured attention at once by giving somewhat humorous account of a young man packing his trunk to start away to college and the overhauling of the trunk by his mother to see what he had put in it. Many things were taken out and other and necessary things were put in. This furnishes a good starting point for his address and his real theme which was, "What are you going to put into your trunk as you start out on your life journey." We have space for only the merest outline of an address that was packed full of good thought and which could not fail to make a lasting impression.

"See to it," said the speaker, "that you put into your trunk, physical strength, strong muscles, good nerves and good health. These you will find absolutely necessary in the stress of modern life." The speaker looked as if he had taken his own advice. "Then," said he, "you will stand in need of a trained mind. This you can only secure by real honest and hard work. There is a difference between going through school and having the school go through you. In this particular the high school year is essential. Other things to be put in the imaginary trunk are a correct moral life and such practical knowledge as every man and woman needs in the common concerns of life." All these things, the speaker seemed to illustrate. The address was well given and great satisfaction. As it closed Mr. Plagge stated that the program of the exercises to the graduates would be turned over to the State superintendent.

This was done in a C. Hall Co. building, and as the commencement week drew to a close, the following is a list of the graduates who have given great satisfaction. As it closed Mr. Plagge stated that the program of the exercises to the graduates would be turned over to the State superintendent.

CONCERT WELL ATTENDED.

The Concert Given by Pupils of Miss Almada Plagge and Miss Eva Chrysler Was Well Attended.

On Tuesday evening at the Methodist church three musical forces combined in giving to music lovers of our vicinity a splendid concert; Miss Almada Plagge, teacher in piano, Miss Eva Chrysler of Chicago, twenty-one vocal selections of a technical kind, and the efforts stood out to the great credit of both pupils and teacher.

Miss Almada Plagge presented her pupils of the beginner grades in a recital in the afternoon, twenty-one selections were rendered, and with the exception of the vocal numbers by Mrs. Chas. Thies and Miss Myrtle Plagge, they were piano students and they are making such a large number of people, add the house was well seated when the Barrington Concert company opened the program with a boy-scout march by Gearen. Dora Lamey, "March Triumphal," Genevieve Pomeroy sang with deep effect "Sunrise," and Ruth Lorenson rendered "Curly Looks" and "Fife and Drum Brigade" with good taste. Lucille Rieke played "The Return and Home Again" with a fair display of feeling.

Ruth Waterman and Violet Landwer were good entertainers in their duet of "Over Hill and Dale."

Gladys Sempé gave "Bon Bon Polka," and Lillian Gritam sang "Polonaise Brillante," accompanied by Miss Plagge.
