VILLAGE LAUNDRY IS HIGH GRADE ONE

Patrons of the Barrington Laundry Have Had Opportunity to Compare Work With Others.

IMPROVEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE

J. F. Gieske Has Agencies in Ten Towns and Does a Large Amount of Work Every Week.

The Barrington laundry, which has been closed and the work sent to Crystal Lake and Woodstock for the last two weeks, will be ready to resume operations again next week. J. F. Gieske, the proprietor, states that the work rooms have been increased by one-third, a new boiler room built, and a new 33 horse power engine and 50 horse power boiler installed, and Mr. Gieske is confident that they will now be able to turn out work quicker and better than ever.

During the two weeks when the work of patrons of this laundry has been sent out of town these people have learned that Barrington has an ideal laundry when it is compared with those in other towns. People who have had no experience with other laundries have been heard to criticize the work of Mr. Gieske's laundry, although there has been little enough reason to do so. Laundry work done at home is often much worse than that turned out by the steam laundries but escapes without comment, probably because it is not human nature to be hard with a home product, be it ever so much inferior to the same work done by people who make it a business. Those who have had experience with various laundries in other villages and cities are unanimous in their praise of the local institution.

The fact that a laundry in a village of the size of Barrington has as large a business as that conducted in any town or city in this section indicates that its work is up to, and above the standard. Mr. Gieske has agencies at Wauconda, Lees Zurich, Park Ridge, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Edison Park, Norwalk Park, Cary and Genoa Junction and secures practically all of the business from these places. The improvements which he is completing were made necessary by the large and continually growing volume of work which he is receiving, and when he starts up his business again he will be prepared to take care of the work which he receives in the speediest and most satisfactory manner.

Installs Sewer Without Permission.

A. M. Layton, the contractor who is installing Barrington's sewer system, is also doing work of the same sort at North Chicago, and a Waubesa paper last Saturday contained an interesting story of how he drove away the company's guards and completed the work under the E. J. & E. tracks which he was forbidden to do. According to the story the railroad company had not given its permission to the city or to the contractor to place the sewer under its right-of-way. The work had to be done when Mr. Layton reached a point where it was either to do without permission or stop work he drove away the company's guards, in the absence of their foreman who had gone to Waukegan for further orders, and completed the work.

Had Narrow Escape.

While waiting a gasoline engine at Palatine, Monday, George Schabale caught his coat on a shaft while the engine was running and it wound up, tearing the coat and shirs from his body and severely scalding his left arm and bruising his side and shoulder. The engine was working when the cloth wound around the shaft and prevented the igniter from stopping. As a result of the accident he has been unable to work for several days and considers himself quite fortunate that it was not more serious.

There will be no moving picture show in the village hall next Wednesday evening. Mr. Gracy, the picture man, has the hall rented for every Wednesday and Friday evening, but has kindly given way to the Woman's Relief corps next Wednesday. He gave a good show last night and will give another tomorrow night, and Friday night of next week. After next he will resume his schedule of the show's work.

STANDARD SCHOOLS ARE LABELED

Two Schools in Cook Township Are Entitled to Bear Flag Distinguishing Them as "Standard."

According to a recent bulletin issued by the state bureau of education all one-room country schools meeting the requirements of a "standard school" will bear a plate setting forth the fact. Lake county now has 18 standard one-room schools, two of them, the White and Porter schools, being in Cuba township. Among the specifications which determine a standard school are the following:

An ample playground; good approach to the school; concrete fuel houses; the building sound, in good repair and painted; improved heating arrangements—a jacketed stove in the corner of the room instead of an unprotected stove in the center; floor and interior of the building clean and tidy; suitable school building of all ages properly placed; a good collection of juvenile books, maps and dictionaries; a sanitary water supply; the school well organized, with a regular attendance, and at least seven months school every year; the teacher must have a high school education; receive a salary of at least $200 a year and be ranked by the county superintendent as a good or superior teacher.

State school inspectors will make an inspection of rural and village schools the first of next month and it is expected that Lake county will add several more to its list of standard schools.

BUESCHING-KOCH

Lake Zurich Young People Married at Home of Bride's Parents Near Here Tuesday.

