

Waukegan Taxpayers Turn Down Municipal Plant Proposal by 3 to 1 Vote

By a vote of more than three to one, citizens of Waukegan rejected a proposal toward the establishment of a municipally-owned and operated electric light and power plant for their city at the polls April 17.

While the issue before Waukegan voters was only the final step in the direction of establishment of a municipal plant, its defeat is taken as an important indication of the public attitude toward municipal plants in cities already adequately served with electricity from other sources.

Those opposed to the city-owned plant pointed to the fact that municipal plants have not generally brought lower electric rates in Illinois, whereas the record of the privately operated electric system serving Waukegan showed a voluntary rate reduction in the past two years. Further emphasis was placed upon the cost of the proposed preliminary survey and the estimated cost of a municipal plant which at the outset, would have been of questionable economic value to taxpayers of the community.

Animals of British Malaya The more common domesticated animals in British Malaya are the water buffaloes and goats. The first suckle their calves and also provide milk for the infants of the natives for the coolies. The buffaloes are mostly used for transport and agricultural purposes, so are the water buffaloes. The goats are mainly bred for killing and the milk is seldom used.

Charleston Has Famed Gardens Within a few miles of Charleston, S. C. are two internationally famed garden estates, noted for their beautiful and rare plants. Middleton Gardens, of Middleton Place, laid out in 1720, are the oldest landscape gardens in America. Magnolia Gardens, of Magnolia-on-the-Ashley, developed in 1843, are among the "most beautiful in the world."

Scouts to Collect Books for Library, Toys for Children

Continued from page 1 Leaders decided housewives might come across articles they no longer desire at housecleaning time, it was reported. Local residents may cooperate with good turn day by putting aside all such donations in a box until the boy scouts call, according to those in charge. The date of next good turn day will be announced after members of the Barrington district committee of boy scouts have their April meeting at 202 S. Cook street at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, April 26.

Annual boy scout rally of the Northwest council is to be held in Lyons park north of Des Plaines Saturday, May 19, according to plans formulated at a meeting of the commissioner's staff, held in Niles Center last Monday evening. The program will start at 9 a. m. with competitive events in the afternoon. Some of the troops will probably bring camping equipment to remain overnight and return home the next Sunday morning.

Men attending the Monday night at Des Plaines will meet at Camp Oh-Do-Ko-Ta May 5 and 6.

Atmosphere at the Poles When the pressure is diminished the air flows spirally outward, and where it is low the directions of the air currents round about are more or less regular. As a rule, the surface air flows outward from the region of each pole, and of course a corresponding amount of the upper air inward. The conclusion reached, therefore, that the surface pressure is higher at least higher than that of the air at the same level on such considerable distance round about the poles is supported by the relatively few observations obtained near the poles.

Northwestern Packing Co. Is Reopened Under New Management This Week

The Northwestern Packing Co., located at Hough street (Barrington road) and Dundee road will be opened under new management, according to announcement made this week. R. H. Heybeck and D. L. Plumer have taken over the company as announced in an advertisement on another page of The Review and are conducting a complete packing and meat wholesale business.

Two other business changes are being planned in Barrington. Gruber and Hutchins barber shop will be moved to North Hough street, several doors south of the post office, in the near future. A delicatessen store will be opened in a building on West Main street west of Fredlund Drug store within a few weeks.

Emblem of Longevity The stork pattern, which is so frequently seen woven into Chinese rugs, is the emblem of longevity. A black stork in the design of a rug is particularly significant, for in ancient days it was believed that storks turned black after they became 1,000 or 2,000 years old.

English Buried Hoards When They Left France

There are at least 35 known French towns and villages in which tradition relates the presence of hidden treasure. Many of these hidden hoards were once in English hands, relate a writer in the Montreal Herald. When the English were driven out of France by Charles VII in the Fifteenth century they are said to have hastily buried masses of treasure, expecting to return soon.

In recent years, when the famous underground caves at Padraic were sold to a tourist company which exploits them as a tourist center, the former owners provided in the sale contract that they would have half of "any English treasure" found in the course of reconstruction.

At Trier (Seine-at-Orne) can be seen the "House of Treasure" built on the ruins of a castle in which William the Conqueror hid his treasure before setting forth for England. Later on, Bonnie Prince Charlie lived in this house in his closing years, and he is said to have buried the crown of the ancient kings of England in the ground.

Anthocyanin Colors Leaves

The brilliant red color of maple and sumac leaves in autumn is due to the presence of the pigment anthocyanin. This pigment is formed when certain food substances in the leaves are subjected to several days of strong sunlight. Therefore the coloring is more brilliant in those years when sudden cool temperatures at night, which arrest the removal of the food substances, are followed by a succession of bright sunny days.

Young Penguins

A curious thing about the penguin birds of the Antarctic is that their offspring often grow nearly as big as the parent birds before they are able to feed without the latter's help.

State Policeman Warns Against Dumping Rubbish

A rubbish fire which started in a subdivision at Hillside avenue, last week-end nearly set fire to a house, state policeman William Gallagher reported. He issued a warning that anyone found dumping rubbish on that site or setting fires in that vicinity would be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. The state policeman's attention was called to the dumping of rubbish and subsequent fire because the subdivision is outside of village limits and therefore beyond village jurisdiction.
