Board of Review Orders Personal Property in Waukegan Re-Assessed

All personal property owners residing in Waukegan township have been ordered to appear before the Lake county board of review to show cause if any review personal assessment should not be increased.

This is the result of a two to one decision of the board of which H. D. Kelsey of Barrington is chairman, embodied in a resolution to affect a more equitable distribution of tax charges.

Mr. Kelsey and James King voted in favor of the resolution which probably will result in a Waukegan increase in total personal property tax. Frank McDermott voted against it.

Mr. Kelsey explained the step by stating that in examining the tax books now on file the board decided that personal property assessments lack equality and uniformity. Some of the property owners, it was indicated, who are believed to own considerable personal property have not included all their holdings on the reports filed by the township assessor. Others have been deeply cut by township Assessor Ross Afford, while a few have been heavily increased.