Miss Martha Koch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Koch who live east of this village, was wedded last Tuesday afternoon to Fred Buesching of Lake Zurich. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of their immediate relatives, Rev. J. J. Heinrich, pastor of St. Peter's church at Lake Zurich, being the officiating clergyman. Miss Koch has been employed in and near Lake Zurich for a number of years and is highly commended by all who know her. Mr. Buesching is a son of William Buesching of Lake Zurich, and was born and raised there, his father owning a farm just east of the village. He is an industrious young man, well liked by the residents of that place.

The young couple have taken the management of the Lake Zurich Golf club and will make their home there.

Ladies' Social Circle Meets.

The Ladies social circle, connected with the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church, had a meeting on Tuesday afternoon, at the house of Mrs. C. O. Winter. There were present about twenty ladies. A very pleasant social hour was spent, at the conclusion of which the hostess served light refreshments. There was a short program, literary and musical. Mrs. Charles Tins sang several pieces, Mrs. Ida Bennett gave a reading, and Mrs. Winter had charge of an extroverted calling attention to many bright sayings of children.

Reaper Show Interesting.

In spite of the disagreeable weather, about 150 men attended the moving picture show given at the village hall last Tuesday evening by the International Harvester company through the courtesy of Jenks & Rohlfmeyer. "The Romance of the Reaper," depicted the harvesting of grain from the earliest periods down to the present day, showing obsolete and modern machines and plotting the various methods and processes employed in this and foreign countries. It was an instructive show, and proved very interesting to those attending.

Say Winter Will Be Warm.

A warm winter and a short one is the prediction of the local weather prophet. They base their forecast upon the fact that last winter was exceptionally cold and that the summer was cool. According to statements the cold weather will not commence until after the first of the year and will be ended before March.

NEWS OF THE FARM AND DAIRY

Notes of Comment and Interest to Local Agriculturists and Milk Producers.

The date of the auction advertised by W. F. Thies has been changed from November 25 to November 19. Mrs. Mary Shufeldt will have a sale Saturday, November 16.

The auction held by E. V. Stanley and H. D. Westmore, last Thursday, was well attended and the offerings brought good prices. The sale amounted to over $5,000.

E. K. Magee, manager of the Harwood farms, states that they have just made a sale of a pure-bred Holstein bull calf to Knowlton L. Ames, proprietor of the Oak Hill farm at Wheaton, receiving for the calf, which was 16 months old, $500.00.

Preparations are now being made for the annual International live stock exposition, which will be held in Chicago from November 30 to December 7. It is planned to have the largest display of horses, cattle, hogs and sheep since the inception of that magnificent enterprise, and the largest list of entries on record has been made.

SHORT LOCAL ITEMS.

The shingles on the depot roof were replaced with roofing paper the first of the week.

E. F. Wiseman & Company have been doing the mason work at the Barrington laundry.

A number of students from Chicago University came to this village Saturday, and took a hike through the country.

Henry Ellors and family moved last week to the farm in Barrington township, which Mr. Ellors recently purchased from J. H. Landwehr.

Monday and Tuesday evenings, December second and third, have been selected as the dates upon which the local Order of Eastern Star will give a play at the village hall.

Miss Gertrude Hager entertained the Anna club of the Methodist Episcopal church, at her home on Main street, last Thursday evening. Thirteen members were present and all had a very delightful time.

A basket social will be given at the Barrington Center church tomorrow evening by the teacher and pupils of the Barrington Center school. Miss Florence Dalschner, of Dundee, teaches the school.

Local friends of Rev. Robert L. Kelly, who was a pastor of the Baptist church here a few years ago, have received announcements of his marriage, in Chicago, November 6th, to Miss Leona Hancock Raser, whose parents live in that city.

Rev. O. F. Mattison was in Chicago Monday, in attendance of the meeting called by the teacher and pupils of the Barrington Center school, which was held in the city council chamber and was addressed by a number of prominent ministers and citizens.

The Illinois grand lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will convene at Springfield next Tuesday for the annual session. E. C. Groff is a delegate from the local lodge and Miss Elvora Arps of Palatine is a delegate from the local lodge of Rebekahs.

Irene Hanna, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hanna, who live four miles east of this village, has been suffering from infantile paralysis for about six weeks. Dr. W. W. Sheppard was called Tuesday and says that she is affected with a peculiar condition of the disease which doctors do not consider entirely curable.

