Lawrence-Becker Nuptials Saturday

Miss Eva Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lawrence, became the bride of George Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. August Becker, of Arlington Heights, at the local Methodist parsonage at six o'clock Saturday with Rev. H. L. Kagle officiating. Miss Dorothy Becker, a sister of the groom, and Leonard Jullio served as attendants.

After the service, a wedding dinner was served to members of the immediate families at the home of the bride's parents. Later that evening, a wedding reception was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Taylor in Arlington Heights. There were 32 guests present.

The bride was gowned in blue with white accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of sweet peas and yellow roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Becker will make their home in Barrington.

Yokes for Gossips Used to Punish Early Scolds

The most effective punishment that can be administered to any wrongdoer, according to criminologists, is to yoke the malefactor a dose of his own medicine. At least, that was the method used during the sixteenth century to punish scolds and gossips. Gossips and scolds were punished by being yoked together and made to talk incessantly until they not only ran out of something to talk about, but were winded by the war of words. The "scold yoke" was a part of the regular equipment of every medieval jail. This yoke consisted of a board which was hinged together in such a way that two women could be yoked into it at one time. The head went through one hole and the hands through others. In this way they could express their views of each other with entire freedom, but with the assurance that the opposite party could not hit back. The offenders who were confined in this species of pillory often wore themselves out in denouncing each other, and sometimes would fall down on the ground together, totally exhausted. -Montreal Herald.

The U. S. Coast Guard

The coast guard service of the United States is under the jurisdiction of the Treasury department created by the act approved January 28, 1915, whereby the revenue cutter and life saving services of the United States were merged into one organization, to be known thereafter as the coast guard. The coast guard is essentially an emergency force and may be called upon for any special work of a nature for which no other vessels are provided. It is a military arm of the government, its officers being commissioned by the president, and holding rank with officers of the army and navy.
