

BARRINGTON REVIEW

ESTABLISHED 1885

LESLIE W. McLEURE, Editor and Publisher

WALTER R. WINTERINGHAM, Business Director and Foreman

ILLINOIS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Published every Thursday afternoon at Barrington, Illinois, and entered as Second-class matter at the Barrington post office under Act of March 3, 1879.

All communications should be addressed to the BARRINGTON REVIEW, 110 W. Main Street, Barrington, Illinois. Cards of thanks, resolutions of condolence, obituaries, poetry, memorials, and all notices of entertainments or society and church sales and parties given for pecuniary benefit will be charged for.

TELEPHONE, BARRINGTON NO. 1

APPLIES TO BARRINGTON, TOO

The government has been pouring out relief funds for two years. There has been an emergency and it was imperative that relief be given millions of people. In this land of plenty no one should go hungry nor be cold for lack of clothes. But the public relief has been abused, and its high time that men and women for their own future welfare take stock of their situation. We do not want to have our people become improvident and shiftless dependents.

Relief workers report that it is difficult or even impossible to induce some persons who are asking for public relief to go to the exertion of planting a garden of canning vegetables or fruits. Men have been hired to grow community gardens, and women are to be paid for their services in canning the vegetables from these gardens. The canned goods will then be given to the people who are in need of food next winter. The garden and canning projects are commendable enterprises. There are families in this county where the mother in the household is ill and who has not the strength or the equipment with which to can the vegetables. She and her family must be given food that has been prepared for them.

But according to reports there are men and women who have the physical strength to plant and care for gardens and the produce from them who simply neglect to do so through shiftlessness. These people will have to be fed; they cannot be allowed to starve, but the brunt of public opinion should bear down heavily on them. It is disgraceful for a person to ask for public charity or to take food and supplies from public relief agencies who do not actually need them.

The greatest recovery program that could be launched in this country would be to arouse the latent spark of pride in self-support. It is demoralizing to have thousands of people in this state maintained by public charity. We need more of the spirit of the pioneers.—Union, Princeton, Minn.

PRESIDENT IS RESPONSIBLE

Today, the composite opinion of the public, as expressed through the press, is that President Roosevelt, sincere and courageous as he is, is listening to some bad advice. How soon he will discard this advice remains to be demonstrated. The Washington Star, decidedly friendly toward the new deal and known as "slow to condemn," appears to have summarized the general trend of opinion in an editorial that said, in part:

"President Roosevelt—whether he knows it or not, whether he likes it or not, and whether he intends it or not—is, by his actions and his utterances, stifling the established business life of the nation he wishes to lead into happier days. "Whatever his motives and whatever his ultimate goal, he cannot be relieved from the large responsibility for the present mood of American industry, or from the fact that that mood is contributing more to American unhappiness and demoralization than any other factor in the equation of our national depression.

With all respect to those who are recognized as "close to the president," it is timely to say that when public opinion is thus interpreted by the conservative press the president should take stock of his advisers.

American industry is seriously disturbed. How much reason it has to be thus distributed is open to dispute, but the fact that industry fears many of the radical departures from tested practices should command attention of public officials all the way from the president down.

SMALL HOMES NEEDED

There are two crying needs in this country. One is particularly the problem of the towns and the other applies to both towns and rural areas. During the last few months there have been a score or more of persons in this office inquiring for a small modern home. Most houses are too large for the average salaried man. These larger houses were built in every country town a few years ago when building costs were less. The smaller houses built at that time were largely of cheap construction and often were not, and have not since been made modern. If rents ever reach a point where they will pay the landlord even a small return for his investment, there should be a spurge of modernizing of small houses and the remodeling of larger houses into compact livable apartments. One must remember that an automobile radio, iceless refrigerator and a few other modern inventions are a necessary part of the salaried man's household equipment. He cannot afford a large home. Further, and mighty significant, we believe, there are more and more salaried men coming to live in rural centers. They like the environment. They believe it is a wholesome and healthy place to rear and educate their children. They tell us they have more real friends and more real enjoyment in smaller cities. They mention our schools, our hospitals, our golf course, the park and the reasonable prices charged by merchants. This we believe is one of the outstanding needs—more small, modern living quarters for small families.—Republican News, St. Johns, Mich.

Asked for an illustration of indirect taxation a bright student suggested the dog tax, "because the dog doesn't pay it."

WHAT'S GOING ON IN WASHINGTON

(Courtesy The United States News)

There's another climax in the relations of employers and employees. The textile controversy is but one symptom. The issues are far deeper than those raised in the textile dispute. For the national labor relations board has just issued a decision compelling the minority in every plant to accept as their agents the persons chosen by the majority. The right of the right of an individual or group of individuals or to be represented by spokesmen of their own choosing is the opposite of the collective bargaining. It is a denial or the right of agency. And it means trouble. The automobile industry fought it hard and the code agreement signed permitted the minority to be represented by its own spokesmen. The employees and employers in other industries will have to make their own fight for these rights. Apparently under the new deal the majority has the upper hand which is denied another industry.