The Dorcas society of the Baptist church has not yet fixed the exact date of its forthcoming bazaar, but it will be held in the church parlors early next month. One of the features will be a display of hand embroidered work suitable for Christmas gifts, and of a class not easily procurable in the stores.

The Woman's Relief Corps will give a bazaar and chicken pie supper at the village hall next Wednesday afternoon and evening, Nov. 20. The bazaar will commence at three o'clock in the afternoon and they will commence serving supper at five o'clock. The supper will cost 35 cents a plate. Everybody is invited.

Charles Johnson, John L. Meiners and P. A. Hawley of this village, were called this week as jurors in Federal Judge Carpenter's court in Chicago, where George W. Fitzgerald is on trial charged with the theft of $175,000, the Chicago mob-stealer, February 19, 1912. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Meiners were summoned, and Mr. Hawley held over last evening.

FUND FOR TELEPHONE EMPLOYEES

Chicago Telephone Company and Associated Companies Provide $100,000 for Benefits.

A fund of $100,000 for pensions, sick leaves and life insurance will be available on January first for the 175,000 employes of the Bell telephone system and associated interests, and their families and dependents, amounting altogether to more than a quarter of a million people.

This $100,000 fund will be made good from year to year by annual appropriations on the part of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and associated companies, and the Western Union Telegraph company and the Western Electric company. This provision is made entirely at the expense of the telephone companies interested, without contributions of any kind from the employes themselves. The application of these varied benefits will be strictly democratic and will be for the benefit of all employees of every rank. The plan will prevent any change of companies interested, without contributions of any kind from the employes themselves. The application of these varied benefits will be strictly democratic and will be for the benefit of all employees of every rank. The plan will prevent any change of companies interested, without contributions of any kind from the employes themselves.

In announcing the new pension, disability and insurance plan, President B. S. Soney of the Chicago Telephone company will give the following explanation in Chicago—the Chicago Telephone company, Central Union Telephone company, The Cleveland Telephone company, Michigan State Telephone company, and Wisconsin Telephone company will adopt the pension, disability benefits and insurance plan in behalf of their employes.

"The approximate number of employes in the five companies operating in the five states of Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio is 29,000."

Telephone companies are among the largest employers of labor, and the pay rolls are unusually large—the equivalent of 50 per cent of the gross receipts. This is a larger distribution of the gross revenue among the employes than any other industry.

"The pension, disability and insurance plan will be adopted by the telephone companies is another evidence of their determination to retain the services of their employes who can give the best results, and to look after these employees when they are disabled, or are no longer able to work."

LAKE ZURICH.
Get your patent medicines at Emil Frank's.

Carl Ernst made a business trip to Chicago last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tank were Chicago visitors Monday.

Fred Blau and Lydia Hekemeyer were Palatine visitors Sunday.

Emil Frank, John D. Fink and H. L. Frehm made a trip to Chicago Wednesday.

The five-inch well at the local creamery has given out and Mr. Patton has had to apply for city water.

William Graber and Carl Ernst attended a meeting of Lounsbury lodge number 751 A. F. & A. M. at Barrington last Saturday evening.

The work on the new road is progressing rapidly and it is hoped that the bridge over the E. J. & E. will be completed soon. The company has rented a room in the old Ficke hotel for a ticket office.

Plans are being completed for a new four room brick school house at Lake Zurich. It will be equipped with a modern heating and ventilating system, and will cost about $7,000. The actual work of construction will not start until spring.

Fred Hoelt, T. G. Fox and George Steinberg left for the Wisconsin woods last Monday. Mr. Hoelt and Mr. Fox have each bought 100 acres of timber land of which they intend to clear about 40 acres. They expect to be gone about two months.

The passenger engine on the new railroad was put out of commission Sunday by a "crazy" fuse, and "Maud" had to be taken around to the Lake Zurich-Palatine place, by way of Barrington, and made into passenger service until the other engine could be repaired.

A petition is being circulated asking Governor Douse to pardon Joe Meier, who is confined in the county jail at Waukegan.

Elmer Witt was arrested and given a small fine Tuesday at Crystal Lake, Tuesday when he indulged in a brawl with one of the employes in a local village. He is being held in the Barrington jail.

DAIRYMEN PLEASSED WITH MERIT PLAN

Majority of Local Milk Producers Express Satisfaction With Test and Scoring System.

