Barrington
Woman's Club

The seventh district American Homes department will sponsor an exhibit of hobbies at Jefferson Park Field house, Higgins road and Long avenue, Nov. 22. Painted rugs, mats, crocheted and crocheted articles, handmade by club women in their leisure time, will be shown. There will also be a food show. Cakes, breads, pies, canned fruit, pickles and jams may be entered.

Those who attended the exhibit, two years ago will remember the very fine exhibit Barrington women had on display. It is hoped that ours this year will be equally interesting.

The November issue of the Illinois Federation News is off the press. In addition to articles by state officers and chairmen, this issue has information concerning the state poetry contest for club women. In the poetry contest a prize of $5 will be awarded for the best contribution, $3 for second, and there will be three honorable mentions.

In the short story contest, first prize will be $15, second $10 and there will be two honorable mentions. Entries must be in the hands of district literature chairman not later than March 15, 1935. Those interested in either contest may secure further information from Mrs. Lester Higgins, literature and public library chairman.

Mrs. Grant Sibley and Mrs. Cecil Kellam, chairman of the philanthropy committee, drove to the Little Wanderers' Day Nursery, Chicago, Tuesday, taking our club contributions to the seventh district "round party" at the nursery. Our members contributed more than 130 pounds of food-stuffs including rice, prunes, butter, flour, sugar and eggs as well as canned goods. Thirty pounds of jelly left from the club buffet supper last year were included with the gifts, members of the ways and means committee having suggested they be given to the Little Wanderers' Day Nursery. Miss Ann Brackett, superintendent of the nursery, was extremely grateful for the generous contributions, it was reported. Members of the local committee take this opportunity to thank all donors for their cooperation. Further gifts may be sent with toys at Christmas time.

Radio stations WCFL and WJJD have given time for weekly broadcasts by club women and the November radio program is listed in this issue of the Federation News. Mrs. Roy Hutchison, seventh district president, will talk over WCFL at 4:30 p. m. Monday, Nov. 19.

A resume of William Reichman's review of "Hitler Europe" by Ernst Henri scheduled to be presented at the library Thursday afternoon, will be given next week.

Start Rehearsals for Junior Class Play to Be Presented Nov. 16

"Sliding," a three-act play by Aurania Rouverol, will be presented by the Junior class of Barrington high school Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 16-17. It is being directed by Miss Ethel Schwab and rehearsals are now under way.

Humor and pathos are intermingled in the plot which concerns an American family and especially Marion Hardy, a college girl who falls in love just as she is about to start her career. Political troubles of Judge Hardy, domestic troubles of two pretty young daughters who marry before finishing school and then come home to mother with their worries, Mother Hardy's strike which she hopes will iron out family problems and her young son's first "case" are involved in the play. Selection of a cast will be announced later.
