

B. H. S. Wrestling Tourney in Session

First Round Bout Completed; Decide Champs Next Week

Local Boys Show Up Well Despite Only Three Weeks' Training

Exciting battles in the wrestling tourney which is being held at the high school, the matches are run on a basis—two falls deciding the winner.

In the 110 class Brown beat Fletcher in the first round. In the 120 class saw three falls—Lee beat Hodgen, and in the 130 class Putschow planned a hard battle. In the 140 class Kerabach and Mendenhall. The best of the week were fought by the class with Hetchings and the time to beat the class.

W. C. O'Brien, who won the first round, is the third necessitating a second. With both wrestlers in the verge of exhaustion, the time to beat the class has advanced to the point where the champions will be decided the first of the week.

Witte's Team Wins B.H.S. Zoo League Basketball Crown

Witte's team won the first round of the 1934 Zoo League basketball tourney. The result of the game was a 25-10 victory for Witte over the Nottz team.

The Zoo League of the local high schools is in its second year. Witte's team has enjoyed a season. Two new recruits—Witte's team has up a new high name in the Nottz team and in the same game was challenged up 25-10.

Try Out New Trick, Baseball Teams

The baseball and softball teams should be materially benefited this season because of the new policy men of the school. The school will be allowed to try out new trick men in track events and baseball. Last year's baseball and track teams were both successful and Barrington's teams as some men in both sports, had to contend with one of the two, with the strongest men in the teams should be better than last season.

British's Radium Supply

There are only seventy grammes of radium—about one-tenth of the world's supply—in Britain, but this small amount—less than three ounces—is sufficient to employ a small army of experts at the various distribution centers in London. It falls to them to fill minute platinum or gold needles, tubes or stainless steel plungers with milligrammes of radium salts—about as nerve-racking tasks as you could possibly imagine. The tubes are for shipment to hospitals and clinics, to be used in the treatment of cancer and other malignant diseases.

The City of Caracas

Founded in 1567 by Don Diego de Lozada, a Spanish captain, who gave the site the name of Santiago de Leon, which is still to be found in modern public documents, Caracas is a city of some 110,000 inhabitants. Although situated within ten degrees of the equator, its high altitude gives it a climate of perpetual spring, with pale blue skies almost always unclouded and the temperature seldom rising above 80 degrees. Here in this mountain capital, Bolivar, Venezuela's liberator, was born, and the city still retains much of the atmosphere of old colonial Spain.

Asphalt Widely Scattered

Asphalt, which has played such an important part in the development of the motor roads of the nation, derives its name from the Latin name of the dead sea, Lacus Asphaltites. Asphalt was plentiful in the Dead sea. Now it is found in France, Peru, Cuba, southern California, Switzerland, Trinidad and Venezuela. Small deposits are found in other parts of the United States than California, but the principal source of supply is the California deposits in the domestic field and Trinidad in the import field. The Venezuelan field is believed to contain as much as 6,000,000 tons of the asphalt which is being removed by American concerns at the rate of 100,000 tons a year. Considerable of the amount taken out each year is replaced by fresh supplies which are constantly oozing into the lake.

Fabian Socialism
The Fabian society was organized in London, England, for the advancement of Socialism in this country. The name was chosen because of the Roman general Fabius and his policy of delay, that is, the slogan of molasses is a social revolutionary tendency. When the organization of the society was spread to many other countries and has carried on an active propaganda through the press and for centuries. It works nationalization of such and such industries and can be conveniently managed as well as the disappearance of the class and equality of opportunity.

Dones and Blood
Recent experiments showed that the narrow human bones fracture. In man the source of the blood cells may be as much as per cent of the body weight.
