"Foot of Venus"
Mrs. R. R. Hammond will review "The Foot of Venus" by George Conyn for a study group at the home of Mrs. Robert Work at 2 p. m. Thursday. The story is a vivid picture of the turbulent twelfth century and of one Pietro Vdaj, troubador, soldier, lover, vengeful, a traitor, and of the Venetian Doge and the emperor of the East. It is a story of the crusades when Richard the Lion-Hearted was changing the map of Europe, when the Pope, the Venetian Doge and the emperor of the East were all powerful. It is the middle ages, dramatic, romantic, and fearfully tragic, fascinatingly told and beautifully written.