ONE GETS TWENTY-SIX CENTS MORE

All But Seventeen Patrons Get Extra Ten Cents—Farms Will Be Inspected This Month.

Patrons of the local factory of the Bowman Dairy company received their checks this week and had their first opportunity to determine how the new merit system of payment works out. Under this system the company is paying for the six winter months an average of $1.70 per hundred for the milk, (which is the price paid by most of the other companies), but offers 10 cents per hundred additional to all farmers whose farms, upon inspection, score 65 per cent, the score card issued by the Chicago board of health being used. A test for butter fat is also made, and two cents more paid if the milk tests 3.5, and two cents more for each additional one-tenth per cent above the contract price, so that scores will be made if the milk goes to 3.5, with a reduction of two cents for every one-tenth per cent below that figure.

Of the 90 dairies sending milk to the factory here 19 scored 60 per cent or over above the contract price, 28 scored ten cents because the test showed an unnecessary amount of sediment in the milk. Few lost on the butter fat test and a number gained from two to 10 cents by it, two men receiving 16 cents extra upon this test.

The contract price for September was $1.60 per hundred, and there were few who received less than this for their milk, while many were paid considerably more. The lowest man received $1.50, and the highest man, L. L. Porter, received $1.86, which is 26 cents above the contract price. Mr. Porter secured 10 cents upon the score card of his dairy and 16 cents for the butter fat test.

As a whole the milk producers seem to be very well pleased with the result of the system this month, and most of them are expected again this month, a new score card, which will be a little more exacting in its requirements, being used. "The conditions will not be hard to meet, however," he says, "and all milk producers who conduct their dairies with a proper degree of sanitation and care will easily secure the premium."

Harry Frick, manager of the local factory, states that the farms will most likely be inspected again this month, a new score card, which will be a little more exacting in its requirements, being used. "The conditions will not be hard to meet, however," he says, "and all milk producers who conduct their dairies with a proper degree of sanitation and care will easily secure the premium."

Lecture at M. E. Church.
Rev. L. F. W. LeMaster, D. D., district superintendent of the Chicago northern district, was at the Barrington Methodist church last evening and gave an address on the subject of "Modern Methods of Bible Study."

The address dealt largely with the literary features of the bible and was very interesting and instructive. There were about forty persons present. The lecture was given in connection with the course of bible study now being pursued under the direction of the pastor of the church, Rev. O. F. Mattison.

Attend Lodge at Palatine.
Seven members of Lounsbury lodge A. F. & A. M. attended an entertainment at Palatine last evening given by the lodge number 288 of the Barrington Royal Arch Masons, to which lodge they all belong. Four of them were accompanied by their wives. They were Messrs. and Madams L. A. Powers, F. T. Seaver, Ray Cannon and W. A. Shearer, and Messrs. J. H. Purdy, F. O. Willingham and E. Wilmer. The attraction was Chicago Ladies' orchestra.

Has Good Card Rack.
Y. D. Hawley made a shipment of 25 of his new doublets, post cards, post racks to a Canadian jobber, last week. Post card men who have seen the rack speak of it in the highest terms, saying that it is the best article for the purpose they have ever seen above.

There is only one other manufacturer of post card racks in the United States, it is said, and dealers claim his product is far inferior to Mr. Hawley's. It looks as if Mr. Hawley had hit upon a "good thing."

Elgin Butter Market.
Butter was advanced one cent on the Elgin board of trade Monday, being declared firm at 22 cents.

CONCERNING "FOUL AIR."
 This is the season when many householders shut windows and bar doors against the "foul fall air."
 Unfortunately for this plan, fall air is the only air to be had at this time of year. You may take your fall air "raw" and fresh or you may take it close and cooked—but fall air you must have, unless you quit breathing.
 How air is better than foul air. For every cold caught out of doors, twenty are caught in the house, and usually are close, badly ventilated rooms. Fresh air is just as necessary in fall as in spring. In winter as in summer; and those who try to starve their lungs of oxygen always pay the price.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS SAY

Arlington Heights Review: The defeat of County Commissioner Buse is a matter of less interest to his numerous friends in this part of the county as well as a great loss to the county service. Mr. Buse has had a lot of experience with county affairs and has always been found on the right side. He will be heard from again when they find out where they are at.