Trying to show that government expenditures were well under control and that the costs of the new deal to-date had been exaggerated, Mr. Morgenthau said that the government's $2,500,000,000 levelation profit would be used ultimately to reduce the national debt. That was construed in some quarters as meaning that levelation profit would use this "profit" to meet its maturities falling due in September and October. That would mean inflation. The rumor persisted and the bond market remained depressed. Mr. Morgenthau hastened to Hyde Park on Friday to discuss the situation with the president and after a conference of several hours during the treasury announced, on Friday, that the new plan for the September and October maturities amounting to about a billion and three-quarters would be paid off in new government bonds. In other words, the dollar-devaluation "profit" would not be used.

The administration is nervous about how the financial world will take its next financing. This is but natural. There have been no new investments in the stock since the last big treasury issue. Government trust funds have had to be used to bolster up the government security market. But while it is natural for the administration to wait till the last minute before announcing its September

No Jules Verne, creator of fantasy, is the bureau of air commerce. Under this plan the federal government would give the states one-third of the amount needed for old-age pensions. There are critics who have old-age pension law.

Am I Right, or Am I Right? Love is blind—will write brings in her first batch of biscuits. Silence is golden—to all but politicians. A fine tub should stand on its own bottom—but not a false one. Health is wealth—if you can make a living at it.

Our Children By Angelo Patri, C. Bell Syndicate—WNU Service

Forcing Rightness. "What he said as well give up your own ideas. Rights comes of right thinking and right thinking is the opposite of force. You can force a child's body, for a time, but you cannot force his thinking for a single instant. You have to cultivate his thinking by suggestion, example, situation, but you have to leave the result to him.

Two wrongs do not make one right. Suppose the wrong person is thinking wrong. Will he think right if you impose the weight of your authority to make him think right? Not a thought's worth. When you command him to think your way by forcing him to obey your commands you do two things. You increase his dislike for your idea. You increase his faith in his own ideas. He will resolve to prove himself right at the first chance. That means at the first time he is free of your authority he will try out his own way.

It may be very wrong. That means he is in great need of your help. Study how you can put the right idea before him so he can see it. Children are not wilfully blind.

One day young Peter asked his father to give him permission to sail the boat alone for his dock to one mile away, all by himself. "I want to be all alone by myself with nobody with me."

Church News

ST. MATTHEW EV. LUTHERAN (Misquok Synod) Cor. Coolidge Ave. and Hill Street

9:30 a. m. Graded Sunday school and Adult Bible class. Because of mission festival services in the afternoon and evening the regular morning services will be dropped.

SAINT PAUL EVANGELICAL 9:30 a. m. Bible school. 10:35 a. m. Morning worship in English. At this service the St. Paul choir, under the direction of Mrs. August Reiter, will resume its ministry of music.

SALEM EVANGELICAL 9:30 a. m. Sunday school. E. W. Piaggio and Donald Lindner, superintendents.

GRIST from the MILL By Clarence Miller

Am I Right, or Am I Right? Love is blind—will write brings in her first batch of biscuits. Silence is golden—to all but politicians. A fine tub should stand on its own bottom—but not a false one. Health is wealth—if you can make a living at it.

OUR CHILDREN By Angelo Patri, C. Bell Syndicate—WNU Service

Forcing Rightness. "What he said as well give up your own ideas. Rights comes of right thinking and right thinking is the opposite of force. You can force a child's body, for a time, but you cannot force his thinking for a single instant. You have to cultivate his thinking by suggestion, example, situation, but you have to leave the result to him.

Two wrongs do not make one right. Suppose the wrong person is thinking wrong. Will he think right if you impose the weight of your authority to make him think right? Not a thought's worth. When you command him to think your way by forcing him to obey your commands you do two things. You increase his dislike for your idea. You increase his faith in his own ideas. He will resolve to prove himself right at the first chance. That means at the first time he is free of your authority he will try out his own way.

It may be very wrong. That means he is in great need of your help. Study how you can put the right idea before him so he can see it. Children are not wilfully blind.

One day young Peter asked his father to give him permission to sail the boat alone for his dock to one mile away, all by himself. "I want to be all alone by myself with nobody with me."

High School

Gold First Drill Wednesday, 35 Huskies Turn Out

ST. JAMES' 8:00 p. m. Evening service. Speaker, Rev. M. N. Carter of Chicago. "Go to therefore and teach all nations." Matt. 28, 19.

