Blasted Ambition

It was a hot day and Abe Shreter sat on a chair under the awning of Skinner's grocery, with his feet on the head of a barrel and his head nodding with drovataesa. Colonel Harper, who had come into town and left his mule hitched in front of the postoffice, came along on his way to the drug store and halted to say: "That 'o', Abe? I declar' to goodness but I didn't know 'o' at first sight. Powerful hot day in town."

"Bless me, kurnel, bless me!" exclaimed Abe in reply, as he slowly lowered his legs to give the colonel the benefit of the barrel. "I was jest 'a-thinkin' about 'o' 'o' kurnel—jest 'a-thinkin' and 'a-sponderin'. How's 'o' 'a-getti'ng on this weather?"

"'Ought to be a little mo' rain, mebber, but co'n't look 'er 'all bad."

"And mewls hold their own. I reckon to consider!"

"Jest about hold their own, Abe; jest about."

"That's good, kurnel. If I can't hold my own I'm still glad to see other folks do it. Things are looking up a bit for me, however. These yere Pike county schoolmashers seem to have got tired of throwing me down and jumping on my head, and mebber I'll get a chance to draw a long breath. De yegone folks who ain't willing for other folks to get along!"

"Scandalize ain't right," said the colonel as he moved his hat to mop his forehead.

"Of co'se it ain't; of co'se not. Can't make a man better by scandalizing him—can't possibly do it. Can't put ambition into a man's soul by throwing him down every week or two. He's got to be encouraged if 'o' want him to do his best. Have I been encouraged in this town, kurnel? Has Pike county ever extended her hand to help me climb up?"

"Reckon not, Abe."

"No, suh; no, suh," kept by one solitary human being, whose name is Kurnel Harper. You run to co'n and mewls, and 'o' work 22 men on 'o' plantation the year round, but that don't prevent 'o' from seeing and realizing all sorts of situations. First, I went into the late wuh as a private soldier. I came out the same thing. Drot their pesky hides, but they were making captains and majahs and kurnels, while I was pouring out my blood for love of country—that is, I was willing to pour, which is the same thing, I take it."

"'Bout the same, Abe," paternally replied the colonel, "except that the bullets don't hit 'o'."

"When the wuh ended I run for office, same as all the rest. They owed me an office for having laid down my life for my country, but what was my reward? Kurnel Harper, I reckon 'o' can remember that I was knocked out—'hited 20 feet high—snowed under till 'o' couldn't see the top of my hat. That's the way Pike county encouraged me to grab hold with both hands and climb to the top!"

"Yes, I remember about that," mused the colonel, as he watched a dog rolling over and over in the dusty street.

"Then I turned to law," continued Abe as he hitched the chair over to get away from the hot sun on a post of the veranda. "Kurnel Harper, nobody on the face of this big earth will ever know how I plinched and saved and starved and worked to get that law business down to a fine point. Did anybody encourage me? Not a critter. Not a pesky varmint had a kind word for me. If I'd known 'o' during them struggling times 'o' 'a' been the man to open 'o' wallet and hand me out $30 or so, and tell me to pay it back in my own good time. Yes, that would have been good, kurnel."

"Yes, mebber," doubtfully replied the colonel.

"Wall, I got to be a lawyer. Then what? I wanted practice. I finally got a case and went into court with it, but the pesky jury was lying in ambush to throw me down. Yes, suh—had the purtiest, nicest, cleanest case 'o' ever heard tell of, and that jury was bound by law and evidence to bring in a verdict for me, but I got the cold nip instead. They brought my client in guilty of stealing a hawg when he was 30 miles away at the time, at the bedside of his dying mother. Do 'o' call that encouraging a young man, kurnel? Was that giving me a show to climb up?"

"Can't stansly call it that, Abe, but if I remember right, they found fresh pork in 'o' client's house."

"They found meat there, of co'se, but was it the meat of that yere hawg or some other? They never stopped to consider, kurnel—jest throvred the verdict agin me in order to crush me out. Same way in the second case, and the third and f'vth. No matter how many witnesses I had or how plain I made my case, the pesky county jury would find for me. How many times have 'o' to be a young man, Kurnel Harper, to kill off his ambition and take the back of it 'all?"

"'Bout 'a' these, I reckon."

"Jest about 'a' these, kurnel. After that f'vth 'o' I realized that Pike county was agin me, so I never went to law again. There I was, suh, suh."

"'Bout 'a' these, I reckon."

Beauty of the Drama. I think I love and reverence all acts equally, only putting my own just above the others; because in it I recognize the union and culmination of my own. To me it seems as if when God ordered the world, that was poetry; he formed it, and that was Scripture; he colored it, and that was painting; he peopled it with living beings, and that was the grand, divine, eternal drama.—Charlotte Cushman.

Are Ever at War? There are two things everlastingly at war, just as you see. But Buckle's Arica Sails will banish piles in any form. It soon subdues the itching, irritation, inflammation or swelling; it gives comfort, invites joy. Greatest healer of burns, boils, ulcers, cuts, bruises, eczema, scalds, pimples, skin eruptions. Only 25c at Harrington Pharmacy.

Wanted Relief. In one of the West Philadelphia hospitals a woman patient in the ward was groaning with pain. At last she called to the nurse: "O nurse, I am suffering so much; I can't stand it. Won't you please give me an epidemic?"

There Was a Reason. "It's all very well for you to preach economy," said his wife, "but I notice whenever I cut down expenses that you smoke better cigars and spend more money for your own pleasure than at any other time." "Well, confound it! What do you suppose I want you to economize for, anyway?"

Reindeer Moss. It is stated that an immense bed of the best reindeer moss has been discovered near the mouth of the Poronai river in Kamchatka. The bed extends to a distance of seventy-five miles along the coast, has a width of over three miles and a depth of six feet. This kind of moss is used in the manufacture of cardboard.

Generally. Visitor—"How do you get along with your rival town, Bungville?" Native—"Same as all rival towns do. The Civic League in each town works from October to April promoting friendly relations between the two towns, and the first baseball game we play them undoes it."

The Occupations of Kings. Thus Nero went up and down Greece and challenged the fiddlers at their trade. Aeneas, a Macedonian king, made lanterns; Harcattus, the king of Parthia, was a mole catcher, and Hiantes, the Lydian, mied needles.—Jeremy Taylor.

The Useless Rat. Plague or no plague, it is always a good thing to exterminate rats, which do less good and more harm than almost any other animal in the world.—New York Tribune.