Chicago Inter Ocean: President-elect Wilson has asked the newspapers to help him find out what the Democratic leaders and the business men of the country think about calling an extra session of Congress next summer to revise the tariff. He has received few or no requests for one so far—none by wire and so far as he knows none by letter.

The country will be pleased to learn that Governor Wilson evidently appreciates what will be the delicacy of his position as the most distinctly "minority" President for half a century. The increasingly visible fact is that the people elected Governor Wilson to make sure of putting an end to the third term idea, and that the Democratic party can claim no distinct popular mandate for revolutionary dealings with the tariff or anything else. It has just a commission to carry on the national government.

If the Democrats are really smart they will let everything wait until they come into power in due course and the regular order. While the Democratic President will be inaugurated on March 4 next, the new Democratic Congress would not, normally, begin work until the December following. That would give the people thirteen months to look about them, get their bearings, take stock of the situation, enjoy their present prosperity, and take a much needed rest.

For seven years this country has been afflicted with political turmoil and chaos. The Inter Ocean believes it voices the feelings of the overwhelming majority of Americans when it says that their chief desire just now is for a rest from political controversy.

AMBIENT TALKS

DETERMINATION IS THE CHIEF FACTOR IN SUCCESS.
 It is the determination to succeed in spite of the lack of advantages that is at the root and base of every true success, and it is because of this fact that opportunity knocks at the door of every man.
 There is much that may be said, with truth, of the power and influence of heredity, through which men and women are cured for generations by the sins of their forefathers or blest by their virtues, but heredity itself cannot furnish cords strong enough to bind forever the hands of the man or woman who is determined to overcome it.
 The stuttering Demosthenes became the world's greatest orator.
 Martin Luther, a miser's son in the world, was to be King was all, and beggar, nothing, because the most influential man in Europe.
 Andrew Carnegie, taken from school at the age of eight to earn his daily bread, has lived to give away $140,000,000, that others may have the educational advantages that were denied him.
 James Gordon Bennett, founder and editor of the New York Herald, and one of the few literary men of the United States who has ever been able to pay his debts, failed five times before success came.
 But these men had determination—that's the thing. It is worth more than all the other advantages of the world combined.

Marshmallows.
 In a mountain camp this summer the cream was short. The campers simply couldn't get it. They didn't even have the canned variety. A box of marshmallows was on the table when the campers sat down to lunch and one of the women looking into her cup of chocolate minus cream, began to eat a mallow. It didn't exactly go to the spot. Neither did the watery chocolate in the cup. She put the two together. The mallow went floating in the cup of chocolate, when, presto! there was something white and foamy! "That was cream! Necessity and accident are indeed the mother and the father of invention. Those people learned before their lunch that the place of marshmallows take the place of cream. They do! They do indeed!"

NO NEED TO WASTE MONEY

Father's Common Sense Answer Should Have Driven Nonsense From the Mind of Son.

A certain well known actor—an established star of the first magnitude, in fact—has a son who has always given the father a great deal of trouble. Despite his inherited talent, which would insure him permanent employment on the stage, the son shows a fondness for living on the income of his parent. He can see no reason why both of them should work.

One time the father got tired of advancing money to the son. An arrangement had been threatened for a long time. Finally, the father sealed the climax when, in response to a written "touch" for $50, he sent the boy a $5 note, with the added advice that that was the last money he should ever advance to him. To this threat the son sent the following answer:

"If you do not send me the $50 I requested I'll use this $5 in the purchase of a revolver and blow my brains out."

The father, in reply to this tragic note, sent back this one:

"I have told you time and again that you will have to quit wasting my money on useless luxuries. Don't spend that $5 for a revolver. Come up to the house and I'll lend you mine."

Plains Within Rat.

The readers of science will never forget the exhibition of a rat which certain gentlemen in the international exhibition. A bunch of its tail produces electricity from the organ. M. Bertrand Leboeuf, the French neurological expert and scientist, discovered that the vibrations of the rat give out electrical energy when properly treated. Making experiments, he found that these waves could be regulated by nerve pressure from an electric battery. The nervous of a rat lead to its sensitive tail, which does many duties besides acting as a tail. In fact, the tail is the most important of the animal's organs, and it is so that it would answer to his least command, but it is on a special diet and has changed his nervous system as electrical battery. The rat became exceedingly sensitive and the notes from his body when treated by the tail quite different. This story did not originate in Warsaw, Dana, but came from a Paris correspondent.

