collected over a period of 10 years starting next summer. The tax levied in any one year is not to exceed 15 cents per $100 property valuation.

A recommendation by the sanitarium board that $129,000 be appropriated for the coming year was rejected by the board of supervisors as too high compared to the country's assessed valuations.

On the passage of the appropriation ordinance and tax levy for the tuberculosis sanitarium the cost of caring for tuberculosis patients in the county, now being met by various townships, will have to be paid for by the sanitarium board from the contemplated revenue.

The appearance of the tax levy for the sanitarium may possibly be offset by a reduction in poor relief costs of the various townships.

WE DELIVER

Chicago Automobile Show on Nov. 6-13

Because they traditionally mark the inauguration of a new selling season for a giant among the industries the forthcoming automobile shows are decidedly in the limelight just now. For the third year in a row, they are to be held during the late fall, and concentrated within the space of a month from coast to coast.

Particular interest is focused, for a number of reasons, upon the spectacular 38th annual Chicago automobile show to be staged at the International Amphitheatre during the week of November 6 to 13, inclusive.

In the first place, the Chicago presentation will be the nation's largest and most ambitious of those in any city in the number of exhibits, the amount of space occupied and the dramatic showmanship that will attract some 500,000 visitors to the displays of passenger cars, trucks, trailers, and accessories.

An air of optimism dominates the industry as the show season draws near. Manufacturers are able to point with pride to a sharp increase this year over last in production, sales and new vehicle registrations despite factory tie-ups earlier in the selling season, due to labor troubles. Several months this year, in fact, turned in sales rates over the corresponding months during 1935, when the automotive industry reached its all-time peak.

Ideally suited and laid out for such a show, the International Amphitheatre contains 255,000 square feet of floor space. Modern in construction, it has the advantage of excellent ventilation and lighting, ramps and stairs making all exhibits readily accessible on the second floor, and an arrangement whereby all displays may be conveniently viewed by every visitor, as well as free parking under protection for 10,000 motor vehicles on sales grounds.

The car, truck, trailer and accessory exhibits will vie with the drama in the central arena in points of animation and interest.

Every feature of American passenger car and two from abroad will be displayed, occupying the entire second floor of the amphitheatre. In the former category will be:

Dodge, Cadillac and LaSalle, Chevrolet, Chrysler, DeSoto, Ford, Dodge, Graham, Hudson and Lincoln-Terraplane, Hupmobile, Lincoln and Lincoln-Zephyr, Nash and Nash - LaFayette, Packard, Packard-Pierce-Arrow, Plymouth, Pontiac, Studebaker, and Willys, a total of 33. The European makes will be the Acacia and Lagonda.

Will Conduct School for Holstein Cattle Owners at Grayslake

The extension service of the Holstein-Friesian Assn. of America is cooperating with the dairy extension division of the University of Illinois in arranging a series of "breeding schools" for Holstein cattle breeders in Illinois during the week starting October 25.

One of the meetings will be held at Farmers hall, Grayslake, on October 29 starting at 3 p. m. and all local dairy cattle breeders are urged to attend. Dr. E. E. Heiser and E. M. Clark of the Holstein-Friesian Assn. will conduct the school and the lectures will be illustrated with charts and lantern slides. Plan to attend and get the latest information on the subjects of inbreeding, line breeding, outcrossing, color inheritance, proven breeds, brood cow families and herd improvement in general.

Dr. Heiser is recognized throughout the country as one of the leading authorities on genetics. His lectures are practical and easy to understand and they will clear up many of the problems that have perplexed the breeders of dairy cattle in the past.

27 Head of Livestock Burned in $30,000 Blaze Near Antioch

Twenty-seven head of livestock, a large barn and the season's crops were destroyed in a fire estimated at $30,000 in southeast Antioch township early Saturday evening.

The farm animals were lost in a blaze caused by spontaneous combustion in the soy bean bins, scattering fire in all sections which quickly spread through the building, according to the opinion of firemen.

A report by Mrs. Jennie Schaefer, tenant of the farm, which is located on route 45 about a mile south of Hickory Corners, revealed that the flames destroyed 20 cows, 4 calves, a team of valuable horses and a bull. In addition, about 400 bushels of grain were destroyed together with 60 tons of hay.

Members of the Antioch fire department rushed to the scene in time to save the homestead, chicken coops and other nearby out-buildings. More than 2500 gallons of water were carried to the scene by the fire department in the portable waterwagon recently added to the equipment. There was no other water available.

State fire officers issued warnings this week, stressing the danger of possible fire in farm barns due to the "spontaneous combustion ability" of soy beans.
