Why Athletics?

By MAHRE H. STARK Athletic Director, Charleston (W. Va.) High School

Following is the first of a series of articles by Paul E. Clark, director of athletics at the Barrington public school, for publication. The series is being run in conjunction with the opening of the school athletic program, and particularly the football season.

The importance and necessity of athletics in our public schools, colleges and universities is realized now as never before. We are finding with alarming rapidity that individuals are coming to adult life with inferior blood, deficient vigor, as well as lack of control. An individual cannot be happy and contented unless he possesses physical health and no person can be of his greatest usefulness unless he has strength and endurance.

Athletics and Citizenship Proper and efficient organized athletics play a vital part in training the worthy citizen. No other branch of school activity calls forth such spontaneous enthusiasm of youth as participation in wholesome athletics. An athletic program develops traits of sportsmanship, leadership, loyalty, cooperation and team work. Certainly these traits are desired for future citizenship.

Closely connected with good citizenship is the question of worthy use of leisure time. The late Coach Knute Rockne said that he did not worry about the time his boys were in school or at home but was vitally interested in what they did between school hours and bed time. Our modern program of athletics must provide the student with leisure hours, if it is to be a vital part of the athlete's life. We must, when working out our athletic programs, include all branches of sports that will carry over into the adult life.

Aim of Athletics Athletics aims to provide an opportunity for the individual to act in situations which are physically wholesome, mentally and socially sound, and stimulating and instructive. Not only is the athlete being taught physically but he is being taught mentally, socially and morally. The program includes team work, wholesome play and coordination. He is taught service to society now and to the unborn of the coming generations. Fair dealing with the victor and the vanquished, and how to live the right kind of healthful life which will set an example before associates in and out of school.

Athletics brings into existence a camaraderie of spirit as well as the competitive strain which so typifies the normal individual athlete. In this you find the necessity for absolute unity. Thought and action which ultimately breaks down class differences. Through athletics we build intelligence, character, physical soundness and develop rational power. What shall it profit a community if it gains riches and influence and loses the health of its own boys and girls? We, therefore, hand all need training to the end that the individual may have a keen intellect, a sound character, and an active, healthy and energetic body.

during body. A sound mind and sound body are necessary one to the other and it is the duty of athletics to slight neither, but to coordinate the two into a harmonious whole.

Objectives There is a general agreement among athletic authorities that these are the objectives of an athletic program: To promote health, to build character, to educate for the proper use of leisure time through wholesome play and recreation, and to promote better and worthy citizenship.

J.L. Clements Is Injured in Crash

J. L. Clements, principal of Elk township high school at Lake Zurich, suffered injuries about the head and body when the car he was driving crashed into another near Markon Mich. last week.

Mr. Clements and his family were on their way to his summer home when the accident occurred. The Clements' car was completely wrecked. It was the only one to suffer any injuries.

According to reports, the accident occurred when another motorist coming from the opposite direction made a left hand turn in front of the Lake Zurich man's machine.

Lake County Not to Make Judicial Bid

Statements from both republican and democratic leaders in Lake county this week indicated they would not have candidates from Lake county in the contest for the circuit judicial vacancy at the special election December 7.

Although awaiting meetings with party leaders from the other three counties in the judicial circuit, Boone, McHenry and Winnebago, Lake county party heads were of the opinion their organizations would leave the selection of candidates to the others due to the fact that Judge Ralph Dady of Waukegan is from Lake county. The special election was called by Governor Henry Horner last month to fill the vacancy left by the death of the late Judge Edward Shurtleff of Moringo.

Farm Team Bolts; Crashes In Ditch

A team of horses owned by Leroy Landwer of Lake Zurich narrowly escaped serious injury Tuesday afternoon when they bolted across a field and crashed into a ditch at the curve on route 22 near the west Lake Zurich limits.

The team was hitched to a hay rake and was working in a nearby field. When the driver left them for a few minutes, they bolted, dashed down an embankment and across the highway where both crashed into a ditch. They were knocked from their feet and the hay rake smashed. Passing motorists went to their aid.