Preventing Corrosive Tails.

To keep tails from rusting, place a sponge saturated with oil on it in the end of the tail.

METHOD OF LOSING FRIENDS

Chronic Grumbler Quickly Becomes Known to a Person Whom It is Well to Avoid.

The chronic grumbler is not a good companion nor in any way an admirable person. We fly from her as from a contagious disease. Nothing so certainly affects one's spirits as being in the constant company of a person who has a grievance.

The chattering of discontent with stanzas, business, dress, or anything in life soon robs us of the countenance of the grumbler. The grumbler is a person who is always complaining and ill-tempered. He is a person who is always complaining and ill-tempered.

On a street car they object to having the windows open, though the air may be laden with impurities from the congestion of the crowd; they scold and fret at the throng or the conductor and rail at Providence in general because everything in life is not arranged with a view to their comfort.

Don't be a chronic grumbler. It doesn't pay to waste one's precious energies that way.—Exchange.

Acquired Information.

KNOW WHAT YOUR IDEAL IS

First Step to Real Success. Through Four Goals to Realize Its Importance.

Several years ago when I filled a position which brought me many visitors each day, and many more letters in the same time, I was overburdened with requests for advice from persons who wished "to succeed," "to accomplish," "to attain." But, as strange as the statement may seem to you, I can truthfully say that not one percent—not one in a hundred of these earnest seekers was able to state exactly what he or she really wanted.

They were dissatisfied and discontented, and felt the vague urge of unrest pushing them forward to further endeavor and attainment—but it stopped right there. Ninety-nine out of every hundred did not know what they wanted. They asked not only for advice regarding the means of accomplishment and attainment but also for information as to what they should really desire.

"Stilly," you exclaim. Not a bit of it. I venture to say to you—yes, you who are now reading these lines, are much better off regarding the means and want of course—but just do you want? Have you a clearly defined idea, and a clear-cut ideal of the object of your desire? Honor bright now, have you?—William Walter Atkinson, in the Nautilus.

Choose An Oil Heater Wisely

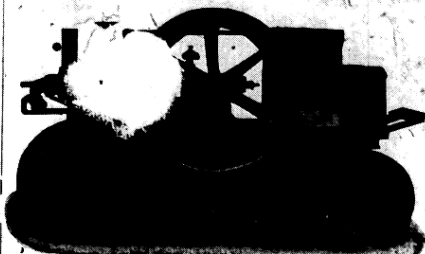

Let us help you—for oil heaters are different—some are better than others. The one sure best for 20 years or more is the one with the best heat for the least cost, is the one with the best service, is the one with the best economy. It costs only one cent an hour, to heat a room.

Built Her Own Home.

Miss Frances Lyon of Westwood has the distinction of being the only woman in New England who lives in a house literally built with her own hands. Miss Lyon belongs to a club whose members are practicing the doctrine of going back to the farm. The club is limited to 40 members and owns property to the amount of $1,000 and about 70 acres of farming land not far from Westwood. Each member holds a deed to one acre and the balance of the land is held in common to be rented to any member who wishes to try farming on a larger scale.

Fashion Note.

Lady Duff Gordon, at a tea at the Ritz-Carlton, praised the paniers which "Everybody" likes it, it is so graceful," she said, smiling. "Everybody likes it except crusty old fellows." She turned to a crusty old fellow upon a Louis Seize chair beside her and continued:

"I know a woman whose husband grieved at her when she tried on a new panier gown for him."

"I don't see why you wear those ridiculous big paniers. You haven't got the hips to fill them."

"The woman blushed and bit her lip. Then she said quietly:

"But do you fill your silk hat, George?"

NOT NEW.

NO MEDICINE
 But Change of Food Gave Final Relief.

Most diseases start in the alimentary canal—stomach and bowels.

A great deal of our stomach and bowel troubles come from eating too much starchy and greasy food.

The stomach does not digest any of the starchy food we eat—white bread, pastry, potatoes, oats, etc.—these things are digested in the small intestine, and if we eat too much, most of us do, the organs that should digest this kind of food are overcome by excess of work, so that fermentation, indigestion, and a long train of ills result.

Too much fat also is hard to digest and this is changed into acids, sour stomach, belching gas, and a bloated, heavy feeling.