SAINT PAUL EVANGELICAL 9:30 a. m. Bible school. 10:35 a. m. Morning worship in English. At this service the St. Paul choir, under the direction of Mrs. August Reiter, will resume its ministry of music.

SALEM EVANGELICAL 9:30 a. m. Sunday school. E. W. Piaggio and Donald Lindner, superintendents.

GRIST from the MILL By Clarence Miller

Am I Right, or Am I Right? Love is blind—will write brings in her first batch of biscuits. Silence is golden—to all but politicians. A fine tub should stand on its own bottom—but not a false one. Health is wealth—if you can make a living at it.

OUR CHILDREN By Angelo Patri, C. Bell Syndicate—WNU Service

Forcing Rightness. "What he said as well give up your own ideas. Rights comes of right thinking and right thinking is the opposite of force. You can force a child's body, for a time, but you cannot force his thinking for a single instant. You have to cultivate his thinking by suggestion, example, situation, but you have to leave the result to him.

Two wrongs do not make one right. Suppose the wrong person is thinking wrong. Will he think right if you impose the weight of your authority to make him think right? Not a thought's worth. When you command him to think your way by forcing him to obey your commands you do two things. You increase his dislike for your idea. You increase his faith in his own ideas. He will resolve to prove himself right at the first chance. That means at the first time he is free of your authority he will try out his own way.

It may be very wrong. That means he is in great need of your help. Study how you can put the right idea before him so he can see it. Children are not wilfully blind.

One day young Peter asked his father to give him permission to sail the boat alone for his dock to one mile away, all by himself. "I want to be all alone by myself with nobody with me."

High School

Gold First Drill Wednesday, 35 Huskies Turn Out

ST. JAMES' 8:00 p. m. Evening service. Speaker, Rev. M. N. Carter of Chicago. "Go to therefore and teach all nations." Matt. 28, 19.

SAINT PAUL EVANGELICAL 9:30 a. m. Bible school. 10:35 a. m. Morning worship in English. At this service the St. Paul choir, under the direction of Mrs. August Reiter, will resume its ministry of music.

SALEM EVANGELICAL 9:30 a. m. Sunday school. E. W. Piaggio and Donald Lindner, superintendents.

GRIST from the MILL By Clarence Miller

Am I Right, or Am I Right? Love is blind—will write brings in her first batch of biscuits. Silence is golden—to all but politicians. A fine tub should stand on its own bottom—but not a false one. Health is wealth—if you can make a living at it.

OUR CHILDREN By Angelo Patri, C. Bell Syndicate—WNU Service

Forcing Rightness. "What he said as well give up your own ideas. Rights comes of right thinking and right thinking is the opposite of force. You can force a child's body, for a time, but you cannot force his thinking for a single instant. You have to cultivate his thinking by suggestion, example, situation, but you have to leave the result to him.

Two wrongs do not make one right. Suppose the wrong person is thinking wrong. Will he think right if you impose the weight of your authority to make him think right? Not a thought's worth. When you command him to think your way by forcing him to obey your commands you do two things. You increase his dislike for your idea. You increase his faith in his own ideas. He will resolve to prove himself right at the first chance. That means at the first time he is free of your authority he will try out his own way.

It may be very wrong. That means he is in great need of your help. Study how you can put the right idea before him so he can see it. Children are not wilfully blind.

One day young Peter asked his father to give him permission to sail the boat alone for his dock to one mile away, all by himself. "I want to be all alone by myself with nobody with me."

OLD WOOD BLOCK STYLE STATIONERY

The swanky modern stationery with the old time charm. The cleverest stationery on the market and the biggest value at this remarkable low price.

This tricky stationery which has created such a sensation among the "Smart Sets" everywhere may be had in White, Ivory, Green, Blue, Orchid, or Tan Vellum of an excellent heavy weight quality.

50 Bi-Fold Sheets 50 Envelopes $1.10 BOX

Including your name in Red, Green, Brown or Blue Old Wood Block style lettering across the upper left hand corner of the sheet.

Call is Issued for Candidates of Local Semi-Pro Grid Team

Candidates for the Barrington Semipro football team, which will open its second year of play, are urged to come on for the first practice of the season to be held at 8 p. m. on Friday at the North Side park.

So That's It! The riding of the upper lip when a young lady is said to be high is the universal care lady who has been her hair done but it doesn't do her any good.

Buddha Looks Jewish In Kobe, a large city in Japan, is a famous figure of Buddha with a distinctive Hebrew cast.

GOLD STAR MOTOR SERVICE, INC. 217 E. Madison St. BARRINGTON, ILL. Tel. 52 Furniture Moving STORAGE PACKING SHIPPING HOVAL & LONG DISTANCE CLOSET REMOVALS CLOSET VAN'S LOADS INSURED General Cartage Contractors

BARRINGTON REVIEW Tel. Barrington 1