Fourteen laborers and a time keeper under the FERA are scheduled to arrive in Barrington Monday morning to start work on the public school building in accordance with remodeling plans approved under the 1931 recodification. Supt. E. S. Smith was notified Wednesday when an assignment officer of the FERA came to complete arrangements for the work.

A second shift, including 14 laborers, 2 carpenters and a time keeper will be available next Thursday, he told Mr. Smith, as local persons are becoming hopeful that the former plans will materialize in spite of a recent cut in PER pay rates, eliminating thousands of workmen.

There will be no local workmen in the group, no Barrington citizens being listed as available. Any who are eligible should get in touch with a case worker who will be at the village hall Friday morning. Mr. Smith reported that the employment is given only to those whose applications are approved by a case worker.

The first work will include building of a new boiler room, it was announced. The project, if completed, would also include remodeling of the school offices, and making former boiler rooms into a workshop for manual training and mechanical drawing.

A payroll of $12,000 had been granted on condition that school district number 4 will pay for materials needed in the project. It is about $4000. The appropriation stated that work must begin May 21 and be finished July 31.

Masonic funeral services for George W. Nightingale, former village trustee, who died suddenly at the Frances Willard hospital Sunday evening, were held at his home, 435 E. Main street, at 1:30 p. m.