In these conditions a change from indigestible foods to Grape-Nuts will work wonders in not only relieving the distress but in building up a strong digestion, clear brain and steady nerves. A Wash woman writes:

"About five years ago I suffered with bad stomach—dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation—caused, I know now, from overeating starchy and greasy food."

"I fasted for two years without any benefit. The doctor told me there was no cure for me. I could not eat anything without suffering severe pain in my back and sides, and I became discouraged."

"A friend recommended Grape-Nuts and I began to use it. In less than two weeks I began to feel better and inside of two months I was a well woman and have ever since."

"I can eat anything I wish with pleasure. We eat Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast and are very fond of it. Name given by Postum Co. Has the little box, 'The Road to Wellville' in shape. There's a reason."

CHAPTER XXI—(Continued).

The first one they labored at, they could not budge after a bludge-battering. The second few up with such ease that they went over backward.

Ashton put his head out and announced that the approaching depot was labelled "Green River." Wellington burred: "What a beautiful name for a station."

Ashton announced that there was something beautiful about the platform—and she's getting on this train."

Even Doctor Temple declared that there was a dear little thing, wasn't she?

Wellington pushed him aside, saying: "Stand back Doc, and let me see; I have a keen sense of beauty!"

"No, you blunder fool. I'm trying to look through my thumb."

"Poor fellow!" sympathized Doctor Temple. "It's a cinder!"

"A cinder! It's at least a ton of it!"

"I say, old boy, let me have a peek," said Wedgewood, screwing in his monocle and peering into the depths of Wellington's eye. "I can't see a bally thing."

"Of course not, with that blinder on," growled the miserable wretch, weeping in spite of himself and rubbing his smarting eye.

"Don't rub that eye," Ashton counselled, "rub the other eye."

"Get my eye, I'll rub it if I want to," cried the doctor, somebody. "I'm dying."

"Here's Doctor Temple," said Ashton, "right on the job." Wellington turned to the old clergyman with pathetic trust, and the deceiver writhed in his disguise. The best he could think of was: "Will somebody lend me a lead pencil?"

"What for?" said Wellington, uneasily.

"I'm going to roll your upper lid up for you," said Doctor Temple.

"Oh, no, you're not," said the patient. "You can roll your own lids!"

Then the conductor, still another conductor, wandered on the scene and asked as if it were not world-impossible matter: "What's the matter—pick up a cinder?"

"Yes. Perhaps you can get it out," the alleged doctor answered.

The conductor nodded: "The best way is in this—take hold of the winkers."

"What's that?" mumbled Wellington.

"Grab the winkers of your upper eyelid in your right hand—"

"I've got 'em."

"Now grab the winkers of your lower eyelid in your left hand. Now raise the right hand, push the under lid under the overlid and haul the overlid over the underlid; when you have the overlid well over the underlid—"

Wellington waved his away: "What do you think I'm trying to do? I'm asking as if it were not world-impossible matter."

"An excellent idea," said Dr. Temple, who had been praying for a reasonable.

He gazed Wellington with difficulty on the observation room and, finding Mrs. Wellington on the desk as usual, he began: "Oh, Mrs. Wellington, may I introduce you to your husband?"

Mrs. Wellington rose haughtily, caught a sight of her suffering conductor and ran to him with a cry of "Jimmie!"

"Secretly!"

"What's happened—are you killed?"

"I'm far from well. But don't worry. My life insurance is paid up."

"Oh, my poor little darling," Mrs. Jimmie uttered, "What on earth has happened?"

"She turned to the doctor. "Is he going to die?"

"I think so," said the doctor. "It's only a bad case of cinder-in-the-eye."

Thus reassured, Mrs. Wellington went into the patient's eye with her stamper-knife. "Is that the eye?" she asked.

"No!" he howled, "the other one."

She went into that and came out with the cinder.

"That's just a tiny speck."

Wellington regarded the mote with amazement. "Is that all? It felt as if I had Pike's Peak in my eye." Then he was kinder. "Oh, Lucetta, how can I ever—"

But she drew away with a disdainful frown. "Give me back my hand, please."

"Now, Lucetta, do," he protested, "don't you think you're carrying this pretty far?"

"Only as far as Reno," she answered grimly, which stung him to retort: "You'd better take the beam out of your own eye, now that you've taken the cinder out of mine, but she, noting that they were the center of interest, observed: "All the passengers are enjoying this, my dear. You'd better go back to the café."

Wellington regarded her with a re-valuation to wrath. He thundered at her: "I will go back, but allow me to inform you, my dear madam, that I'll not drink another drop—just to surfeit you."

Mrs. Wellington shrugged her shoulders at this ancient threat and Jimmie stumbled back to his lair, whither the men followed him. Feeling sympathy impelled to pour out his grief.

"Jellman, I'm a brook's heartless man. Mrs. Well'll be a queen among women, but she has temper of tarant."

Wedgewood broke in: "I say, old boy, you've carried this ballast for three days now, wherever did you get it?"

Wellington drew himself up proudly for a moment before he slumped back into himself. "Well, you see, when I announced to a few friends that it was about to give Mrs. Wellington a divorce, and that I was going out—to—your know."

"Reno. We know, Well."

"Well, a crowd of my friends got up a farewell sort of divorce breakfast, and some of 'em felt so very sad about my divorce that they drank a little too much, and the rest of my friends felt so very glad about my divorce that they drank a little too much. And of course, I had to join both parties."

"And that breakfast," said Ashton, "lasted all the train started, eh?"

Wellington glowered back triumphantly. "Lasted till the train started? Jellman, that breakfast is going yet!"

CHAPTER XXII.

In the Smoking Room.

Wellington's divorce breakfast reminded Ashton of a story. Ashton was one of the great That-Reminds-Me family. Perhaps it was to the credit of the Englishman that he missed the point of his story, even though Jimmie Wellington said it through his fog, and Dr. Temple turned red and buried his eyes in the amended respectable pages of the Scientific American.

Ashton and Wellington and Peedick exchanged winks over the Britisher's state of incomprehension, and Ashton explained it to him again in words of one syllable, with signboards at all the different spots.

Finally a gleam of understanding broke over Wedgewood's face and he tried to justify his delay.

"Oh, yes, of course I see it now. Yes, I rather fancy I get you. It's awfully good, isn't it? I think I should have got it before but I'm not really myself; for two mornings I haven't had my tub."

Wellington shook with laughter: "If you're like this now, what will you be when you get to San Francisco—mean Frinsansisco—well, you know what I mean."

Ashton reached round for the electric button as if he were conferring a favor: "The drinks are on you, Wedgewood. I'll ring." And he rang. "Awfully kind of you," said Wedgewood, "but how do you make that out?"

"The man that mixes the point, pays for the drinks," And he rang again. Wellington protested.

"But I've Jolly well said for all the drinks for two days."

Wellington roared: "That's another point you've missed." And Ashton rang again, by the pale yellow indicator. But Suffolk, dead as a doornail in England, though tall and well shaped as the modern Englishman, resembles the ape-like Neanderthal man of a later age in the very flat and broad posterior part of the skull. He exhibits one peculiarity not found in any other fossil man of queerly shaped legs—namely, the absence of the tail. This report in the London Times says their significance is as yet inexplicable; they probably depend on the manner in which the legs were used in walking."

self, for the others wanted to murder him. Ashton advised a lynching, but Mrs. Wellington said on the scene in time to prevent violence.

Foedick informed him of the irretrievable loss of the useful buffet waiter. The conductor promised to get another at Ogden.

Ashton said: "Have we got to sit here and die of thirst till then?"

The conductor refused to "back up for a second," but offered to send in a sleeping-car porter as a temporary substitute.

He started to go, Foedick, who had been incessantly consulting his watch, checked him to ask: "Oh, conductor, when do we get to the station here of dear old Utah?"

"Dear old Utah!" the conductor grinned. "We'd 'a' been there already if we hadn't 'a' fell behind a little."

"Just my luck to be late," Foedick muttered.

"What you so anxious to be in Utah for, Foedick?" Ashton asked, suspiciously. "You go on to Frisco, don't you?"

Foedick was evidently confused at the direct question. He tried to dodge it: "Yes, but—funny how things have changed. When we started, nobody was speaking to anybody except his wife."

"Now," said Ashton, drily, "everybody's speaking to everybody except his wife."

"You're wrong there," Little Jimmie interrupted. "I wasn't speaking to my wife in the first place. We got on as strangers and we're strangers yet." Wellington is a—
